SPORTRADAR AG,
Petitioner

v.

SPORTSCASTR INC.,
(D/B/A PANDA INTERACTIVE),
Patent Owner.

IPR2025-00315
U.S. Patent No. 10,805,687

PETITIONER'S SHOWING OF GOOD CAUSE FOR PARALLEL PETITIONS

Sportradar AG ("Petitioner") requests IPR of claims 1, 10-18, 23, 24 and 26 of U.S. Patent No. 10,805,687 ("the '687"). Ex.1006. Petitioner is filing parallel petitions separately challenging claims 1, 10-18, and 23, 24 and 26.

1. REASONS WARRANTING TWO PETITIONS

PO is asserting all 30 claims from '687 in the Texas Litigation. See Ex.1019 at 3; Ex.1048. Until recently, the claims challenged in the present Petitions (claims 10-18 and 26) had not been previously asserted.¹

The Board has recognized that in certain circumstances more than one petition may be necessary. See Trial Practice Guide Update (July 2019), p.26. Petitioner has filed two petitions related to the '687's claims and respectfully requests that the Board institute both petitions. The Board should institute both petitions for at least the following reasons.

First, the claims cannot be addressed in one petition because of length of the claims and because of the additive nature of the claim dependencies. Claims 10-18 depend either directly or indirectly in claim 1. Claim 1 itself is a rather lengthy claim with several recited elements². Claim 11 depends from claim 10, claim 12 from claim 11, claim 13 from claim 12, claim 14 from claim 13, and so on. Claim 17 alone occupies at least a column and a half of the '687 patent, and claim 18 depends from claim 17. This of course necessitates a longer discussion to address all of the challenged elements of these newly asserted claims.

Second, each petition challenges different claims. The first Petition challenges claims 1 and 10 through 18. The second Petition challenges claims 23, 24 and 26. Thus, the Petitions are not duplicative and address as efficiently as possible the patentability of the newly asserted '687 claims.

Third, the two Petitions cite essentially the same art against all claims, and rely on essentially the same rationale, thus minimizing the burden on the Board from instituting both petitions.

2. RANKING OF THE PETITIONS

Petitioner requests that the Board consider the petitions in the following order, however, for the reasons explained above, the Board's analysis of the newly asserted claims in the Texas Litigation would not be complete without considering both petitions:

² Although, as explained in the accompanying Petitions, these elements are all conventional and arranged in a predictable manner to accomplish known objectives.

3. CONCLUSION

Petitioner is not abusing process, rather Petitioner is merely providing the Board with sufficient analysis to fully understand the nature of the challenged to the claims and the asserted prior art. For these reasons, the Board should institute both petitions.
