Petitioner may file a corrected version that comports with the 20-page limit and should do so as soon as possible. The current version will be expunged.

To the Honorable Director,

Petitioners write regarding an oversight in the right margin setting for portions of Petitioners' Oppositions to Patent Owner's Discretionary Denial Briefs (Paper 13 in IPR2025-01249 and -01250) submitted November 7, 2025. After the first page, the right margin was inadvertently set to 0.63 inches instead of 1 inch due to reusing a Word document created for another purpose. Petitioners caught the error in finalizing related briefing in IPR2025-01251 to -01254 and PGR2025-00063 to -00064. Petitioners apologize for this oversight and seek leave to either (1) submit corrected versions that remove text to reduce the length of the briefs to under 20 pages (using the correct margins) without changing the substance or (2) exceed the margin limit for these two briefs.

The parties have conferred, and Petitioners provided proposed redlines to the two briefs to Patent Owner. Patent Owner stated in response:

"Patent Owner does not oppose Petitioners' request to file corrected versions of its discretionary denial opposition briefs in IPR2025-01249 and -01250 that reduce the length to under 20 pages with the correct margins. Patent Owner opposes Petitioners' alternative request as this would result in the briefs effectively exceeding the 20-page limit and there is not good cause for expanding the page limit.”

The parties are available for a conference call if preferred.

Respectfully submitted,

Jim Davis

Counsel for Petitioners
