Counsel,

Regarding Patent Owner's email of July 10, 2025, requesting authorization to file a corrected Preliminary Response in order to correct one or more "minor typo[]s in the table of contents," the request is denied. If Patent Owner cares to certify that correcting the typos in question would have some meaningful effect on the substance of their briefing, the Panel will reconsider the request. Otherwise, the Panel concludes no correction is necessary. Moreover, it appears that Patent Owner neither met and conferred with nor included Petitioner in the email correspondence regarding its request to correct its Preliminary Response. 37 C.F.R. § 42.5(d) concerning ex parte communications instructs that "[c]ommunication regarding a specific proceeding with a Board member defined in 35 U.S.C. 6(a) is not permitted unless both parties have an opportunity to be involved in the communication." Furthermore, the parties should not contact the Board for relief without first meeting and conferring on the matter to determine whether the parties agree or if there is any opposition to the relief requested, or if the Board's involvement is required at all.

Hello,

It appears the Preliminary Response that was filed had minor typo's in the table of contents. They do not affect the substance of the response. Are we able to request permission from you to file the corrected version?

Thank you,

Sam
