I, Michael Ebbers, declare as follows:

1. My name is Michael Ebbers. I am over 18 years of age and am competent to make this declaration. I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth in this declaration.

2. I previously worked at IBM from 1974 to 2014 when I retired. I held various positions at IBM, including as an IT specialist, education instructor/developer, manager, and project leader, as well as a writer and presenter. I hold a Bachelor of Arts degree in Business/Economics, which I earned from Hope College in 1973.

3. During my time at IBM, I authored several IBM Redbooks and publications, including a book entitled "Implementing CICS Web Services," which IBM published in December of 2006. I was the project leader in charge of publishing this book. I have reviewed Exhibit 1005, and it is a true and accurate copy of my book.

4. While at IBM, I contributed to other IBM Redbooks and related publications. From 1994 to 2014 I helped publish over 200 such books. From this and my experience authoring the above-mentioned book (Exhibit 1005), I am generally familiar with IBM Redbook publications and how they are used by engineers and others working in the field.

5. IBM Redbook publications provide technical information to engineers working on computing products, platforms, and solutions, including IBM engineers as well as IBM's partners and customers and other engineers in the computing and data processing fields in general. IBM Redbooks include guidelines for engineers and often explore and provide roadmaps for emerging technologies. While I was at IBM, IBM Redbook publications were made available to the public in various formats, including electronic and hard copy, and were generally downloadable through IBM's website for no cost. On IBM's website, the full text of all Redbooks were searchable by keyword during my time at IBM.

6. IBM Redbooks were very popular among engineers and workers in the field of computing and data processing systems and large numbers of such engineers consulted these books regularly, including when working on distributed computing systems involving marshalling data being exchanges among platforms in such systems.

7. I declare that all statements made herein of my knowledge are true, and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true, and that these statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under Section 1001 of Title 18 of the United States Code.

Electronic Record and Signature Disclosure

ELECTRONIC RECORD AND SIGNATURE DISCLOSURE

From time to time, Sheppard, Mullin, Richter & Hampton LLP (we, us or Company) may be required by law to provide to you certain written notices or disclosures. Described below are the terms and conditions for providing to you such notices and disclosures electronically through the DocuSign system. Please read the information below carefully and thoroughly, and if you can access this information electronically to your satisfaction and agree to this Electronic Record and Signature Disclosure (ERSD), please confirm your agreement by selecting the check-box next to 'I agree to use electronic records and signatures' before clicking 'CONTINUE' within the DocuSign system.

Getting paper copies

At any time, you may request from us a paper copy of any record provided or made available electronically to you by us. You will have the ability to download and print documents we send to you through the DocuSign system during and immediately after the signing session and, if you elect to create a DocuSign account, you may access the documents for a limited period of time (usually 30 days) after such documents are first sent to you. After such time, if you wish for us to send you paper copies of any such documents from our office to you, you will be charged a $0.00 per-page fee. You may request delivery of such paper copies from us by following the procedure described below.

Withdrawing your consent

If you decide to receive notices and disclosures from us electronically, you may at any time change your mind and tell us that thereafter you want to receive required notices and disclosures only in paper format. How you must inform us of your decision to receive future notices and disclosure in paper format and withdraw your consent to receive notices and disclosures electronically is described below.

Consequences of changing your mind

If you elect to receive required notices and disclosures only in paper format, it will slow the speed at which we can complete certain steps in transactions with you and delivering services to you because we will need first to send the required notices or disclosures to you in paper format, and then wait until we receive back from you your acknowledgment of your receipt of such paper notices or disclosures. Further, you will no longer be able to use the DocuSign system to receive required notices and consents electronically from us or to sign electronically documents from us.

All notices and disclosures will be sent to you electronically

Unless you tell us otherwise in accordance with the procedures described herein, we will provide electronically to you through the DocuSign system all required notices, disclosures, authorizations, acknowledgements, and other documents that are required to be provided or made available to you during the course of our relationship with you. To reduce the chance of you inadvertently not receiving any notice or disclosure, we prefer to provide all of the required notices and disclosures to you by the same method and to the same address that you have given us. Thus, you can receive all the disclosures and notices electronically or in paper format through the paper mail delivery system. If you do not agree with this process, please let us know as described below. Please also see the paragraph immediately above that describes the consequences of your electing not to receive delivery of the notices and disclosures electronically from us.
