Star In Your Own Show With Studio-Quality Tools

It's your turn to be the color commentator. Start a stream about a game that's live right now, host your own half-time show, or share game predictions or recaps. Unlike other platforms, SportsCastr delivers its streams in real-time (sub-second latency), making it possible to use SportsCastr for alternative commentary while a game is on and to interact with your audience. What's more, content creators gain access to studio quality tools that make them look like a professional, including on-air graphics, live score-bugs and countdown clocks.
