Greg,
I enjoyed talking with you this afternoon to learn a little more about 'My Fuma.' As I mentioned, part of my role in the RJRTC organization is to search out and investigate promising new technology and product opportunities. To that end, any additional non-confidential information that you can share about Fuma International LLC, its organization and its products would be helpful in making that initial assessment. Your kind offer to provide some sample products will also be very helpful. Once I have had an opportunity to review the material with some of my associates we can determine if it will be in both our interest to proceed to the next step of putting a Confidentiality Agreement in place to facilitate further discussion.
Cheers,

Denny Potter
