(ch,) (Entered: 08/10/2023)
Motion re First-to-File Rule Denied Venue L First-To-File Rule L Suit Against Customer The court denied the manufacturer defendant's motion to transfer plaintiff's claims as to one patent under the first-to-file rule and determined that the customer suit exception applied. "[Plaintiff] contends that Judge Seeborg of the Northern District of California has already concluded that the first-to-file rule is inapplicable to the [customer] Action, and instead, the supplier/customer doctrine controls. . . . The customer-suit exception exists to avoid, if possible, 'imposing the burdens of trial on the customer, for it is the manufacturer who is generally the 'true defendant' in the dispute.' The Court is persuaded, based on the record before it, that resolution of [Plaintiff's] claims regarding the '912 Patent in this case will likely resolve the 'major issues' in the [customer] Action."
Motion to Stay Pending Resolution of Related Action Denied Stay of Proceedings L Factors Considered L Likelihood Of Success (Stay) After denying the manufacturer defendant's motion to transfer under the customer-suit exception to the first-to-file rule, the court denied defendant's motion to stay pending appeal of the customer suit. "This Court has already denied Samsung's motion to stay pending Ninth Circuit Appeal in the First Texas Case. The Court finds the reasoning relied upon in reaching that decision applicable in this case as well. For example, Samsung has not made any showing that it is likely to succeed on appeal, and has instead argued that Nken is inapplicable. However, even under the less strict Landis factor analysis, the Court finds that the factors, on balance, do not weigh in favor of a stay."

Oct. 17, 2023	180	ORDER denying without prejudice 88 Motion to Stay. Signed by District Judge Rodney Gilstrap on 10/17/2023. (ch,) (Entered: 10/17/2023)
Motion to Stay Pending Inter Partes Review		Denied without prejudice
District Court Procedural Issues L Stay of Proceedings		The court denied without prejudice as premature defendant's motion to stay pending inter partes review. "Considering these circumstances, the Court concludes that [Defendant's] Motion is premature in that only three out of the four Asserted Patents has had a decision instituting IPRs. A stay of these proceedings in advance of the PTAB's decision on whether or not to institute inter partes review as to all of the Asserted Patents should be denied. Accordingly, the Motion is denied without prejudice to refiling of the same, which shall be permitted within fourteen (14) days following the PTAB's institution decision regarding the last of the patents-in-suit to be acted upon by the PTAB."

Invalidity

L Description Of Invention (35 USC § 112)

L Indefiniteness

The court found plaintiff's memory module patents not invalid as indefinite. "[T]here is no material difference in scope between Micron's two proffered meanings. In other words, regardless of whether (1) 'at least one of the circuit components' or (2) 'the circuit components' are configured as required by the claims, those two phrases effectively mean the same thing. In addition, the only substantive limitation added by Claim 15 is the requirement that the provision of the data paths be 'in response' to control signals. Thus, construing the phrase as 'the circuit components' reflects how a skilled artisan would understand the term because it best aligns the language of Claim 15 with that of Claim 14."

Term	Construction
memory devices mounted on the printed circuit board and arranged in a plurality of N - bit wide ranks	a "rank" is a 'bank' of one or more devices on a memory module that operate in response to a given signal
wherein data transfers through the circuitry are registered for an amount of time delay such that the overall CAS latency of the memory module is greater than an actual operational CAS latency of each of the memory devices	not indefinite; plain and ordinary meaning
a memory module operable in a computer system to communicate data with a memory controller of the computer system via a N-bit wide memory bus in response to read or write memory commands received from the memory controller, the memory bus including address and control signal lines and data signal lines, the memory module comprising: a printed circuit board having a plurality of edge connections configured to be electrically coupled to a corresponding plurality of contacts of a module slot of the computer system; logic coupled to the printed circuit board and configurable to receive a set of input address and control signals associated with a read	does not require a "fork-in-the-road" approach

or write memory command via the address and control signal lines and to output a set of registered address and control signals in response to the set of input address and control signals, the set of input address and control signals including a plurality of input chip select signals and other input address and control signals, the plurality of input chip select signals including one chip select signal having an active signal value and one or more other input chip select signals each having a non-active signal value, the set of registered address and control signals including a plurality of registered chip select signals corresponding to respective ones of the plurality of input chip select signals and other registered address and control signals corresponding to respective ones of the other input address and control signals, the plurality of registered chip select signals including one registered chip select signal having an active signal value and one or more other registered chip select signals each having a non-active signal value, wherein the logic is further configurable to output data buffer control signals in response to the read or write memory command; memory devices mounted on the printed circuit board and arranged in a plurality of N-bit wide ranks, wherein the plurality of N-bit wide ranks correspond to respective ones of the plurality of registered chip select signals such that each of the plurality of registered chip select signals is received by memory devices one respective N-bit wide rank of the plurality of N-bit-wide ranks, wherein one of the plurality of N-bit wide ranks including memory devices receiving the registered chip select signal having the active signal value and the other registered address and control signals is configured to receive or output a burst of N-bit wide data signals in response to the read or write command; and circuitry coupled between the data signal lines in the N-bit wide memory bus and corresponding data pins of memory devices in each of the plurality of N-bit wide ranks, the circuitry being configurable to transfer the burst of N-bit wide data signals between the N-bit wide memory bus and the memory devices in the one of the plurality of N-bit wide ranks in response to the data buffer control signals and in accordance with an overall CAS latency of the memory module; wherein data transfers through the circuitry are registered for an amount of time delay such that the overall CAS latency of the memory module is greater than an actual operational CAS latency of each of the memory devices

not indefinite; plain and ordinary meaning operable in a computer system to communicate data

plain and ordinary meaning plurality of memory integrated circuits mounted on the printed circuit board and arranged in a plurality of ranks including a first rank and a second rank

a "rank" is a 'bank' of one or more devices on a memory module that operate in response to a given signal

a memory module operable in a computer system to communicate data with a memory controller of the computer system via a memory bus in response to memory commands received from the memory controller, the memory commands including a first memory command and a subsequent second memory command, the first memory command to cause the memory module to receive or output a first data burst and the second memory command to cause the memory module to receive or output a second data burst, the memory module comprising: a printed circuit board having a plurality of edge connections

does not require a "fork-in-the-road" approach

configured to be electrically coupled to a corresponding plurality of contacts of a module slot of the computer system; a register coupled to the printed circuit board and configured to receive and buffer first command and address signals representing the first memory command, and to receive and buffer second command and address signals representing the second memory command; a plurality of memory integrated circuits mounted on the printed circuit board and arranged in a plurality of ranks including a first rank and a second rank, the plurality of memory integrated circuits including at least one first memory integrated circuit in the first rank and at least one second memory integrated circuit in the second rank, wherein the first rank is selected to receive or output the first data burst in response to the first memory command and is not selected to communicate data with the memory controller in response to the second memory command, and wherein the second rank is selected to receive or output the second data burst in response to the second memory command and is not selected to communicate data with the memory controller in response to the first memory command; a buffer coupled between the at least one first memory integrated circuit and the memory bus, and between the at least one second memory integrated circuit and the memory bus; and logic coupled to the buffer and configured to respond to the first memory command by providing first control signals to the buffer to enable communication of the first data burst between the at least one first memory integrated circuit and the memory controller through the buffer, wherein the logic is further configured to respond to the second memory command by providing second control signals to the buffer to enable communication of the second data burst between the at least one second memory integrated circuit and the memory controller through the buffer, the second control signals being different from the first control signals

Motion to Strike Non-Pleading Filing		Denied
District Court Procedural Issues L Summary Judgment Practice		The court denied defendant's motion to strike plaintiff's summary judgment motion and found that defendant's motion was really a substantive response. "[T]he Court finds that [Defendant's] arguments go to the merits of the Summary Judgment Motion. Specifically, [Defendant] argues that [Plaintiff] is judicially estopped from making its arguments against the licensing defense and it argues that [Plaintiff's] arguments conflict with this Court's prior rulings. Thus, the Court finds that [Defendant's] 'Motion to Strike' a de facto response to [Plaintiff's] Summary Judgment Motion."

Motion for Relief from Protective Order		Granted
Confidentiality L Protective Orders Preserving Confidentiality L Enforcing Protective Orders Outside Litigation		The court granted plaintiff's motion for relief from the protective order to present testimony from this case of defendant's corporate representative in a case in another district and found that defendant would not suffer undue prejudice. "Notably, both of [Defendant's] alleged 'false premises' are not issues that [Plaintiff] seeks to have this Court resolve. Whether or not the testimony is relevant to the CDCA Action and whether or not the testimony in this case actually contradicts [Defendant's] positions in the CDCA Action are issues best left to Judge Scarsi and the Central District of California. [Plaintiff] merely asks that it be allowed to show the testimony at issue to Judge Scarsi so that he may determine the merits of these alleged 'false premises.' The Court does not find that the limited relief sought in this motion would unduly prejudice [Defendant]."
Motion for Relief from Protective Order		Granted
Confidentiality L Protective Orders Preserving Confidentiality L Enforcing Protective Orders Outside Litigation		The court granted plaintiff's motion for relief from the protective order to present testimony from this case of defendant's corporate representative in a case in another district and rejected defendant's argument that plaintiff was conducting proxy discovery for that case here. "This Court is aware of the interconnected nature of this case and the CDCA Action, and it is also mindful to prevent any party from using this case to conduct 'proxy discovery' for the CDCA Action. . . . [H]owever, [Plaintiff] is not seeking to obtain extra discovery in this case to be used in the CDCA Action, but rather [Plaintiff] is simply asking that it be allowed to show Judge Scarsi deposition testimony that has already taken place so that Judge Scarsi can determine whether or not such testimony is relevant and admissible in the CDCA Action. In fact, it was Judge Scarsi who recommended that [Plaintiff] seek relief from this Court first before posing any such issues to the Central District of California Judge Scarsi asked [Plaintiff] to obtain leave from this Court before approaching the Central District of California with the substantive issues concerning [the] testimony. [Plaintiff] has done that. There is no risk that any [of Defendant's] confidential information will be exposed to the general public."

		Motion to Stay Pending Inter Partes Review	Denied
		Stay of Proceedings Factors Considered Prejudice From Stay/Tactical Advantage Stay of Proceedings Factors Considered Stage of Litigation The court denied defendant's renewed motion to stay pending inter partes review and found that the lack of undue prejudice and stage of the case disfavored a stay. "A delay in the proceedings would be prejudicial to [Plaintiff] as a competitor to [Defendant], and any stay could be further extended if either party appeals the PTAB's findings to the Federal Circuit. Further, the Court is convinced that timely resolution of [Plaintiff's] patent claims are warranted given that the next generation DIMMs will soon make the allegedly infringing accused DIMMs obsolete. The fact that [Plaintiff] is seeking solely monetary damages does not mean that [Plaintiff] cannot be prejudiced by a significant delay of an imminent trial date. . . . The parties have engaged in substantial discovery, claim construction, and have served expert reports. Further, the trial is only a few months away."

Renewed Motion - Motion to Stay Pending Inter Partes Review			Denied
Stay of Proceedings L Factors Considered L Prejudice From Stay/Tactical Advantage Stay of Proceedings L Factors Considered L Simplification of Issues Stay of Proceedings L Factors Considered L Stage of Litigation		After the PTAB issued a FWD regarding one of several patents-in-suit, the court denied defendant's renewed motion to stay pending completion of the various IPR proceedings and found that a lack of simplification of the issues, stage of the case, and potential for undue prejudice disfavored a stay. "The only scenario in which the IPRs dispose of the entire case is if the PTAB invalidated all claims of all three asserted patents in suit and the Federal Circuit affirmed all these decisions on appeal. Although the PTAB has currently invalidated one of the Asserted Patents, that decision does not affect [two others]. Further, the last of these final written decisions is not due until . . . many months away The stage of the case is now at a more advanced stage than it was when [Defendant] filed its last motion to stay. . . . [A] delay in the proceedings would be prejudicial to [Plaintiff] as a competitor to [Defendant], and any stay could be further extended if either party appeals the PTAB's findings to the Federal Circuit."
Motion to Sever			Denied
District Court Procedural Issues L Severing, Consolidating & Relating		After denying defendant's renewed motion to stay pending various IPR proceedings, the court denied defendant's alternative motion to sever one asserted patent. "There is significant overlap between the claims of the Asserted Patents. Severing these Patents into two separate cases creates a risk of unnecessary duplication of expending the Court's and the Parties' limited resources. . . . On balance, the Court finds it would better promote judicial efficiency to try all of the Asserted Patents in the same trial. Although [Defendant] is concerned about complications in trial, the Court very recently tried a case to a jury with the exact same patents under nearly identical circumstances. [Defendant's] concerns about a complicated trial can be mitigated by the Court acting as an engaged gatekeeper and through the parties' efforts to mitigate issues brought to the Court through the meet and confer process."
