Wright, II: Parties shall submit a joint proposed briefing schedule by July 28, 2015.1 In addition, the parties may submit a joint proposed scheduling order re-setting the remaining dates and deadlines for the Courts consideration. Regarding the issue of notice related to indirect infringement and willful infringement, the parties have intimated that there is no genuine dispute as to the date in which Apple was provided notice of the patent at issue; therefore the parties are directed to submit a stipulated proposed order detailing the entitlement of summary adjudication on that issue by August 6, 2015. Court denies Farstone requested leave to file a motion for summar yjudgment as to infringement of the 835 Patent and Apples affirmative defenses.Regarding Apple requested leave to file a motion for summaryjudgment as to indefiniteness of all claims at issue in light of the Federal Circuits June 16, 2015 decision in Williamson v. Citrix Online, LLC, the Court directs the parties to file additional claim construction briefing on the following terms: backup/recovery module for creating at least one recovery unit (claim 1) and processing system creating at least one recovery unit (claim 9). The parties are to file simultaneous opening briefs not exceeding 10 pages by August 7, 2015 and simultaneous opposition briefs not exceeding 7 pages by August 14, 2015.In light of the supplemental briefing on claim construction, the Court DENIES Apples request as MOOT.
