Never attempt to climb on a roof during 2 a storm. You're exposing yourself to fierce weather 3 and you're increasing your chances of injury. Storm 4 damage can range from large, highly visible dents and 5 tears to almost undetectable indentations. Even small 6 damage can harm the surface of your roof and lead to 7 deterioration over time. The source of roof damage 8 can be difficult if it's not visible. Leaks can 9 appear in one area but the source may be unexpected. 10 Before you decide to tarp a roof to prevent a water- 11 related leak, first, try to identify the leak's 12 origination. Start by checking the underside of the 13 roof sheathing for water stains. Look for torn or 14 missing shingles, dented metal roof vents or missing 15 metal roof panels. These are obvious signs of high 16 winds and hail. Your roof may appear to be warped or 17 dented, sometimes exposing the fiberglass in the 18 asphalt shingles. 19 The most effective method to cover your 20 roof is to run a tarp from the opposite side of the 21 roof over the peak and down to the eve of the damaged 22 side holding the tarp in place with two-by-four wood
2 1 MALE SPEAKER 1: During hurricane season, 2 excessive winds can literally raise the roof and in 3 some cases, tear it right off. After a hurricane, the 4 primary step in the recovery process is stabilizing 5 your home and preparing to rebuild. Tarping a damaged 6 roof is critical to preserving your post hurricane 7 rebuilding options. Without a roof covering homes are 8 exposed to the elements. An uncovered roof can 9 deteriorate quickly rapidly raising repair costs. 10 Tarping a roof can be a dangerous job and should be 11 done only when professional contractors or other 12 qualified personnel are not available and the 13 situation requires swift action. If you can wait to 14 have the project completed later, do so. If foul 15 weather is on the way and tarping is needed to 16 prevent further damage, consider doing the project 17 with some assistance. Be sure to follow these safety 18 precautions. 19 Climbing onto a steeply pitched roof may 20 send you tumbling to the ground below, so don't try 21 it. Stay on your ladder when accessing steep roof 22 tops and don't attempt to stand on a tarp, especially	4 1 strips. This ensures total coverage of the damaged 2 area. Partially unroll or unfold enough of the tarp 3 to cover the leaking section. Run your tarp from the 4 eve to the peak of the roof. Add four feet on each 5 end and cut your tarp. Use a two-by-four that is two 6 feet longer than the width of the tarp. Wrap one end 7 of the tarp around it. To reduce the potential for 8 tearing, sandwich the rolled tarp and two-by-four 9 with a second two by two, and nail those together 10 with three and a quarter inch nails to the roof. 11 Stretch the rest of the tarp over the ridge and down 12 the damaged side of the roof. Now, roll that end of 13 the tarp around another two-by-four and nail under 14 the eve. Using more two-by-fours, nail down the 15 tarp's sides. Now, they don't have to be rolled in 16 the tarp. Nail in the wood strips, a maximum of ten 17 inches apart and remember, final repair is best left 18 to a professional with the equipment and the skills, 19 to do the job safely and permanently. 20 Thank you for taking the time to review 21 this information on tarping a roof. Now, when bad 22 weather damages your roof, you'll be ready to provide
