Counsel,

It is not clear why CM HK sent this e-mail. Merits discovery in both the NDCA and EDTX cases has been stayed since well before IPR2025-1023 and IPR2025-1071 were instituted, and the parties have not litigated invalidity in any district court since then. Therefore, Samsung has already satisfied its obligations. That said, given that IPR2025-1023 and IPR2025-1071 are instituted, Samsung reaffirms that it will not pursue (and hereby, withdraws) the portion of its invalidity contentions that includes grounds raised or that reasonably could have been raised in IPR2025-1023 and IPR2025-1071.

Best,
Sasha

Sasha,

What are you conferring about? You already stipulated to withdraw them. Was that a real stipulation or not?

Sincerely,

Chris Evans

So you are not withdrawing the defenses you stipulated you would withdraw? What does your response mean? I will proceed on the basis that you are refusing to abide by your stipulation.

Sasha,

When will Samsung be withdrawing all 102/103 grounds based on printed publications or patents in the two district court cases?

Sincerely,

Chris Evans

Sasha,

To overcome our motion for discretionary denial, Samsung stipulated that if its IPRs were instituted it would not pursue any grounds of invalidity that it raised or could have raised in the IPRs in District Court. The IPRs were instituted in December so Samsung must withdraw all invalidity grounds that were raised or reasonably could have been raised in the IPR from both district court cases. We believe this requires filing amended invalidity contentions withdrawing all 102/103 grounds based on printed publications or patents. Please let us know when you intend to comply with your stipulation.

Sincerely,

Chris Evans
