SEMICONDUCTOR DEVICES WITH GRADED DOPANT REGIONS

CROSS-REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATION

[0001] This application is a Divisional of U.S. application Ser. No. 10/934,915, filed on September 3, 2004, which application is incorporated herein by reference.

FIELD OF INVENTION

[0002] This present invention relates to all semiconductor devices and systems. Particularly it applies to diffused diodes, avalanche diodes, Schottky devices, power MOS transistors, JFET's, RF bipolar transistors, IGBTs (Insulated Gate Bipolar Transistors), varactors, digital VLSI, mixed signal circuits and sensor devices including camera ICs employing CCD (Charge Coupled Device) as well as CMOS technologies.

BACKGROUND OF INVENTION

[0003] Bipolar Junction transistors (BJT) are minority carrier devices as the principle device conduction mechanism. However, majority carriers also a small yet finite role in modulating the conductivity in BJTs. Consequently, both carriers (electrons and holes) play a role in the switching performance of BJTs. The maximum frequency of operation in BJTs is limited by the base transit time as well as the quick recombination of the majority carriers when the device is switched off (prior to beginning the next cycle). The dominant carrier mechanism in BJTs is carrier diffusion. Carrier drift current component is fairly small, especially in uniformly doped base BJTs. Efforts have been made in graded base transistors to create an 'aiding drift field', to enhance the diffusing minority carrier's speed from emitter to collector. However, most semiconductor devices, including various power MOSFETs (traditional, DMOS, lateral, vertical and a host of other configurations), IGBT's (Insulated Gated Base Transistors), still use a uniformly doped drift epitaxial region in the base. FIG. 1 shows the relative doping concentration versus distance in a BJT. FIG. 2 shows the 'uniformly doped epi region' in a IGBT. In contrast to BJTs, MOS devices are majority carrier devices for conduction. The conduction is channel dominated. The channel can be a surface in one plane in planar devices. The surface can also be on the sidewalls in a vertical device. Other device architectures to combine planar and vertical conductions are also possible. The maximum frequency of operation is dictated primarily by source-drain separation distance. Most MOS devices use a uniformly doped substrate (or a well region). When a MOSFET is optimally integrated with a BJT in a monolithic fashion, an IGBT results. The IGBT inherits the advantages of both MOSFET and BJT. It also brings new challenges because the required characteristics (electron transit and hole recombination as fast as possible in the case of an n-channel IGBT) require different dopant gradients either in the same layer at different positions, or at the interfaces of similar or dissimilar layers.

[0004] 'Retrograde' wells have been attempted, with little success, to help improve soft error immunity in SRAM's and visual quality in imaging circuits. FIG. 3(a) shows a typical CMOS VLSI device employing a twin well substrate, on which active devices are subsequently fabricated. FIGS. 3(b), 3(c), and 3(d) illustrate device cross sections, as practiced today. 'Retrograde' and 'halo' wells have also been attempted to improve refresh time in DRAM's (dynamic random access memories), as well as, reducing dark current (background noise) and enhance RGB (Red, Green, Blue) color resolution in digital camera Ics. Most of these techniques either divert the minority carriers away from the active regions of critical charge storage nodes at the surface, or, increase minority carrier density locally as the particular application requires.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF DRAWINGS

[0005] For a more complete understanding of the present invention, and the advantages thereof, reference is now made to the following descriptions taken in conjunction with the accompanying drawings, in which:

[0008] FIGURES 3(a), 3(b), 3(c), 3(d) illustrate cross sections commonly used CMOS silicon substrate with two wells (one n-well in which p-channel transistors are subsequently fabricated, and, one p-well in which n-channel transistors are subsequently fabricated) - typical IC, EEPROM using tunnel insulator, DRAM and NAND flash;

[0009] FIGURE 4 illustrates the cross section of a IGBT, using one embodiment of the invention described here, where the dopant is optimally graded in the epitaxial drift region; and [0010] FIGURES 5(a), 5(b), 5(c) illustrate the cross sections of a MOS silicon substrate with two wells, and, an underlying layer using embodiments of the invention to improve performance in each application - VLSI logic, DRAM/image IC, nonvolatile memory IC.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION

[0011] The relative doping concentrations of emitter and collector regions varies from 10^{18} to $10^{20}/\text{cm}^3$, where as the base region is 10^{14} to $10^{16}/\text{cm}^3$ depending on the desired characteristics of the BJT. In graded base p-n-p transistors, the donor dopant concentration may be 10 to 100X at the emitter-base junction, relative to the base-collector junction (1 X). The gradient can be linear, quasi linear, exponential or complimentary error function. The relative slope of the donor concentration throughout the base, creates a suitable aiding drift electric field, to help the holes (p-n-p transistor) transverse from emitter to collector. Since the aiding drift field helps hole conduction, the current gain at a given frequency is enhanced, relative to a uniformly-doped-(base) BJT. The improvement in cut-off frequency (or, frequency at unity gain, f_T) can be as large as 2x-5x. Similar performance improvements are also applicable to n-p-n transistors.

[0012] As illustrated in FIG. 4, in one embodiment according to the invention, a donor gradient is established from the emitter-drift epitaxial base region junction of the punch-through IGBT, to the drift epitaxial base region - n^+ buffer layer boundary (electrons in this case are accelerated in their transit from emitter to collector). The 'average' base resistance is optimized, so that conductivity modulation and lifetime (for minority carriers) in base region are not compromised. By sweeping the carriers towards the n^+ buffer region two advantages are obtained - the frequency of operation (combination of t_{on} and t_{off} as is known in the IGBT commercial nomenclature) can be enhanced. More importantly, during t_{off} , holes can be recombined much quicker at the n^+ buffer layer, compared to a uniformly doped n^- epitaxial drift region by establishing a different dopant gradient near the n+ buffer layer. It should be noted that the drift region can also be a non-epitaxial silicon substrate. Epitaxy enhances lifetime, but, epitaxy is not mandatory. Different layers of dopant regions can be transferred through wafer to wafer bonding (or other similar transfer mechanisms) for eventual device fabrication. The "reverse recovery time" for an IGBT is significantly improved due to the optimized graded dopant in the so called "drift region" as well as at the interfaces of the drift region. Graded dopants can also be implemented in the n+ buffer layer as well as other regions adjacent to the respective layers. Two important performance enhancements are the result of dopant gradients. For example, in an n-channel IGBT, electrons can be swept from source to drain rapidly, while at the same time holes can be recombined closer to the n+ buffer layer. This can improve t(on) and t(off) in the same device.

The following paragraph, beginning on page 5, line 6, and ending on page 11, line 28, is amended as indicated in the marked up version below:

[0013] As illustrated in FIGS. 5(a), 5(b), 5(c), donor gradient is also of benefit to very large scale integrated circuits (VLSI) - VLSI logic, DRAM, nonvolatile memory like NAND flash. Spurious minority carriers can be generated by clock switching in digital VLSI logic and memory IC'S. These unwanted carriers can discharge dynamically-held 'actively held high' nodes. Statically held nodes (with V_{cc}) can not be affected, in most cases. Degradation of refresh time in DRAM's is one of the results, because the capacitor holds charge dynamically. Similarly, degradation of CMOS digital images, in digital imaging IC's is another result of the havoc caused by minority carriers. Pixel and color resolution can be significantly enhanced in imaging IC's with the embodiments described here. Creating 'Sub Terrain' recombination centers underneath the wells (gold doping, platinum doping) as is done in some high-voltage diodes is not practical for VLSI circuits. Hence, a novel technique has been described here by creating a drift field to sweep these unwanted minority carriers into the substrate as quickly as possible, from the active circuitry at the surface. In a preferred embodiment, the subterranean n-layer has a graded donor concentration to sweep the minority carriers deep into the substrate. One or more of such layers can also be implemented through wafer to wafer bonding or similar "transfer" mechanisms. This n-layer can be a deeply-implanted layer. It can also be an epitaxial layer. The n-well and p-well also can be graded or retrograded in dopants, as desired, to sweep those carriers away from the surface as well. The graded dopant can also be implemented in surface channel MOS devices to accelerate majority carriers towards the drain. In nonvolatile memory devices, to decrease programming time, carriers should be accelerated towards the surface when programming of memory cells is executed. The graded dopant can also be used to fabricate superior Junction field-effect transistors where the "channel pinchoff" is controlled by a graded channel instead of a uniformly doped channel (as practiced in prior art).

[0014] One of ordinary skill and familiarity in the art will recognize that the concepts taught herein can be customized and tailored to a particular application in many advantageous ways. For instance, minority carriers can be channeled to the surface, to aid programming in nonvolatile memory devices (NOR, NAND, multivalued-cell). Moreover, single well, as well as triple-well CMOS fabrication techniques can also be optimized to incorporate these embodiments, individually and collectively. Any modifications of such embodiments (described here) fall within the spirit and scope of the invention. Hence, they fall within the scope of the claims described below

[0015] Although the invention has been described with reference to specific embodiments, these descriptions are not meant to be construed in a limiting sense. Various modifications of the disclosed embodiments, as well as alternative embodiments of the invention will become apparent to persons skilled in the art upon reference to the description of the invention. It should be appreciated by those skilled in the art that the conception and the specific embodiment disclosed may be readily utilized as a basis for modifying or designing other structures for carrying out the same purposes of the present invention. It should also be realized by those skilled in the art that such equivalent constructions do not depart from the spirit and scope of the invention as set forth in the appended claims.

[0016] It is therefore, contemplated that the claims will cover any such modifications or embodiments that fall within the true scope of the invention.

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A semiconductor device with graded dopant concentration in the active region, to aid carrier movement from emitter to collector.
2. A semiconductor device with graded dopant concentration in the active region, to aid carrier movement from source to drain.
3. A semiconductor device with graded dopant concentration in the well regions, to aid carrier movement away from the active surface regions, towards the substrate.
4. A semiconductor device with graded dopant concentration in the substrate region to aid carrier movement away from the active surface regions, deeper towards the substrate.
5. A semiconductor device with at least one each of dopant concentration of both donor and acceptor, to optimize the operating performance of the device.
6. A semiconductor device with at least one graded dopant concentration fabricated with ion implantation, to provide an aiding or retarding electric field locally in a monolithic integrated circuit.
7. A semiconductor device with at least one graded dopant concentration in an epitaxial layer.
8. A semiconductor device where one layer of dopant from one wafer, is transferred to another wafer having either same polarity or different polarity dopant through wafer bonding or similar processes.

ABSTRACT

[0017] Most semiconductor devices manufactured today, have uniform dopant concentration, either in the lateral or vertical device active (and isolation) regions. By grading the dopant concentration, the performance in various semiconductor devices can be significantly improved. Performance improvements can be obtained in application specific areas like increase in frequency of operation for digital logic, various power MOSFET and IGBT ICS, improvement in refresh time for DRAM's, decrease in programming time for nonvolatile memory, better visual quality including pixel resolution and color sensitivity for imaging ICs, better sensitivity for varactors in tunable filters, higher drive capabilities for JFET's, and a host of other applications.

Listing of Claims:

Claims 1-8 (Cancelled)

9. (New) A semiconductor device comprising:

a surface layer;

an active region including a source and a drain, disposed on one surface of said surface layer;

a single drift layer disposed between the other surface of said surface layer and said substrate, said drift layer having a graded concentration of dopants generating a first static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said substrate to said surface layer; and at least one well region disposed in said single drift layer, said well region having a graded concentration of dopants generating a second static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said substrate to said surface layer.

10. (New) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein said first and second static unidirectional electric fields are adapted to respective grading of dopants to aid movements of carriers in respective active regions.

11. (New) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein the semiconductor device is a central processing unit (CPU).

12. (New) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein the semiconductor device is a DRAM device.

13. (New) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein the semiconductor device is a flash memory device.

14. (New) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein the semiconductor device is an image sensor device.

15. (New) A semiconductor device comprising:

a surface layer;

an active region including a source and a drain, disposed on one surface of said surface layer;

a single drift layer disposed between the other surface of said surface layer and said substrate, said drift layer having a graded concentration of dopants generating a first static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said surface layer to said substrate; and

at least one well region disposed in said single drift layer, said well region having a graded concentration of dopants generating a second static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said surface layer to said substrate.

16. (New) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein said first and second static unidirectional electric fields are adapted to respective grading of dopants to aid movements of carriers in respective active regions.

17. (New) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is a central processing unit (CPU).

18. (New) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is a DRAM device.

19. (New) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is a flash memory device.

20. (New) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is an image sensor device.

REMARKS

In the specification, paragraph [0001], has been amended to correctly reference related applications. Applicant has cancelled claims 1-8 and added new claims 9-20.

PROTECTING YOUR INVENTION OUTSIDE THE UNITED STATES

Since the rights granted by a U.S. patent extend only throughout the territory of the United States and have no effect in a foreign country, an inventor who wishes patent protection in another country must apply for a patent in a specific country or in regional patent offices. Applicants may wish to consider the filing of an international application under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT). An international (PCT) application generally has the same effect as a regular national patent application in each PCT-member country. The PCT process simplifies the filing of patent applications on the same invention in member countries, but does not result in a grant of "an international patent" and does not eliminate the need of applicants to file additional documents and fees in countries where patent protection is desired.

Almost every country has its own patent law, and a person desiring a patent in a particular country must make an application for patent in that country in accordance with its particular laws. Since the laws of many countries differ in various respects from the patent law of the United States, applicants are advised to seek guidance from specific foreign countries to ensure that patent rights are not lost prematurely.

Applicants also are advised that in the case of inventions made in the United States, the Director of the USPTO must issue a license before applicants can apply for a patent in a foreign country. The filing of a U.S. patent application serves as a request for a foreign filing license. The application's filing receipt contains further information and guidance as to the status of applicant's license for foreign filing.

Applicants may wish to consult the USPTO booklet, "General Information Concerning Patents" (specifically, the section entitled "Treaties and Foreign Patents") for more information on timeframes and deadlines for filing foreign patent applications. The guide is available either by contacting the USPTO Contact Center at 800-786-9199, or it can be viewed on the USPTO website at <http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/pac/doc/general/index.html>.

For information on preventing theft of your intellectual property (patents, trademarks and copyrights), you may wish to consult the U.S. Government website, <http://www.stopfakes.gov>. Part of a Department of Commerce initiative, this website includes self-help "toolkits" giving innovators guidance on how to protect intellectual property in specific countries such as China, Korea and Mexico. For questions regarding patent enforcement issues, applicants may call the U.S. Government hotline at 1-866-999-HALT (1-866-999-4258).

LICENSE FOR FOREIGN FILING UNDER
Title 35, United States Code, Section 184
Title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, 5.11 & 5.15

GRANTED

The applicant has been granted a license under 35 U.S.C. 184, if the phrase "IF REQUIRED, FOREIGN FILING LICENSE GRANTED" followed by a date appears on this form. Such licenses are issued in all applications where the conditions for issuance of a license have been met, regardless of whether or not a license may be required as set forth in 37 CFR 5.15. The scope and limitations of this license are set forth in 37 CFR 5.15(a) unless an earlier license has been issued under 37 CFR 5.15(b). The license is subject to revocation upon written notification. The date indicated is the effective date of the license, unless an earlier license of similar scope has been granted under 37 CFR 5.13 or 5.14.

This license is to be retained by the licensee and may be used at any time on or after the effective date thereof unless it is revoked. This license is automatically transferred to any related applications(s) filed under 37 CFR 1.53(d). This license is not retroactive.

The grant of a license does not in any way lessen the responsibility of a licensee for the security of the subject matter as imposed by any Government contract or the provisions of existing laws relating to espionage and the national security or the export of technical data. Licensees should apprise themselves of current regulations especially with respect to certain countries, of other agencies, particularly the Office of Defense Trade Controls, Department of State (with respect to Arms, Munitions and Implements of War (22 CFR 121-128)); the Bureau of Industry and Security, Department of Commerce (15 CFR parts 730-774); the Office of Foreign Assets Control, Department of Treasury (31 CFR Parts 500+) and the Department of Energy.

NOT GRANTED

No license under 35 U.S.C. 184 has been granted at this time, if the phrase "IF REQUIRED, FOREIGN FILING LICENSE GRANTED" DOES NOT appear on this form. Applicant may still petition for a license under 37 CFR 5.12, if a license is desired before the expiration of 6 months from the filing date of the application. If 6 months has lapsed from the filing date of this application and the licensee has not received any indication of a secrecy order under 35 U.S.C. 181, the licensee may foreign file the application pursuant to 37 CFR 5.15(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. The present application is being examined under the pre-AIA first to invent provisions.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory double patenting rejection is appropriate where the claims at issue are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the reference application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement. A terminal disclaimer must be signed in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(b).

The USPTO internet Web site contains terminal disclaimer forms which may be used. Please visit <http://www.uspto.gov/forms/>. The filing date of the application will determine what form should be used. A web-based eTerminal Disclaimer may be filled out completely online using web-screens. An eTerminal Disclaimer that meets all requirements is auto-processed and approved immediately upon submission. For more information about eTerminal Disclaimers, refer to <http://www.uspto.gov/patents/process/file/efs/guidance/eTD-info-I.jsp>.

3. Claims 9-10 and 15-16, respectively, are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory double patenting over claims 8 and 1, respectively of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195 since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the “right to exclude” already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as follows:

Regarding claim 15, claim 1 of US 8,421,195 teaches:

A semiconductor device comprising:

a surface layer (Col. 4, line 14);

a substrate (Col. 4, line 15);

an active region including a source and a drain, disposed on one surface of said surface layer (Col. 4, lines 16-17);

a single drift layer disposed between the other surface of said surface layer and said substrate, said drift layer having a graded concentration of dopants generating a first static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said surface layer to said substrate (Col. 4, lines 18-24); and at least one well region disposed in said single drift layer, said well region having a graded concentration of dopants generating a second static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said surface layer to said substrate (Col. 4, lines 25-29; last 5 lines of the claim).

Claim 9 is rejected in view of claim 8 of Rao (US 8,421,195) for similar reasons, as outlined below:

For the present application being examined is noted that claims 9 and 15 are substantially the same except that they require opposite direction of the “first static unidirectional electric field” and the “second static unidirectional electric field”. More specifically, claim 9 requires the “first static unidirectional electric field” (see lines 7-9 of claim 9) as well as the “second static unidirectional electric field” (see last 3 lines of claim 9) to aid the movement of minority carriers from “said substrate to said surface layer”, while claim 15 requires the above said movement be aided from “said surface layer to said substrate”.

The above explained differences are also the same for claim 1 and 8 of US 8,421,195; i.e. claim 8 of requires the “first static unidirectional electric field” (see lines 7-9 of claim 9) as well as the “second static unidirectional electric field” (see last 3 lines of claim 9) to aid the movement of minority carriers from “said substrate to said surface layer”, while claim 1 requires the above said movement be aided from “said surface layer to said substrate”.

As such, claim 9 of present application is rejected in view of claim 8 of Rao (US 8,421,195).

Claims 10 and 16 are substantially similar. Further, claims 10 and 16, respectively, follow from claims 9 and 15, respectively. This is because "adapted to respective grading of dopants to aid movements of carriers in respective active regions" is inherent in view of the first and second unidirectional electric drift fields, noting that how exactly they are adapted or the extent of aid they must deliver is not established.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant was prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application during prosecution of the application which matured into a patent. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

4. Claims 11-14 and 17-20 rejected on the ground of nonstatutory double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 8 of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195 in view of Maruyama (US 2001/0040622), hereinafter Maruyama.

Art Unit: 2892

Regarding claims 11-14 and 17-20, Claims 1 or 8 of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195 teach substantially the claimed structure but do not teach wherein the semiconductor device is a “central process unit” or CPU, or “a DRAM device”, a “flash memory device”, or an “image sensor device”. Maruyama teaches that a CPU (para 69), memories such as DRAM and flash (para 69) and image sensor devices (such as CMOS imager of para 93) are known field effect devices comprising a source and a drain, and are compatible with CMOS devices. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skills in the art at the time of the invention to modify Claims 1 or 8 of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195 so that the semiconductor device is a “central process unit” or CPU, or “a DRAM device”, a “flash memory device”, or an “image sensor device”. The ordinary artisan would have been motivated to modify Claims 1 or 8 of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195 for at least the purpose of using the semiconductor device with grade dopant concentration for a known circuit/device type that are known to perform critical functions in a circuit such as a “central process unit” or CPU, or “a DRAM device”, a “flash memory device”, or an “image sensor device”.

Art-based Rejections

No art based rejections are provided as base claim 9 and 15 are similar to allowed based claims of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195.

Remarks begin on page 5 of this amendment.

Amendments to the Claims:

The listing of claims will replace all prior versions, and listings of claims in the application:

Listing of Claims:

Claims 1-8 (Cancelled)

9. (Previously Presented) A semiconductor device comprising:

a surface layer;

an active region including a source and a drain, disposed on one surface of said surface layer;

a single drift layer disposed between the other surface of said surface layer and said substrate, said drift layer having a graded concentration of dopants generating a first static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said substrate to said surface layer; and

at least one well region disposed in said single drift layer, said well region having a graded concentration of dopants generating a second static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said substrate to said surface layer.

10. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein said first and second static unidirectional electric fields are adapted to respective grading of dopants to aid movements of carriers in respective active regions.

11. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein the semiconductor device is a central processing unit (CPU).

12. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein the semiconductor device is a DRAM device.

13. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein the semiconductor device is a flash memory device.

14. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein the semiconductor device is an image sensor device.

15. (Previously Presented) A semiconductor device comprising:

a surface layer;

an active region including a source and a drain, disposed on one surface of said surface layer;

a single drift layer disposed between the other surface of said surface layer and said substrate, said drift layer having a graded concentration of dopants generating a first static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said surface layer to said substrate; and

at least one well region disposed in said single drift layer, said well region having a graded concentration of dopants generating a second static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said surface layer to said substrate.

16. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein said first and second static unidirectional electric fields are adapted to respective grading of dopants to aid movements of carriers in respective active regions.

17. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is a central processing unit (CPU).

18. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is a DRAM device.

19. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is a flash memory device.

20. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is an image sensor device.

REMARKS

Double Patenting – Terminal Disclaimer

Claims 9-10 and 15-16, respectively, stand rejected on the ground of nonstatutory double patenting over claims 8 and 1, respectively of USP No. 8,421,195. ANDRE ROBINSON

[X] The terminal disclaimer identifies a party who is not the applicant (only for applications filed on or after September 16, 2012; See FP 14.26.10):

For cases filed on/after 9/16/12, 37 CFR 1.321 specifies that the applicant can disclaim, and the terminal disclaimer must specify the extent of the applicant's ownership.

A request under 37 CFR 1.46(c) to change the applicant needs to be filed, which is (1) a request, signed by a 1.33(b) party, (2) a corrected ADS (37 CFR 1.76(c)) that identifies the "new" applicant in the applicant information, and is underlined since it is new, and (3) a 3.73(c) statement showing chain of title to the new applicant. Along with the § 1.46(c) request we need a POA that gives power to the attorney who is signing the TD, along with another copy of the TD, unless they file a TD that is signed by the applicant.

DETAILED ACTION

1. The present application is being examined under the pre-AIA first to invent provisions.

Terminal Disclaimer

2. The terminal disclaimer of 2/2/2015 has been disapproved for reasons outlined below: The terminal disclaimer identifies a party who is not the applicant (only for application filed on or after September 16, 2012; See FP 14.26.10):

For cases filed on/after 9/16/12, 37 CFR 1.321 specifies that the applicant can disclaim, and the terminal disclaimer must specify the extent of the applicant's ownership.

A request under 37 CFR 1.46(c) to change the applicant needs to be filed, which is (1) a request, signed by a 1.33(b) party, (2) a corrected ADS (37 CFR 1.76(c)) that identifies the "new" applicant in the applicant information, and is underlined since it is new, and (3) a 3.73(c) statement showing chain of title to the new applicant. Along with the § 1.46(c) request we need a POA that gives power to the attorney who is signing the TD, along with another copy of the TD, unless they file a TD that is signed by the applicant.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory double patenting rejection is appropriate where the claims at issue are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the reference application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement. A terminal disclaimer must be signed in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(b).

The USPTO internet Web site contains terminal disclaimer forms which may be used. Please visit <http://www.uspto.gov/forms/>. The filing date of the application will determine what form should be used. A web-based eTerminal Disclaimer may be filled out completely online using web-screens. An eTerminal Disclaimer that meets all requirements is auto-processed and approved immediately upon submission. For more information about eTerminal Disclaimers, refer to <http://www.uspto.gov/patents/process/file/efs/guidance/eTD-info-I.jsp>.

4. Claims 9-10 and 15-16, respectively, are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory double patenting over claims 8 and 1, respectively of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195 since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the “right to exclude” already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as follows:

Regarding claim 15, claim 1 of US 8,421,195 teaches:

A semiconductor device comprising:

a surface layer (Col. 4, line 14);

a substrate (Col. 4, line 15);

an active region including a source and a drain, disposed on one surface of said surface layer (Col. 4, lines 16-17);

a single drift layer disposed between the other surface of said surface layer and said substrate, said drift layer having a graded concentration of dopants generating a first static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said surface layer to said substrate (Col. 4, lines 18-24); and

Art Unit: 2892

at least one well region disposed in said single drift layer, said well region having a graded concentration of dopants generating a second static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said surface layer to said substrate (Col. 4, lines 25-29; last 5 lines of the claim).

Claim 9 is rejected in view of claim 8 of Rao (US 8,421,195) for similar reasons, as outlined below:

For the present application being examined is noted that claims 9 and 15 are substantially the same except that they require opposite direction of the “first static unidirectional electric field” and the “second static unidirectional electric field”. More specifically, claim 9 requires the “first static unidirectional electric field” (see lines 7-9 of claim 9) as well as the “second static unidirectional electric field” (see last 3 lines of claim 9) to aid the movement of minority carriers from “said substrate to said surface layer”, while claim 15 requires the above said movement be aided from “said surface layer to said substrate”.

The above explained differences are also the same for claim 1 and 8 of US 8,421,195; i.e. claim 8 of requires the “first static unidirectional electric field” (see lines 7-9 of claim 9) as well as the “second static unidirectional electric field” (see last 3 lines of claim 9) to aid the movement of minority carriers from “said substrate to said surface layer”, while claim 1 requires the above said movement be aided from "said surface layer to said substrate".

As such, claim 9 of present application is rejected in view of claim 8 of Rao (US 8,421,195).

Claims 10 and 16 are substantially similar. Further, claims 10 and 16, respectively, follow from claims 9 and 15, respectively. This is because "adapted to respective grading of dopants to aid movements of carriers in respective active regions" is inherent in view of the first and second unidirectional electric drift fields, noting that how exactly they are adapted or the extent of aid they must deliver is not established.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant was prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application during prosecution of the application which matured into a patent. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

5. Claims 11-14 and 17-20 rejected on the ground of nonstatutory double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 8 of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195 in view of Maruyama (US 2001/0040622), hereinafter Maruyama.

Regarding claims 11-14 and 17-20, Claims 1 or 8 of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195 teach substantially the claimed structure but do not teach wherein the semiconductor device is a "central process unit" or CPU, or "a DRAM device", a "flash memory device", or an "image sensor device". Maruyama teaches that a CPU (para 69), memories such as

DRAM and flash (para 69) and image sensor devices (such as CMOS imager of para 93) are known field effect devices comprising a source and a drain, and are compatible with CMOS devices. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skills in the art at the time of the invention to modify Claims 1 or 8 of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195 so that the semiconductor device is a "central process unit" or CPU, or "a DRAM device", a "flash memory device", or an "image sensor device". The ordinary artisan would have been motivated to modify Claims 1 or 8 of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195 for at least the purpose of using the semiconductor device with grade dopant concentration for a known circuit/device type that are known to perform critical functions in a circuit such as a "central process unit" or CPU, or "a DRAM device", a "flash memory device", or an "image sensor device."

Art-based Rejections

6. No art based rejections are provided as base claim 9 and 15 are similar to allowed based claims of U.S. Patent No. 8,421,195.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

This listing of claims will replace all prior versions, and listings, of claims in the application:

Claims 1-8 (Cancelled)

9. (Previously Presented) A semiconductor device comprising:

a surface layer;

a substrate;

an active region including a source and a drain, disposed on one surface of said surface layer;

a single drift layer disposed between the other surface of said surface layer and said substrate, said drift layer having a graded concentration of dopants generating a first static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said substrate to said surface layer; and

at least one well region disposed in said single drift layer, said well region having a graded concentration of dopants generating a second static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said substrate to said surface layer.

10. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein said first and second static unidirectional electric fields are adapted to respective grading of dopants to aid movements of carriers in respective active regions.

11. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein the semiconductor device is a central processing unit (CPU).

12. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 9 wherein the semiconductor device is a DRAM device.

15. (Previously Presented) A semiconductor device comprising:

a surface layer;

a substrate;

an active region including a source and a drain, disposed on one surface of said surface layer;

a single drift layer disposed between the other surface of said surface layer and said substrate, said drift layer having a graded concentration of dopants generating a first static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said surface layer to said substrate; and

at least one well region disposed in said single drift layer, said well region having a graded concentration of dopants generating a second static unidirectional electric drift field to aid the movement of minority carriers from said surface layer to said substrate.

16. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein said first and second static unidirectional electric fields are adapted to respective grading of dopants to aid movements of carriers in respective active regions.

17. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is a central processing unit (CPU).

18. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is a DRAM device.

19. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is a flash memory device.

20. (Previously Presented) The semiconductor device of claim 15 wherein the semiconductor device is an image sensor device.

REMARKS

Applicant has carefully reviewed the Office Action dated April 14, 2015.

Determination of Patent Term Adjustment under 35 U.S.C. 154 (b) (Applications filed on or after May 29, 2000)

The Office has discontinued providing a Patent Term Adjustment (PTA) calculation with the Notice of Allowance.

Section 1(h)(2) of the AIA Technical Corrections Act amended 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3)(B)(i) to eliminate the requirement that the Office provide a patent term adjustment determination with the notice of allowance. See Revisions to Patent Term Adjustment, 78 Fed. Reg. 19416, 19417 (Apr. 1, 2013). Therefore, the Office is no longer providing an initial patent term adjustment determination with the notice of allowance. The Office will continue to provide a patent term adjustment determination with the Issue Notification Letter that is mailed to applicant approximately three weeks prior to the issue date of the patent, and will include the patent term adjustment on the patent. Any request for reconsideration of the patent term adjustment determination (or reinstatement of patent term adjustment) should follow the process outlined in 37 CFR 1.705.

Any questions regarding the Patent Term Extension or Adjustment determination should be directed to the Office of Patent Legal Administration at (571)-272-7702. Questions relating to issue and publication fee payments should be directed to the Customer Service Center of the Office of Patent Publication at 1-(888)-786-0101 or (571)-272-4200.

OMB Clearance and PRA Burden Statement for PTOL-85 Part B

The Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA) of 1995 requires Federal agencies to obtain Office of Management and Budget approval before requesting most types of information from the public. When OMB approves an agency request to collect information from the public, OMB (i) provides a valid OMB Control Number and expiration date for the agency to display on the instrument that will be used to collect the information and (ii) requires the agency to inform the public about the OMB Control Number's legal significance in accordance with 5 CFR 1320.5(b).

The information collected by PTOL-85 Part B is required by 37 CFR 1.311. The information is required to obtain or retain a benefit by the public which is to file (and by the USPTO to process) an application. Confidentiality is governed by 35 U.S.C. 122 and 37 CFR 1.14.
