Motion to Dismiss - Failure to State a Claim (FRCP 12(b)(6)) — Denied in part granted in part

Unpatentable Subject Matter (35 USC § 101)
└ Patent Ineligible Subject Matter
└ Abstract Idea

The court denied defendants' motion to dismiss on the ground that plaintiff's digital audio data transmission patent encompassed unpatentable subject matter and concluded that the asserted claims were not directed to an abstract idea. "The '740 Patent is directed at solving problems associated with time delay, interruptions in the audio stream, repositioning, and limited tracking options in media streaming. In addition, the descriptor file associated with the '740 Patent works alongside the 'bookmark' and 'segments of an audio stream' to overcome the aforementioned problems and to more seamlessly play back digital audio files. Such an invention is far from the abstract idea prohibited by case law, and it is clearly a concrete improvement over the state of the art."

Motion to Amend or Supplement Pleading — Denied

Motion to Transfer for Improper Venue (28 USC § 1406(a)) — Denied in part granted in part

Motion for Expedited Discovery — Denied

Motion to Sever — Granted
