

	'527 Claim 1	Evidence of Infringement by Micron
1	A portable memory apparatus, comprising:	- Each of the accused Micron SSD devices, see Main Rpt., Section VII, Overview of Micron's Accused Products, comprises a portable memory apparatus . - I understand that the Court has construed the preamble of claim 1 of the '527 patent as follows: The preamble is limiting - I have applied this construction in my analysis. - It is my opinion that each of the accused Micron SSD devices infringe this claim. - As further shown below, each of the accused Micron SSD devices is a portable memory apparatus that can be carried around in the palm of one's hand. - As a first example, for the accused Micron Enterprise SSDs, the dimensions of the 5210 (SATA form factor) are approximately 100 mm by 70 mm with a thickness of approximately 7 mm. See MICRON_0006991, at 7017; see also MICRON_0009435, at 9468, MICRON_0009588, at 9621, MICRON_0003040, MICRON_0009372, at 9427-30, MICRON_0009771, at 9841-44, Tipirneni Ex. 3, at 1. - As a second example, for the accused Micron Consumer SSDs, the dimensions of the BX500 (SATA form factor) are approximately 100 mm by 70 mm with a thickness of approximately 7 mm. See MICRON_0009573, at 9577; see also MICRON_0003180, at 3184, MICRON_0009477, Tipirneni Ex. 3, at 2. - The Micron documents support my finding that the accused Micron SSD devices meet the preamble of claim 1 of the '527 patent. I further note that, in addition to the documents directly cited in these charts, there are additional documents cited after the last of the charts that further support my opinion of infringement.