03/08/2024	42	TEXT-ONLY ORDER. Camelbak's 38 motion for leave to amend is denied without prejudice. Based on the parties' briefing it appears they may not have an actual dispute. The parties are directed to meet and confer to review Camelbak's proposed amendments and stipulate to an amended filing if they are able to reach an agreement. As indicated in its standing order the Court expects parties not to unreasonably withhold consent to amendments. If the parties cannot agree, Camelbak shall file its proposed amendments and each side may file a statement of up to three pages indicating their respective position, and Camelbak's motion will be decided without a hearing. (This is a text-only entry generated by the court.
