1 TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS
2 OCTOBER 8, 2025
3 12:32 p.m.
4
5 COURT REPORTER: My name is Teckla Clay, CSR 6 13125.
7 MS. NGUYEN: Good afternoon court reporter.
8 THE COURT: Hello everybody this is Judge Baer.
9 With me on the line is also Judge Hoang and Judge Khan.
10 This is a call regarding IPR 2025 106, 107, 108 and 109
11 between petitioner Jumio and patent owner Face Tec.
12 Before we get going who do we have here for petitioner 13 Jumio?
14 MS. NGUYEN: Good afternoon, your Honor. This 15 is Jean Nguyen of Morrison Foerster representing 16 petitioner Jumio.
17 With me is my colleague Alex Yap and also 18 on the line are Amanda Bradley, deputy general counsel
19 at Jumio along with Angela Jones deputy general counsel 20 at Perkins who is also on the call to answer any 21 questions that the Board may have. And as you heard 22 earlier we also have arranged for a court reporter to 23 be on this call.
24 THE COURT: Thank you, Ms. Nguyen. And from 25 Face Tec, Mr. Stach I assume? Who do we have for 1 patent owner Face Tec?

2 MR. STACH: Yes, your Honor, this is Jason Stach
3 for Face Tec.
4 THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Stach. We appreciate 5 everybody being here on short time. We want to do this 6 quickly. Obviously this is coming up. Petitioner, why 7 don't we have you start, Ms. Nguyen, with what it is 8 you are seeking to do specifically.
9 I think we could get it from your e-mail,
10 but just to get it on the record and have you
11 articulate it would be helpful. What is it 12 specifically you want?
13 MS. NGUYEN: Yes, your Honor, and thank you very 14 much for arranging for this call on such short notice.
15 We requested this call with the Board because we would 16 like to have Ms. Angela Jones attend tomorrow's 17 deposition of Mr. Jessica Kaiser for the limited 18 purposes of making privilege objections if any are 19 required.
20 Petitioner asked patent owner Face Tec 21 whether they opposed having Ms. Jones attend the 22 deposition and petitioner or PO did oppose.
23 Now your Honors the plan is for MOFO to 24 defend the deposition. But if we believe it is 25 appropriate to allow Ms. Jones to make the privilege

1 objection if Face Tec asks any questions related to 2 when Perkins was counsel for the IPRs.
3 And as your Honors may know Perkins was 4 counsel of record at the time that the petitions were 5 filed up until April 2025. And the declaration is 6 Exhibit 1049 in the 106 proceeding submitted by Ms.
7 Kaiser. That's the same declaration submitted in all 8 four proceedings.
9 And that declaration is a 7 paragraph,
10 less than 3 page declaration. It discussed the facts
11 related to the preparation of the petition when Perkins 12 was counsel for Jumio for these IPRs.
13 THE COURT: Thank you.
14 MS. NGUYEN: And then your Honors, I'm sorry -- 15 THE COURT: Go ahead, Ms. Nguyen.
16 MS. NGUYEN: Okay. So when we requested to have 17 Ms. Angela Jones at the deposition, just to give you 18 more information, Face Tec as I mentioned did oppose.
19 Face Tec's reasoning for this was that 20 Perkins was disqualified in the copending litigation.
21 However, we don't see how this is related your Honors
22 because it's a different proceeding with the copending 23 litigation.
24 And also as I mentioned this deposition
25 should be related to Ms. Kaiser's declaration. It

1 should have nothing to do with the substance of the 2 proceedings. So Ms. Jones will be there solely for 3 purposes of preserving privilege on behalf of Perkins
4 during the time that they were counsel for the IPRs.
5 THE COURT: Ms. Nguyen, just a point of 6 clarification. You said for preserving privilege, 7 preserving who's privilege, Ms. Kaisers privilege or 8 Perkin's Coie's privilege or petitioner's privilege?
9 MS. NGUYEN: Jumio petitioner and Perkins as 10 well.
11 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Stach, would you like to 12 articulate your position on this and what you're 13 seeking from the Board?
14 MR. STACH: Yes, your Honor. So the request 15 that came to us was not whether we would object to Ms.
16 Jones attending the deposition which is, I think, how 17 Ms. Nguyen just phrased it.
18 They asked if we would oppose her being 19 admitted pro hac vice into these proceedings for the 20 purpose of lodging the privilege objections. And so I 21 just want to clarify we're not opposed to her attending 22 the deposition.
23 However, we are opposed to her
24 substantively being involved because of the 25 disqualification issue which I know Ms. Nguyen has said

1 is unrelated to these proceedings. But if look in 2 Exhibit 2030 it's the disqualification order on pages
3 12 and 13 are the relevant parts.
4 And the disqualification was actually
5 because at least in part due to the obviousness issues 6 that are at issue related to the asserted patents 7 litigation which is, are the exact same patents which 8 are issued in the IPRs.
9 And obviousness is an issue in the IPRs.
10 So we think that the disqualification there means that 11 she should not be permitted to come in and act adverse 12 to Face Tec because the disqualification was because 13 Perkins violated it's ethical obligations to Face Tec.
14 And we don't think Face Tec should be 15 facing down a Perkins Coie lawyer acting in an official 16 capacity in the proceedings when they violated and were 17 found to have violated and were disqualified based on 18 those ethical violations.
19 It's also unclear why Morrison and 20 Foerster is unable to lodge the objections because it's 21 very common in litigation when a litigation is filed a 22 company might retain counsel. And that counsel will 23 object to, on privilege and other grounds, for events
24 that occurred before they were ever retained as counsel 25 maybe related to prosecution, activities, things like

1 that.
2 It's a very common thing that happens in 3 deposition. It does not require counsel who represents 4 that client previously to also appear to make those 5 objections. And so it's just unclear to me why 6 Morrison and Foerster even needs Ms. Jones to be 7 present for that and to have the ability to lodge those 8 objections when they could do it themselves. So it's 9 primarily the disqualification issue and also just a 10 practical issue.
11 THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Stach. I think I 12 understand it. I guess it strikes me that we may not 13 be that far off from each other because I think I heard 14 Ms. Nguyen say, look the only reason we need, first of 15 all we're not prepared to rule on Ms. Jones'
16 representation of Jumio in this particular matter.
17 Obviously we don't have enough to go on 18 there. But I think I heard Ms. Nguyen say the only 19 reason she would be there would be to articulate 20 privilege objections.
21 Now Mr. Stach's point is that Ms. Jones 22 does not represent Jumio in this matter. She's not the 23 counsel of record in this matter. So that's not 24 really, it needs to be Face Tec's, excuse me, Jumio's 25 counsel who is Morrison and Foerster that would be

1 making assertions of privilege.
2 So if it's true that Ms. Jones is there 3 only to articulate privilege objections, I wonder if we 4 might find an agreement here that Morrison and Foerster 5 would need to be the ones to actually make those 6 assertions that it's fine if Ms. Jones wants to sort 7 of, I don't know, raise her hand and sort of indicate 8 or whatnot.
9 But ultimately that would need to be 10 owned, those assertions of privilege need to be owned 11 by counsel of record for Jumio which is Morrison and 12 Foerster. So I wonder if we're not that far apart.
13 Ms. Nguyen, could you speak to whether you 14 think we can get to an agreement on this? Again the 15 agreement is not whether Ms. Jones can represent here, 16 but just what her role would be particularly in this 17 deposition.
18 MS. NGUYEN: Yes, your Honor. So we believe Ms.
19 Jones actually has a role that Morrison and Foerster 20 cannot fulfill. Perhaps I can have Ms. Jones speak to 21 the issues that she could --
22 THE COURT: Well again before we do that, Ms.
23 Jones does not represent Jumio in this matter. So I'm 24 hesitant to have Ms. Jones speak for Face Tec, excuse 25 me, for Jumio in this matter.

1 So I guess the question is Morrison and 2 Foerster represents Jumio. It's fine if you want to 3 confer and if you want to take a few moments to do
4 that, you can do that. But why isn't it that Morrison
5 and Foerster can't represent Jumio's interest when it 6 comes to privilege objections even if someone else 7 needs to bring that to your attention first?
8 I don't hear Face Tec objecting to her 9 being in the room, but ultimately somebody that is 10 counsel of record for Jumio needs to be the one making 11 privilege assertions unless it's an assertion of 12 privilege that is not Jumio's but is rather Ms.
13 Kaiser's or somebody else's. Can you address that?
14 MS. NGUYEN: Yes, your Honor. So we would be 15 okay with Ms. Jones raising her hand and allowing the 16 objection to come via the MOFO, MOFO attorneys.
17 However, if Ms. Jones has to represent Ms.
18 Kaiser that would be the situation where we think it's 19 appropriate to have Ms. Jones raise an objection and we 20 would suggest having Ms. Jones enter via a motion for 21 pro hac for that reason, if you are okay with that.
22 THE COURT: As Ms. Jones --
23 MS. NGUYEN: To misrepresent Ms.-- 24 THE COURT: To represent who?
25 MS. NGUYEN: Perkins and Ms. Kaiser.

1 THE COURT: I don't take an issue with Ms.
2 Kaiser having whatever counsel she wants there and 3 that's fine. And certainly that person, I don't know 4 that we'll have time to deal with to the extent that 5 Ms. Kaiser is a third party declarant and has her own 6 attorney, and to the extent that Ms. Jones is speaking 7 on behalf of Ms. Kaiser, Ms. Kaiser's privilege, I 8 don't think we'd have a problem with that.
9 And by "we" I guess I should allow Mr.
10 Stach to speak to that. Mr. Stach, is it okay if Ms.
11 Jones asserts privilege for Ms. Kaiser's privilege?
12 This is not Jumio's privilege, but Ms. Kaiser's 13 privilege. Would you have a problem with that?
14 MR. STACH: Actually we would, your Honor. And 15 that's because we believe that would be a continuing 16 violation of the ethical obligations that Perkins has 17 towards Face Tec to not be adverse to Face Tec on 18 matters related to the patents.
19 And, you know, to the extent that she 20 raises her hand even I think we object to her acting in 21 any way adverse to Face Tec for the same reasons that 22 the district court judge found that Perkins could not 23 continue to be adverse to Face Tec in the litigation.
24 And so we would be we, would be opposed to 25 her participating substantively. As I said earlier we

1 would not be opposed to her attending. I did not mean 2 to imply that we thought she could then substantively 3 participate. She can attend. She can listen.
4 If she's acting in a way adverse to Face
5 Tec we view that as a continuing breach of Perkin's 6 ethical obligation to Face Tec.
7 THE COURT: Okay. Ms. Nguyen, anything further 8 that you'd like to explain before we take a few minutes 9 to confer?
10 MS. NGUYEN: Yes, your Honor. Just two points I 11 wanted to clarify. So how we envision this would be 12 that Morrison and Foerster would be representing Jumio 13 and Ms. Jones would be representing Perkins.
14 And as I mentioned earlier because the 15 declaration is solely within the scope about the facts 16 regarding the preparation of petitions, we do not 17 anticipate any questions related to the substance or 18 any sort of obviousness arguments that Mr. Stach raised 19 earlier.
20 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Stach, give you one more 21 chance. Anything else you'd like to say on the matter?
22 MR. STACH: No, really just the disqualification
23 and the ethical issues that I raised earlier.
24 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Stach. We're 25 going to leave the line for a moment and we'll be back

Veritext Legal Solutions

1 with you. Thank you for your patience.
2
3 (A discussion is held off the record)
4
5 THE COURT: Okay. This is Judge Baer again. We 6 appreciate the parties patience. So Ms. Kaiser can 7 have her attorney and Ms. Jones can assert Ms. Kaiser's 8 privilege to the extent she wants to do that.
9 Just to be clear though if it's Jumio's 10 privilege that is being asserted that will need to come 11 from counsel of record of Jumio. As far as the 12 mechanics of doing that, that's really up to you all.
13 As far as, as far as we want to be clear 14 that we're not really weighing in at all sanctioning or 15 condoning whether Ms. Jones can act in opposition to 16 Face Tec or whether this is in some violation of some 17 ethical duty that Ms. Jones may or may not have or 18 whether this is in violation of some district court 19 order disqualifying Perkins Coie or Ms. Jones, we just 20 don't have any idea.
21 And we're not condoning that. We're not 22 saying, we just don't have a position on that because 23 it's not something we're prepared to weigh in on at 24 this point.
25 So with that, Ms. Nguyen, any questions

1 about our position on that or is there any further 2 guidance you need us to provide that we can provide?
3 MS. NGUYEN: Your Honors, if I may just raise 4 two issues with respect to the motion for pro hac. We 5 were planning to file that today for Ms. Jones. If 6 your Honors have not ruled on that motion before the 7 time of the deposition, can we seek additional approval 8 so that we can proceed with the deposition tomorrow or 9 is there any, do we need the pro hac is another 10 question?
11 THE COURT: How about this, what's your second 12 question? Let's start with the second question.
13 MS. NGUYEN: Yes, your Honor. So the second 14 question is if the deposition tomorrow begins to extend 15 outside of the scope of Ms. Kaiser's declaration and 16 the parties cannot resolve any issues during the 17 deposition, would your Honors be okay with us pausing 18 the deposition and contacting you immediately?
19 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Stach, any position
20 on either one of those two issues or anything 21 additional that you'd like to speak on?
22 MR. STACH: Yes, your Honor. So you had 23 mentioned Jones may represent Ms. Kaiser. And then you 24 mentioned that MOFO would represent Jumio. I think 25 part of Ms. Nguyen's argument was about who's

1 representing Perkins.
2 And so I guess that I don't know that 3 that's been touched on yet. And so I was curious about 4 that. And then also if there is a need to contact the 5 Board along the lines of Ms. Nguyen's second question
6 and it's based on an objection that Ms. Jones raised, 7 it seems to me that it would be Ms. Jones arguing that 8 to you all as opposed to Morrison and Foerster arguing 9 that to you all.
10 But I guess I'd just like a little 11 clarification, if you have any you can provide, on how 12 that might play out. And then I don't, I hope we don't 13 get into a lot of privileged objections.
14 But obviously it's an attorney being 15 deposed. So there might be some objections raised that 16 might be meritorious or might not be. There might be 17 some dispute about that.
18 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Stach.
19 We're going to put you on hold for another minute.
20 Give us just a minute please.
21
22 (A discussion is held off the record)
23
24 THE COURT: Okay. We're back on the record.
25 This is Judge Baer again. So at this point assuming

1 that a motion, a pro hac motion would be opposed I
2 don't think, there's no way we could get an opposed 3 motion decided on in time for this deposition.
4 So absent a pro hac motion Ms. Jones
5 cannot represent Jumio. And I'm assuming it would be 6 opposed. So I'm not saying that we wouldn't ultimately 7 grant it. I don't know. But we're not going to be 8 able to get a resolution on that in time such that Ms.
9 Jones can represent Jumio.
10 Ms. Jones -- Ms. Kaiser can have whoever 11 she wants represent her. So to the extent that the 12 privilege assertion is Ms. Kaiser's it's fine if it 13 comes from Ms. Jones.
14 Any assertion of privilege that is Jumio's 15 will need to come from Jumio's counsel. Now as far as 16 if and when things come up in the deposition, we're 17 happy to help in anyway we can.
18 That said, in my experience with these 19 issues it's often quite difficult and usually we're not 20 allowed to, excuse me, not allowed, but we're not able 21 to make a ruling. It's very hard to make a ruling in 22 real time during a deposition.
23 Normally what will happen is we'll ask the 24 parties to preserve their objections and file motions 25 to compel or exclude or whatever kind of motion they

1 deem appropriate afterwards. And we'll have to deal 2 with it later.
3 So I appreciate that you all are in a 4 difficult situation. And we will do what we can to 5 help. I'm telling you that in our experience our 6 ability to do that tends to be limited. I think it's 7 in both parties best interest to do what you can to 8 come to an agreement.
9 To the extent that you can't preserve your 10 objections we'll deal with that later. That said if 11 you need to involve the Board during deposition we will 12 try to be available to the extent we can be tomorrow.
13 And certainly we plan to be available but 14 again I want to just set your expectations 15 appropriately that it's very difficult to rule on these 16 things real time. And often what we ask you to do is 17 preserve the record and make your motions, make your 18 motions later.
19 Ms. Nguyen, before we wrap up any 20 additional questions from you?
21 MS. NGUYEN: Your Honors, thank you very much 22 for this. One just further clarifying question.
23 So we will not have to file a pro hac
24 motion for Ms. Jones, is that correct, to represent 25 Perkins and Ms. Kaiser?

1 THE COURT: Correct, to represent Perkins and 2 Ms. Kaiser, I'm not quite following this would be them
3 representing her in some sort of personal capacity. I 4 don't, I don't know that, I don't know that I would 5 have, I don't know that this Board would have any say 6 over that.
7 You know she's welcome to have her
8 personal attorney there. But as far as whether Ms.
9 Jones can represent Jumio, that's the only thing that 10 this Board could decide.
11 So I frankly don't know what pro hac 12 representation of Ms. Kaiser would even frankly mean in 13 this case. Does that make sense?
14 MS. NGUYEN: Yes, yes, your Honor. It makes 15 complete sense. I was just seeking clarification or 16 confirmation. Thank you.
17 THE COURT: Thank you, Ms. Nguyen.
18 Mr. Stach, any further questions from you 19 although I hesitate to ask that because I keep not 20 being able to provide answers. But nonetheless any 21 additional questions from you that maybe we can answer 22 or give our best shot?
23 MR. STACH: Just one, your Honor. And that is, 24 you know, the privilege of the client is generally, so 25 even though the records might be in Perkin's possession

1 or might somehow relate to Perkins, it really is 2 Jumio's privilege to assert or not assert or waive.
3 So I guess I just, I know you've mentioned
4 that Ms. Jones can represent Ms. Kaiser, but I think it 5 seems to me that the Perkins aspect of what Ms. Nguyen 6 is talking about is actually Jumio's privilege to 7 assert and would be Morrison and Foerster asserting 8 that privilege on behalf of Jumio.
9 To my knowledge Perkins would not be 10 allowed to waive that privilege on behalf of Jumio, 11 without Jumio's consent. So it really is Jumio's 12 privilege.
13 So it seems to me those are the two 14 buckets of sort of Ms. Kaiser's personal attorney and 15 any privilege there versus Morrison and Foerster doing 16 everything else. I guess that's a long question. I 17 guess is that your understanding, your Honor?
18 THE COURT: I think I understand the question.
19 And it's true that I'm not quite following what would 20 be Perkin's privilege. You know, I don't want to guess 21 at everything that could be out there.
22 And I don't know how Ms. Kaiser could be 23 testifying on behalf of Perkins. So I'm not, so I 24 share your hesitation in I'm not exactly sure how that 25 would come up.

1 But it is certainly true that to the 2 extent that a privilege is Jumio's, it is Jumio's to 3 assert. And to the extent that there's a refusal to 4 answer a question, we are going to assume that if it's 5 Jumio's privilege that it is Jumio asserting that 6 privilege through Jumio's counsel. I think I'll leave 7 it at that. Is that adequately clear, Mr. Stach?
8 MR. STACH: It is to me, your Honor. I don't 9 know maybe Ms. Nguyen and I might have different views 10 on that. But it seems clear to me.
11 THE COURT: Ms. Nguyen, any specific sort of 12 scenario you're envisioning where we're talking about 13 Perkin's privilege not Ms. Kaiser's or Jumio's.
14 MS. NGUYEN: No, your Honor. This seems clear 15 to me.
16 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Well I think I
17 don't know if we've been terribly helpful. But I'm 18 afraid I think we've done all we can. So with that 19 we're going to conclude the call.
20 We certainly appreciate the parties 21 participation and willingness to stumble along in this 22 with us. Before we conclude what time is the 23 deposition scheduled for tomorrow please, Ms. Nguyen?
24 MS. NGUYEN: I believe it's at 10:30 a.m.
25 Pacific time.

1 THE COURT: Mr. Stach, is that your 2 understanding?
3 MR. STACH: Yes, your Honor, 1:30 Eastern.
4 THE COURT: And how long is it scheduled to go,
5 Mr. Stach?
6 MR. STACH: So it's, the end time is not set,
7 but I would anticipate it taking at most 3 to 4 hours.
8 But I don't know for sure.
9 THE COURT: Great. Appreciate it. That's going 10 to conclude our call. Again we appreciate the parties 11 time. And I assume we'll be hearing from you, yes Ms.
12 Nguyen?
13 MS. NGUYEN: One thing I'd like to just mention 14 3 hours for a 7 paragraph less than 3 page declaration
15 seems quite excessive. I'm surprised that Mr. Stach 16 mentioned 3 hours.
17 THE COURT: You know, if we need to weigh into 18 this, we can. We're not prepared to do it here. This 19 strikes me as the kind of thing that you all could come 20 to an agreement on.
21 But if you can't, if you need to involve, 22 you need to involve the Board, we can do that. But 23 we'll probably have to do it after. And I'm sure 24 you're all aware of the different directions that can 25 go. But I don't think we're prepared to weigh in on 1 that at this point.

2 We would hope that that's something that 3 the parties could come to an agreement on. So we're 4 not going to decide that one here. But if we need to 5 get involved, you can let us know later. Okay, Ms.
6 Nguyen?
7 MS. NGUYEN: Okay. Thank you, your Honor.
8 THE COURT: Thank you. All right. That will 9 conclude our call. Thank you.
