Patent 7,920,651 B2

and KEVIN C. TROCK, Administrative Patent Judges.

DECISION

Dismissal of Petition and Motion for Joinder Prior to Institution of Trial
35 U.S.C. § 314

I. DISCUSSION

Intel Corporation, Lenovo (United States) Inc., and Motorola Mobility LLC (“Petitioner”) filed a Motion to Dismiss (Paper 11 (“Motion”)), seeking to withdraw the Petition (Paper 3) and terminate this proceeding.¹ Paper 10, 1. Petitioner explains that, along with its Petition, it also filed a Motion for Joinder (Paper 2), seeking to join IPR2025-00011. Id. Because the Board denied institution of IPR2025-00011, Petitioner now requests dismissal of the Petition and termination of this proceeding to “preserve the Board’s resources.” Id. at 2. Petitioner contends that Collision Communications, Inc. (“Patent Owner”) does not oppose the Motion and that Petitioner “represented to Patent Owner that [it does] not intend to file another [inter partes review] petition with respect to this patent.” Id. Additionally, Petitioner asserts that the Board previously allowed a similar request by a petitioner in similar circumstances. Id. (citing DIRECTV, LLC v. Entropic Commc’ns, LLC, IPR2024-01062, Paper 8 (PTAB Oct. 28, 2024)).

We find Petitioner’s arguments persuasive for the reasons explained by Petitioner, and the requested dismissal and termination consistent with past Board practice. See, e.g., DIRECTV, IPR2024-01062, Paper 8. Under the circumstances presented here, we determine that it is appropriate to grant Petitioner’s Motion, dismiss the Petition, and terminate the proceeding. Accordingly, we also dismiss as moot Petitioner’s Motion for Joinder to IPR2025-00011.

¹ This Motion was authorized by the Board via email dated May 14, 2025. See Paper 11, 1.

II. ORDER

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that the Motion to Dismiss (Paper 11) is granted; FURTHER ORDERED that the Petition (Paper 3) is dismissed and this proceeding is terminated; and FURTHER ORDERED that Petitioner's Motion for Joinder (Paper 2) is dismissed as moot.
