Subject: iCharts Ready to Launch

Dear Tanya,

Hope you are doing well. We are all excited and anxiously waiting for the verdict :)

Rajesh told me that he had a great meeting with Michael, Heather and the rest of the TechCrunch team on Saturday. I wish I was there too but it was a short notice.

One quick update: We reached our internal milestone yesterday of preparing 1.000 high quality charts as launch content for the iCharts public portal launch (in categories such as Environmental, Economical and Public Health). Our initial team of selected pilot users are continuing to create charts and we should have plenty of interactive charts for the launch.

This will help generate a lot of interest in iCharts. You may want to share this with Michael and Jason.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Best,
Seymour
