ERRATA

IPR2024-00865
Patent 11,693,685 B2

We issue this errata to correct a grammatical error in the Final Written Decision for IPR2024-00865 entered on December 8, 2025. Paper 84 (Non-Public Version – Protective Order Material). The sentence on page 65, starting at line 4, states the following: “As we explain previously when addressing Orca’s arguments for element 1.6, we find that Hufsmith’s teaching of detecting vulnerabilities includes detecting the potential exposure of sensitive data in a security vulnerability or software weakness would not suggest, at least in some instances, in detecting sensitive data itself.” This sentence should be changed as follows: “As we explain previously when addressing Orca’s arguments for element 1.6, we find that Hufsmith’s teaching of detecting vulnerabilities includes detecting the potential exposure of sensitive data in a security vulnerability or software weakness ~~would not suggest~~ that would result, at least in some instances, in detecting sensitive data itself.”
