ADVANCED CODING TECHNOLOGIES LLC, Plaintiff, v. GOOGLE LLC, Defendant.	Case No. 2:24-cv-00353-JRG JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

PLAINTIFF'S DISCLOSURE OF
ASSERTED CLAIMS AND INFRINGEMENT CONTENTIONS

Plaintiff Advanced Coding Technologies LLC ("ACT" or "Plaintiff") hereby makes the following infringement disclosures under the Local Patent Rules with respect to United States Patent Nos. 8,090,025 (the "'025 Patent"), 9,986,303 (the "'303 Patent"), and 10,218,995 (the "'995 Patent") (collectively, the "ACT Patents" or "Asserted Patents"). ACT's investigation is ongoing and discovery is in its preliminary stages. Accordingly, these disclosures are based on information available to ACT at this time. ACT reserves the right to supplement this disclosure after further discovery from Defendants and non-parties, particularly documents and other discovery regarding Defendants' accused devices. ACT also reserves the right to assert additional claims of the ACT Patents, accuse different products, or find alternative literal and/or equivalent infringing elements in Defendants' products.

I. DISCLOSURE OF ASSERTED CLAIMS AND INFRINGEMENT CONTENTIONS PURSUANT TO LOCAL PATENT RULE 3-1

A. ASSERTED CLAIMS

Defendant Google LLC (collectively, "Google" or "Defendant) have infringed and/or continue to infringe one or more of the following claims of the ACT Patents in connection with the Accused Products set forth below:

- Claims 6-8 and 10 of the '025 Patent;
- Claim 1 of the '303 Patent; and
- Claims 2-4 and 11 of the '995 Patent.

B. ACCUSED INSTRUMENTALITIES

1. Accused Products

ACT is currently aware that Defendant has infringed and continue to directly infringe the '025, '303, and '995 Patents, either literally or under the doctrine of equivalents, without authority and in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271, by making, using, offering to sell, selling, and/or importing into the United States products that satisfy each and every limitation of one or more claims of the '025, '303, and '995 Patents. Such products include at least Pixel 6 Pro, Pixel 6a, Pixel 7 Pro, Pixel 7a, Pixel Fold, Pixel 8 Pro models, Google Meet, and Youtube.

2. Claim Charts

Claim charts identifying a location of every element of every asserted claim of the ACT Patents within the Accused Products are attached hereto as Appendices A, B, and C. ACT believes that the Accused Products cited in the claim charts are representative of all versions of the Accused Products. The Accused Products include the hardware with associated software and the charts also reference exemplary code to the extent available.

ACT reserves the right to amend these claim charts, as well as other information contained in this document and the Appendices attached hereto, to incorporate new information learned during the course of discovery including, but not limited to, information that is not publicly available or readily discernible without discovery. ACT further reserves the right to amend these claim charts, as well as other information contained in this document and the exhibits attached hereto, pursuant to Local Patent Rules 3-1(g) and 3-6.

C. LITERAL INFRINGEMENT AND DOCTRINE OF EQUIVALENTS

ACT asserts that, under the proper construction of the asserted claims and their claim terms, the limitations of the asserted claims of the ACT Patents are literally present in the Accused Products as set forth in the claim charts attached hereto as Appendices A, B, and C.

ACT contends that any and all elements found not to be literally infringed are infringed under the doctrine of equivalents because the differences between the claimed inventions and the Accused Products, if any, are insubstantial.

ACT contends that Defendants directly infringe the asserted claims by making, using, offering for sale, selling, and importing into the United States the Accused Products. ACT also contends that Defendants indirectly infringe by contributing to and/or inducing others (e.g., Defendants' service providers or partners, suppliers, Defendants' customers or its customers' customers) to directly infringe those claims by making or using the Accused Products. In addition, ACT contends that Defendants directly infringe to the extent that activities of third parties may be legally attributable to Defendants.

ACT contends that Defendants induce infringement of the ACT Patents by others (manufacturers and distributors Accused Products, end-users of Accused Products, and Defendants' customers) by inducing others to make or use the Accused Products with the knowledge that making or using directly infringes the ACT Patents or, in the alternative, with the belief that there was a high probability that others infringe the ACT Patents, but while remaining willfully blind to the infringement.

ACT also contends that Defendants contributorily infringe with the knowledge that the Accused Products, or the use thereof, infringe the Asserted Patents. Defendants knowingly and intentionally contributed to the direct infringement of the Asserted Patents by others, by supplying Accused Products that embody a material part of the claimed invention of the Asserted Patents that are known by Defendants to be specially made or adapted for use in an infringing manner and are not staple articles with substantial non-infringing uses.

Pursuant to Local Patent Rule 3-6(a)(1), ACT reserves the right to amend its Infringement Contentions as to literal infringement or infringement under the doctrine of equivalents in light of the Court's claim construction.
