I wanted to drop you a quick note of congratulations on your demonstration of vertical flash memory and explore the possibility of a more in-depth conversation about your technology and business. I'm sure you know that Micron is a NAND flash memory producer. At Micron I manage the advanced systems and architectures group and am focused on product development on the 2 to 5 year horizon. I am hoping that you would be available for a high level discussion sometime in the next couple of days.

Best Regards,
Pete
