Good Job, Girish. Thanks.

I will put up a ticket for new requirement to implement the audio feature.

Best,
Seymour

Subject: New Logo for Studio

Hi Girish, hi Swati,

Please find attached the new logo for the studio in two different sizes. Also, I have attached two preview files. One shows a quick'n'dirty preview of the studio with a white header and the 220x41 logo, as discussed. Please modify the studio accordingly.

As you can see, if we get rid of the heavy grey area at the top and the separating shadow we actually gain a lot of space. Let's use it! The entire application unter the white area can easily be moved up 20 pixels without the application looking crowded. The second preview (new logo and new layout) shows exactly that (ignore the bottom of that preview)

If you can do this additional layout change quickly then please do it today and use the slightly smaller logo 200x37 for the studio. Otherwise please take care of it later.

We can also gain space on the HTML side. The Flash application has an unnecessary border around it because your body tag has no formatting at all. Let's not waste space. So please change this today, too. Here's the new code to enter:

<body topmargin="0" leftmargin="0" style="margin:0px;padding:0px">

I'll have a break now and I'll be back in the office in half an hour, in case you need something.

Best,
Tyron
