06/26/2023		CORRECTING ENTRY: The joint claim construction chart filed at D.I. 42 on 6/23/2023, has been removed from the docket. Upon review the Court was not confident that the filing could be bound as filed (i.e. over 3500 page). Counsel is to refile the joint claim construction chart in an efficient multi-volume set. (nms) (Entered: 06/26/2023)
06/27/2023		CORRECTING ENTRY: The Joint Claim Construction Chart and Appendix filed at D.I. 42 has been removed from the docket as have the exhibits filed at refiled D.I. 42, D.I. 43, D.I. 44, D.I. 45, and D.I. 46. The Court requested the joint claim chart be filed in an efficient multi-volume set. It was noted that that joint chart and appendix initially filed at D.I. 42 totaled 6 pages. It was also noted that the appendix was duplicated in all of subsequent filing, which it should not have been, and all of the filings lacked reference on the cover page as to the volume they were assigned in the multi-volume set. Counsel is to refile the joint claim chart again accordingly. (nms) (Entered: 06/27/2023)

05/14/2024	98	ORAL ORDER: The redacted filing (D.I. 93) is REJECTED because parts of it are redacted in its entirety. Absent a compelling reason, supported by a statement under oath by a party, redactions in their entirety are impermissible; redactions must be done so as to redact the least possible amount of the materials submitted. Failure to make a good faith attempt at such redactions may result in sanctions, the most common of which would be simply unsealing the entire filing. Redacting in its entirety a document, or parts of it, that contains publicly available materials is prima facie evidence of bad faith. A revised redacted filing is DUE within five business days.
