09/13/2023		Text Order MOOTING 286 Sealed Motion entered by Judge Derek T. Gilliland. On September 1, 2023, the Court entered a text order granting Sable leave to file a sur-reply into the record; that sur-reply was entered into the record at ECF No. 278. The September 1 text order further granted Cloudflare leave to file a brief addressed to Sable's sur-reply, limited to 5 (five) pages, by September 11, 2023 (the page limit is exclusive of the caption, the signature block, any certificate, and any accompanying documents). Cloudflare filed that brief under seal on September 7, 2023, at ECF No. 284. Cloudflare's instant motion at ECF No. 286, seeks leave to file a brief that is apparently identical to what it already filed and entered into the record at ECF No. 284. This is unnecessary and moot. The Court already granted Cloudflare leave to file its brief addressed to Sable's sur-reply in the text order of September 1, 2023. Additionally, the Court's June 2, 2022 Standing Order Regarding Filing Documents Under Seal And Redacted Public Versions grants leave for any party in a patent case to file materials containing confidential information under seal; parties need not file a separate motion for leave. Thus, Cloudflare's motion (ECF No. 286) seeks relief that is already granted, and is DENIED AS MOOT. However, Cloudflare is ORDERED to file a publicly available, redacted version of ECF No. 284, its response to Sable's sur-reply, by September 14, 2023, according to the June 2, 2022 Standing Order Regarding Filing Documents Under Seal And Redacted Public Versions.
