★★★★★ So much easier to use

Vine Customer Review of Free Product (What's this?)

I like that you only need to use 1 drop of this gripe water. It makes it easy to administer to my 3 month old and she seems to like the taste as well. It helps with her fussiness.

★★★★★ Nice organic gripe water

Vine Customer Review of Free Product (What's this?)

So far I'm happy with this gripe water. I have tried other products from this brand and have been pleased with them, as well. This seems to work just as well as other popular brands sold in stores so its nice to have another option you can trust to be organic and still work well. Highly recommend to have on hand to give your baby relief from gas!

★★★★★ Clean, organic ingredients

Vine Customer Review of Free Product (What's this?)

I'm pregnant with our 4th kiddo and our others have survived early infancy on gas drops and gripe water. We have purchased several different brands in the past, but I really like this very formulation of clean, organic ingredients. The major plus is the dosage of this, one drop vs a syringe full, so baby is less likely to choke on it. The bottle is easy to dispense and came with a long expiration date. Baby is not quite here to try yet, but I am excited to have this on hand in those early, fussy, gassy months!

★★★★☆ Good ingredients, but bottle half full?

Reviewed in the United States on February 17, 2024

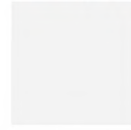

Vine Customer Review of Free Product (What's this?)

I've used the Ddrops brand in the past with my first baby when we were exclusively breastfeeding and they needed the extra vitamin D. Definitely a trusted brand, and I was pleasantly surprised to see that they're branching out and making non-D supplements as well such as this gripe water. The gripe water I've used previously just contained fennel but this formula not only has that, but also contains ginger and chamomile which seems to be a better mix. And, it's organic! Which means dye-free, preservative-free, and no added junk...

It is advertised as allergy friendly but if it's known that your baby has a coconut allergy, you will want to avoid this as it does have fractionated coconut oil.

Also, I did notice the bottle arrived half full, so I'm not sure yet if it truly has 120 drops inside. I've seen similar complaints about this with their Vitamin D drops too, but there must be a reason for the extra space inside the bottle?

★★★★★ Organic Gripe Water

Reviewed in the United States on February 20, 2024

Vine Customer Review of Free Product (What's this?)

I love that Ddrops Baby Tummy Relief Liquid Drops are made from simple, organic ingredients. There are no added ingredients to worry about giving your little one, especially when they are a newborn. Be sure to adhere to the warning about not giving before the age of 2 weeks and under 7 pounds. They are made from a trusted brand of Vitamin D Drops which is a big plus! They are easy to dispense and give to your baby. They work well and help relieve gas and fussiness.

★★★★★ You only need a drop!

Vine Customer Review of Free Product (What's this?)

Tastes good like chamomile, flowery. It's very concentrated so you only need a drop which is great for people that get confused with dosages. I don't have to look for a medicine cup or anything just put a drop while breastfeeding.

★★★★☆ No FDA approved

Vine Customer Review of Free Product (What's this?)

I wanted to try this product but not being FDA approved made me search for further information. It turns out that gripe water is not recommended by experts and there have been other versions recalled for being contaminated with other substances or even parasites.

Obviously, not saying it's the case with this particular brand, but I prefer not taking the risk, so I won't be able to base my opinion in real experience.
