This is super exciting Seymour. Congratulations to all of us!!

Just gives us a whole new level of validation!!!!

Whatever happens from here - it is a win as we will be guaranteed a demoPit.

One quick preparatory request. Could you Seymour and Tyron send me your intros - how you both are going to introduce yourself. I may re-write small pieces within the intros if that is OK with you.

I have a hunch that this time it is going to be more about the background of the founders than the application. However, I agree with Seymour that we need to recreate the portal pages.

Once again, I am attaching the early drafts of Jiffler home and detail pages.

Best,
Rajesh

PS: I can be available for a short call tomorrow at 6am PST (I think that is 3pm CET)

Hi guys,

We are on a roll! Now we need to go and get it.

In this call all 3 of us should be in.

Tyron - we need to upgrade our portal mockup with the new design. Also we need to pick the new logo and have it implemented in login page and studio.

Obviously I don't think design + logo are the main criteria for selection, but it can be an irritating factor that we need to remove.

Also I am sure now they want to see whether we as a team are swift, flexible and responsive enough.

Lets have a prep call tom 3pm CET if that works out fine for everyone.

Best,
Seymour

Betreff: TechCrunch50> Early Decision Semi-Finalist Notification

Dear TechCrunch50 Applicant:

Congratulations! We are would like to inform you that have been selected as a semi-Finalist for the TechCrunch50 conference.

We would like to interview you for one final round beginning this weekend with yet a different Reviewer. As before, you will be e-mail invited to select an interview time. The interview format and procedure will be similar as the others, but may be slightly longer up to 25 minutes at the Reviewer's discretion. The goal is to get to know more about you and your company.

Also, we are extending the notification date for the conference and you will be informed of our Final Decision no later than Monday, August 11.

As you know, we are only able to select a very, very small percentage of the outstanding applications we receive. Any semi-finalists not moving on to the main stage as a Finalist will be guaranteed a DemoPit spot if they wish and those details shall follow after the panel decision is rendered.

So sharpen up those demos and presentations! We really enjoyed getting to know your business and are looking forward to learning even more.

Sincerely,

--Jason, Heather & Michael

and the TechCrunch50 Team
