May. 30, 2024	45	PAPERLESS ORDER denying 18 Plaintiff's Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence and for Substitute of Service ("Motion"). Although the Court is cognizant that Plaintiff is proceeding pro se, Plaintiff is nevertheless bound by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and Local Rules for the Southern District of Florida, as explained by the Order Providing Instructions to Pro Se Litigant, ECF No. 23. The Local Rules require parties to confer "in a good faith effort to resolve by agreement the issues raised in the motion" prior to filing. See L.R. 7.1(a)(3). The rule lists exceptions, which does not include the instant Motion. Id. Here, it is clear that the parties did not engage in a pre-filing conference, based on Defendants' representation that they were willing and able to resolve the issues raised in the motion. And, pursuant to Local Rule 7.1(a)(3), "[f]ailure to comply with the requirements of this Local Rule may be cause for the Court to grant or deny the motion and impose on counsel an appropriate sanction, which may include an order to pay the amount of the reasonable expenses incurred because of the violation, including a reasonable attorney's fee." Accordingly, the Motion is DENIED without prejudice. If, after the parties meet and confer, there is a good faith basis to continue to seek such relief, Plaintiff may refile his motion. However, the Court notes that there appears to be insufficient evidence of spoliation, and Plaintiff, Mr. Hernandez, bears the burden of proof that evidence was, in fact, destroyed and that he would be prejudiced by its destruction. See Silverstein v. Boehringer Ingelheim Pharms., Inc., No. 19-CIV-81188, 2020 WL 13119102, at *5-6 (S.D. Fla. Aug. 5, 2020). Plaintiff is advised that efforts to assert a frivolous position may subject him to sanctions. Signed by Judge Rodolfo A. Ruiz, II on 5/30/2024. (agh) (Entered: 05/30/2024)
		Motion for Discovery Sanctions -- Issue/Evidence/Terminating	Denied without prejudice

May. 30, 2024	49	PAPERLESS ORDER on [47, 48] Notices of Attorney Appearance. Considering Plaintiff is no longer proceeding pro se, Plaintiff's counsel shall advise the Court of his plans to proceed with the requested relief in the Motion for Temporary Restraining Order ("Motion"), ECF No. 17, on or before 7:00 P.M. today. The Court notes that the reply to the Motion is due today. Signed by Judge Rodolfo A. Ruiz, II on 5/30/2024. (agh) (Entered: 05/30/2024)
May. 30, 2024	50	NOTICE By Plaintiff's Counsel of Intent To File Reply In Further Support Of Motion For Temporary Restraining Order And Preliminary Injunction by Edwin A. Hernandez re 49 Order, (Martinez, Elio) (Entered: 05/30/2024)

May. 30, 2024	53	ORDER REQUIRING JOINT SCHEDULING REPORT AND CERTIFICATES OF INTERESTED PARTIES Joint Scheduling Report due by 6/17/2024 Signed by Judge Rodolfo A. Ruiz, II on 5/30/2024. See attached document for full details. (pcs) (Entered: 05/31/2024)

May. 31, 2024	54	PAPERLESS ORDER denying 17 Motion for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction ("Motion"). As a general rule, the Court cannot (and should not) consider arguments which are made for the first time in a Reply. See Martinez v. Weyerhaeuser Mortg. Co., 959 F. Supp. 1511, 1515 (S.D. Fla. 1996) ("[T]he Court finds that the movant may not raise new arguments in a reply brief.") (citing S.D. Fla. L.R. 71(c)); Herring v. Secretary, Dep't of Corr., 397 F.3d 1338, 1342 (11th Cir. 2005) ("As we repeatedly have admonished, arguments raised for the first time in a reply brief are not properly before a reviewing court.") (internal quotes omitted). Here, the Motion, while filed pro se, raises no argument to advance Plaintiff's position, failing to address many of the relevant factors the Court must weigh before granting injunctive relief. See Schiavo ex rel. Schindler v. Schiavo, 403 F.3d 1223, 1225-26 (11th Cir. 2005) (outlining the elements of injunctive relief). For instance, Plaintiff fails to provide evidence showing the likelihood of irreparable injury. Plaintiff then retained counsel, who filed a Reply in Further Support of Motion ("Reply"), ECF No. 51 and a Supplemental Declaration raising, for the first time, irreparable harm, see ECF No. 52. Counsel's attempt to fix the deficiencies pervading the Motion by way of the Reply and supplemental exhibits is procedurally improper. See Riechmann v. Fla. Dep't of Corr., 940 F.3d 559, 579 (11th Cir. 2019) ("Riechmann does argue in his reply brief that he can demonstrate cause and prejudice, but arguments raised for the first time in a reply brief are not properly before a reviewing court.") (cleaned up). Accordingly, the Motion is DENIED without prejudice. Signed by Judge Rodolfo A. Ruiz, II on 5/31/2024. (agh) (Entered: 05/31/2024)

Oct. 04, 2024	168	PAPERLESS ORDER granting in part and denying in part 167 Joint Motion to Bring Electronic Equipment into the Courthouse and Courtroom. The Parties' request lacks the specificity required by Part I.A. of Southern District of Florida Administrative Order 2018-79 (the "AO"). Accordingly, the Parties' request to bring electronic equipment into the courthouse is DENIED. Any renewed motion must specify each individual for whom leave is sought and each piece of equipment that person seeks to bring into the courthouse. Further, because the AO requires that any Court order authorizing leave to bring electronic equipment be forwarded to the United States Marshal for verification, it may be too late to enforce such a grant of leave, if the Court were to issue one. If the Parties intend to file a renewed motion, they should assume that filing the day before the hearing will be too late. The Parties' request to visit the courtroom is GRANTED. The Parties may visit the courtroom only in the afternoon of Monday, October 7, 2024. The Parties should not expect access to the courtroom a full hour prior to the hearing on the morning of Tuesday, October 8. Signed by Magistrate Judge Lauren Fleischer Louis on 10/4/2024. Feb. 12, 2025	190	PAPERLESS ORDER denying 184 Motion to Stay Pending Inter Partes Review ("Motion"). Defendants argue that this case should be stayed pending Defendants' appeal of Plaintiffs' three asserted patents before the Patent Trial and Appeal Board ("PTAB"). See 184 at 4. Defendants contend that a stay would conserve resources and preserve judicial economy. Plaintiffs disagree, stating that six of the nine claims against Defendants do not depend on the validity of Plaintiffs' patents, and further noting that a stay would frustrate judicial economy and unduly burden Plaintiffs in the pursuit of their claims. See 185 at 2. Upon careful review, the Court DENIES the Motion. Defendants bear the burden of showing why a stay is warranted, and a court evaluates a motion for a stay holistically. See DataQuill Ltd. v. BLU Prods., Inc., No. 20-20760, [ECF No. 21], at 3 (S.D. Fla. Apr. 10, 2020); see also Advanced Bodycare Sols., LLC v. Thione Int'l, Inc., 524 F.3d 1235, 1241 (11th Cir. 2008) (noting that district courts possess inherent, discretionary authority to issue stays in many circumstances). In evaluating a motion to stay pending inter partes review, the Court considers whether (1) the stay would unduly prejudice Plaintiffs; (2) whether the stay would simplify issues in question and trial of the case; and (3) whether discovery is complete and a trial date has been set. See Targus Int'l LLC v. Grp. III Int'l, Inc., No. 20-21435, 2021 WL 542675, at *1 (S.D. Fla. Jan. 8, 2021). Here, a stay would unduly prejudice Plaintiffs given that the PTAB will only resolve three of the nine claims that Plaintiffs have brought against Defendants. None of the six remaining claims depend on the validity of the patents that the PTAB will review. See InVue Sec. Prods. Inc. v. Vanguard Prods. Grp., Inc., No. 18-2548, 2019 WL 3958272, at *2 (M.D. Fla. Aug. 22, 2019) ("[A] party may be prejudiced when it has other claims pending that do not depend on the validity of the patent involved in the inter partes review and would nevertheless be put on hold during the stay."). The timing of the Motion also weighs against granting a stay, given that Defendants have petitioned for inter partes review three years after receiving notice of potentially infringing activity and nine months after Plaintiffs filed their suit. See MiMedx Grp., Inc. v. Livent Bioscience, Inc., No. 14-1178, 2015 WL 13907479, at *4-5 (N.D. Ga. Apr. 6, 2015) (finding that a nine-month period between filing a complaint and a petition for inter partes review would weigh against granting a stay). And in any event, granting a stay would prejudice Plaintiffs--and the Court's judicial efficiency--because Defendants have only submitted a petition for inter partes review without the PTAB ruling on a post-grant review petition. See VirtualAgility Inc. v. Salesforce.com, Inc., 759 F.3d 1307, 1315-16 (Fed. Cir. 2014) ("While a motion to stay could be granted even before the PTAB rules on a post-grant review petition, no doubt the case for a stay is stronger after post-grant review has been instituted."). Staying the case, and precluding Plaintiffs from litigating their claims based on the possible expectation that the PTAB will grant review, is no sensible way for the parties to fairly litigate their case or for the Court to efficiently adjudicate this matter. As mentioned, two-thirds of Plaintiffs' claims are unrelated to the patent claims the PTAB would resolve. Simplifying Defendants' defenses as to one-third of Plaintiffs' claims would not resolve most of the causes of action asserted in the Complaint; even if inter partes proceedings began, the Court would still have to resolve the remainder of Plaintiffs' claims. The weight of authority does not support the suggestion that courts should grant stays pending inter partes review where there are non-patent claims unaffected by that proceeding. See, e.g., MiMedx Grp., 2015 WL 13907479, at *4 (finding that that IPR would not streamline issues because plaintiff brought patent infringement, trademark, and unfair competition claims against defendant); DataQuill Ltd., [ECF No. 21], at 4 ("Courts generally deny a stay when not all the patents-at-issue have been challenged and the unchallenged patents would 'languish.'") (citation omitted); Payrange, Inc. v. Kiosoft Techs., LLC, No. 20-20970, 2020 WL 9158402, at *2 (S.D. Fla. Nov. 23, 2020) (denying motion to stay because "[r]eview will only resolve issues relating to the '296 Patent" and "claims relating to the '996 Patent will still have to be litigated"). A trial date has already been set, and staying the case would hinder an efficacious resolution of this matter. If the Court grants a stay of the whole case in order for the PTAB to adjudicate three of Plaintiffs' nine claims, it risks delaying the current trial date of October 2025 to an indeterminate date, given that, if the PTAB hears the case, it will have until July 2026 to issue a final decision on the validity of the at-issue patents. See 37 C.F.R. § 42.100(c). And if the PTAB extends its own deadline, a final decision may not arise until December 2026. See id.. Given that the parties have begun filing claim-construction briefs, see 188, 189, and given that the existing trial date is set for October 2025, it makes little sense to delay litigation through a stay for a limited set of issues that may take months to resolve. Thus, for the foregoing reasons, the Court DENIES Defendants' 184 Motion to Stay Pending Inter Partes Review. Signed by Judge Rodolfo A. Ruiz, II on 2/12/2025. (nn00) (Entered: 02/12/2025)

Recommended denial

Personal Jurisdiction
 L State Long-Arm Statutes

L Florida Long-Arm Statute

The magistrate judge recommended denying defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' patent infringement claims as to one Canadian defendant and determined that the court had personal jurisdiction under the state long-arm statute. "Plaintiffs allege that Stingray Canada provided services in Florida that . . . infringed on Plaintiffs' patents . . . Further . . . those allegations are plausible. Accordingly, Plaintiffs' . . . 'tort claims satisfy Florida's Long-Arm Statute because an arguable basis for personal jurisdiction exists under § 48.193(1)(b) of the Florida Long-Arm Statute for Plaintiffs' tort claims[.]"

 L Minimum Contacts

The magistrate judge recommended denying defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' patent infringement claims as to one Canadian defendant and determined that the the defendant had sufficient contacts with the forum. "Plaintiffs have argued that [the Defendant] offers relevant products and services to Florida customers (products which infringe . . . Plaintiffs' proprietary information); has communicated with [Plaintiff] regarding the relevant claims; and is a successor in interest to the agreements between Plaintiffs and [Defendants' predecessor]. We agree with Plaintiffs that these allegations, taken together and accepted as true, establish that [Defendant] has sufficient minimum contacts with Florida such that personal jurisdiction may be exercised as to the relevant claims—especially where [Defendant] offered no affidavits or evidence in their Motion to rebut these allegations, and did not even address personal jurisdiction in their Reply."

 L Standing
 L Patent Rights Sufficient To Convey Standing

The magistrate judge recommended denying defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' patent infringement claims for lack of standing. "The operative Complaint alleges that [Plaintiff's company] 'has an exclusive license to the technologies owned by [Plaintiff]'. Moreover, the Asserted Patents (attached as exhibits to the operative Complaint) list [Plaintiff] as the 'Applicant' and 'Inventor,' with no evidence of assignment. The operative Complaint further alleges that '[Plaintiff] is the owner of all rights, title and interests' to the Asserted Patents. Moreover, nowhere in the operative Complaint do Plaintiffs allege that any assignment existed between [Plaintiff] and [his company]; rather, Plaintiffs allege only a verbal licensing agreement between [Plaintiff] and [the company]."

The magistrate judge recommended denying defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiff's patent infringement claims on the basis of a release of claims between plaintiff and defendants' predecessor. "[T]he nature and extent of the purported agreement's terms, plus the effectiveness and enforceability of those terms, are very fact-laden issues that cannot be summarily adjudicated on the face of the operative complaint. Plaintiffs' well-pleaded allegations that the settlement agreement was procured under fraud is, standing alone, sufficient to stave off this motion to dismiss. While of course we make no finding in that regard, Plaintiffs' allegations—taken as true—that the agreement was signed after [one Defendant] had already misappropriated Plaintiffs' . . . technology (despite [that Defendant's] representations to the contrary) creates a colorable fact issue ripe for discovery."

The magistrate judge recommended denying defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiff's patent infringement claims for failure to state a claim. "For each of the apparent deficiencies Defendants identified, Plaintiffs cited to the operative Complaint to successfully demonstrate how the relevant limitations were in fact incorporated into the patent infringement count (i.e., how 'temporal sequence/dynamic change' limitation and the video interface limitation are incorporated into the infringement claim). Accordingly, Defendants' Motion, in this regard, should be denied."

The magistrate judge recommended denying certain defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' patent infringement claims on the ground that they were mere downstream customers who benefit from another defendant's alleged infringement. "Plaintiffs argue that these customer-Defendants, through their use of the infringing platform, are also engaging in patent infringement. Critically, Defendants provide no authority to carry their burden of proving that a downstream customer cannot be liable for patent infringement. That lack of authority, coupled with the principle that patent infringement liability can stem from 'use' alone, leads us to recommend that Defendants' argument be rejected."

 L Pleadings
 L Sufficiency of Pleadings

Plaintiffs allege in their complaint that 'to the extent that some elements or steps of a claim in the Asserted Patents are performed or provided by a different party than Defendants,' the infringement is still attributable to Defendants. That is because, Plaintiffs allege, 'Defendants establish the manner and/or timing of the performance of the use of Defendants Accused Streaming Platforms and thus direct and control the actions that a user may request or the results from a user's actions.' 'Defendants' customers and users receive a benefit in that they are able stream audio content (e.g., music).' And moreover, 'Defendants' contracts with users also create an agency relationship or govern infringing activity for purposes of joint infringement.' Effectively, then, Plaintiffs have pleaded that 'one party exercises the requisite 'direction or control' over the others' performance.'"

The magistrate judge recommended denying certain defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiffs' induced and willful infringement claims for failure to state a claim. "Plaintiffs have alleged that Defendants knowingly induced infringement by marketing and offering for sale a product that Defendants knew was the product of patent infringement. Accordingly, we recommend that Defendants' Motion be denied in this regard. . . . [F]or these same reasons, Plaintiffs' allegations also belie Defendants' argument that Plaintiffs failed to adequately allege willful infringement (i.e. that Defendants had prior knowledge of Plaintiffs' patents yet sold and/or used products that infringed on those patents). On that score, then, Defendants' Motion should be also denied."

"A level of delay involving years, not months, amounts to tangible and persuasive evidence that a plaintiff does not require injunctive relief pending trial. And, having that presumption rebutted, the burden then squarely falls back on the movant to show that, in fact, irreparable harm follows. Yet, here Plaintiffs make a very meager conclusory case for irreparable harm. Indeed, they are relying primarily on the presumption with little else. That is not enough under the circumstances. . . . Plaintiffs were admittedly aware of all their available rights and the cause to sue Stingray and Defendants for infringement, fraud and breach of contract. But they alternatively offered a royalty agreement to satisfy their existing claims. Such acknowledgements show that monetary compensation was the preferred remedy for the alleged infringement and misconduct. That is antithetical to a showing of irreparable harm required for injunctive relief now."

Mar. 12, 2025	207	PAPERLESS ORDER denying 199 Motion to Strike Reply Brief. As is often the case, claim construction often comes down to a dispute as to indefiniteness of certain claim language, and this case seems to fall in line. But a showing of indefiniteness must be established by clear and convincing evidence, so to that extent Defendants have the greater burden. See, e.g., ePlus, Inc. v. Lawson Software, Inc., 700 F.3d 509, 517 (Fed. Cir. 2012); Sonix Tech. Co. v. Publ'ns Int'l, Ltd., 844 F.3d 1370, 1377 (Fed. Cir. 2017). A reply in support of their position, therefore, is not unwarranted nor would it prejudice Plaintiffs who are now better apprised of Defendants' theories to make better rebuttal arguments at a Markman hearing, if/when it is held. Apr. 23, 2025	231	Administrative Order: Upon review of the docket and supporting materials in advance of the hearing scheduled for April 24, 2025, the Court's Standing Order on Discovery Procedures had erroneously not been filed in the case. Accordingly, this Order incorporates the terms of that Standing Order for all discovery purposes in this action. Further, it appears that both sides' discovery responses have not complied with Subsection 1(c) of the Standing Order that directs the parties to refrain from unnecessary boilerplate objections and requires the responses to include clear statements that "Counsel shall include in the answer a clear statement that all responsive documents/information identified have in fact been produced/provided, or otherwise describe the category of documents/ information that have been withheld on the basis of the objection." As described here the parties' counsel may not have been aware of that direction so, in advance of the discovery hearing, counsel for both sides shall be prepared to orally present their positions in light of that requirement, at least with respect to the requests at issue in the parties' notices of hearing. Otherwise, counsel shall advise how soon the existing responses can be revised to meet this requirement. To the extent entry of this Order does not resolve the pending discovery issues or objections, the Court will address such issues at the hearing. Signed by Ch. Magistrate Judge Edwin G. Torres on 4/23/2025. See attached document for full details. (EGT) (Entered: 04/23/2025)
