Ben,
We just had a great meeting with the Comissioner and I was reminded of our talks.

When are you in NYC next? Would like to keep the conversation going regarding any international introductions that make sense for pilot programs. Also, you mentioned you had a company that would be a good fit to have graphics fly-on the streams triggered by game events, which is something we'd be interested in as well (we're talking to Stats about it but they are just getting their tech off the ground in that regard).

I hope you're well and look forward to catching up. On this end, we've locked down some eSports tournaments and some MMA fights so we're making good progress on both the bizdev and tech side.

Talk soon,
Kevin

(PS: Looping in my partner Andrew Schupak who I'd like to intro you to next time you are in the city.)
