Good cause exists to grant the instant relief. The parties have worked diligently to narrow disputes implicating claim construction. There are only two remaining disputes, and both concern allegations of indefiniteness (i.e., invalidity). As noted in the Ground Rules, the resolution of a dispute over indefiniteness is likely to be deferred until a complete record has been presented. See Ground Rule 6.1. As a result, the parties respectfully submit that it would conserve resources to defer determination of whether the two disputed terms (“layer” and “level”) are indefinite until a complete record has been developed. Specifically, the parties propose addressing the two indefiniteness disputes during expert reports, and then either as part of summary determination and/or at or after the evidentiary hearing. By doing so, the parties can avoid burdening the ALJ with claim construction briefing that may be supplemented and/or superseded by subsequent expert discovery. This process will also streamline the dispute for the parties, as it will reduce the number of expert reports, briefs, and expert depositions required for the matter.

Aside from removing the deadlines related to claim construction, the parties' proposed amendments do not affect any other deadline, including the hearing date, and target date. Accordingly, the parties, the Commission, and the public interest will not be prejudiced by the modifications proposed herein. Thus, the parties respectfully request that the instant motion be granted.
