INSTRUCTIONS

1. If You elect to identify and produce documents in response to any Interrogatory in accordance with Rule 33(d) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the response shall be in sufficient detail to permit Omni MedSci to locate and identify, as readily as You can, the documents from which the answer may be ascertained. For example, any such response relying on Rule 33(d) shall include identifying any responsive or relevant documents by production number and what aspects of the Interrogatory those documents are responsive to. Any such documents should be produced within thirty (30) days of service of these Interrogatories in accordance with this Court's Orders, by agreement of the parties (see e.g., Dkt. 47-1 or any agreements to a protective order), or at the offices of Nixon Peabody, LLP, 70 West Madison St., Suite 5200, Chicago, IL 60602.

2. Pursuant to Rule 26(e) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, these Interrogatories are deemed to be continuing in nature to the full extent required by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. If further information, Documents, Communications, and Things come into the possession or to the attention of Defendants or its attorneys at any time during the course of This Action, Your responses to these Interrogatories and production of Documents, Communications, and Things in response to the following Interrogatories are to be promptly supplemented to include subsequently acquired information.

3. In answering the following Interrogatories, furnish all available information, including information in the possession, custody, or control of any of You, Your attorneys, directors, officers, agents, employees, Representatives, associates, investigators, or division affiliates, partnerships, parents, or subsidiaries, and Persons under Your control, who have the best knowledge, not merely information known to You based on Your own personal knowledge. If You cannot fully respond to the following Interrogatories after exercising due diligence to secure the information requested in those Interrogatories, so state and specify the portion of each Interrogatory to which You cannot respond fully or completely. In the latter event, state what efforts have been made to obtain the requested information and the facts upon which You rely to support the contention that the Interrogatory cannot be answered fully or completely, and state what knowledge information, or belief You have concerning the unanswered portion of any such Interrogatory. If You object to any portion of any Interrogatory, respond to the portions to which the objection or objections do not apply and state the precise nature of the objection to any unanswered part.

4. If You are producing Documents, Communications, and Things relating to these Interrogatories, each Document, Communication, and Thing that is responsive in whole or in part to any portion of any Interrogatory shall be produced in its entirety, including all attachments, enclosures, and metadata as may be applicable. If a Document, Communication, and Thing responsive to any Interrogatory cannot be produced in full, it shall be produced to the extent possible with an explanation stating why production of the remainder is not possible.

5. If You are producing Documents, Communications, and Things relating to these Interrogatories, ESI such as Microsoft Excel files, QuickBooks files, or other financial or accounting information shall be produced in native electronic format, including with all corresponding metadata as maintained in the ordinary course of business. All other ESI shall be produced as required by any agreements to, or this Court's entry of, an ESI order, or as either (1) searchable PDFs, or (2) electronic TIFF images with associated OCR data or extracted text files; and, as may be appropriate, with load files in Relativity, Concordance, iPro, and Summation formats.

6. If You are producing Documents, Communications, and Things relating to these Interrogatories, the selection of Documents, Communications, and Things from the files and other sources, and the numbering of such Document, Communication, and Thing, shall be performed in such a manner as to ensure that the source of each Document, Communication, and Thing may be determined as necessary.

7. These Interrogatories seek the production of Documents, Communications, and Things in the same form, and in the same order, in which they existed prior to production. In accordance with the provisions of Rule 34(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Documents, Communications, and Things responsive to these Interrogatories shall be produced as they are kept in the usual course of business, or shall be organized and labeled to correspond with these Interrogatories. The Documents, Communications, and Things are to be produced in boxes, files, folders, or other containers in which Documents, Communications, and Things were found. The titles, labels, or other descriptions of the Documents, Communications, and Things are to be left intact.

8. You are to produce Documents, Communications, and Things in such a manner as will facilitate their identification with the particular Interrogatory to which they are responsive.

9. Unless otherwise indicated in a particular Interrogatory, each Interrogatory is not limited in time.

10. Unless otherwise indicated, the use of the name of any party, person, or business organization in these discovery Interrogatories shall specifically include all agents, employees, shareholders, owners, officers, directors, joint ventures, Representatives, attorneys, and all other persons acting on behalf of the subject party, person, or business organization.

11. Whenever an objection is asserted to a particular Interrogatory or portion thereof, provide all responsive information and produce all responsive Documents, Communications, and Things or parts thereof that are not subject to the objection. Similarly, wherever Documents, Communications, or Things are not produced in full, please state with particularity the reason or reasons that it is not being produced in full. Please also describe, to the best of Your knowledge, information, and belief, and with as much particularity as possible, those portions of the Documents, Communications, and Things that are not being produced in full.

12. For each aspect of each Interrogatory, the response must either provide the requested information or state with specificity the grounds for objecting to the Interrogatory, including the reasons. Any objection must state whether any responsive materials are being withheld on the basis of that objection. An objection to part of a Interrogatory must specify the part and provide information for the rest.

13. For each objection asserted, state: (i) the basis for the objection; (ii) facts supporting the assertion of the objection; and (iii) the statute, rule, or decision that is claimed to give rise to the objection.

14. If You object to any meaning of any term in any Interrogatory herein as unclear, identify Your broadest reasonable understanding of the term and provide Your response based on that broadest reasonable understanding.

15. If You object to any Interrogatory on the basis that it is premature, or on the basis that You have not completed Your investigation or preparation for trial, You shall respond with respect to the investigation and preparation that You have conducted to date and with the estimated date by which you expect to provide a response.

16. If You object to the scope or breadth of any of these Interrogatories, identify what You believe is the broadest reasonable scope or breadth and provide Your response based on that broadest reasonable scope or breadth.

17. If You withhold any Documents, Communications, Things, or information from discovery on the basis of attorney-client privilege, work product protection, or any other ground of privilege or immunity, You must describe, in accordance with Rule 26(b)(5) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the nature of the Documents, Communications, Things, or information withheld in a manner that will enable the propounding party to assess the applicability of the claimed privilege or immunity.

18. If any Document, Communication, and Thing identified in response to any of these Interrogatories was, but is no longer in Your possession, custody, or subject to Your control, or is no longer in existence, state whether it: (i) is missing or lost; (ii) has been destroyed; (iii) has been transferred, voluntarily or involuntarily, to others, and state the identity of those persons to whom it has been transferred; (iv) has been otherwise disposed of, and in each instance, explain the circumstances surrounding such disposition, state the date or approximate date thereof, and the identity of the persons with knowledge of such circumstances; or (v) identify the writings that are missing, lost, destroyed, transferred, or otherwise disposed of, by author, date, subject matter, addressee, and the number of pages.

19. In the event that any Documents, Communications, and Things called for by this set of Interrogatories is known to have been destroyed (either as a result of a document retention/destruction policy or otherwise), any such Documents, Communications, and Things, or classes thereof, are to be identified by providing, for each such Document, Communication, and Thing, or class thereof, the following information: (i) author(s); (ii) addressee(s); (iii) indicated or blind copy recipient(s); (iv) identifying date(s); (v) subject matter; (vi) number of pages; (vii) attachments or appendices; (viii) all persons to whom the Documents, Communications, or Things was distributed, shown, or explained, or who would otherwise have seen and/or been in possession of the Documents, Communications, or Things, or copies thereof; (ix) date of destruction; (x) person(s) authorizing the destruction; and (xi) person(s) destroying the Documents, Communications, or Things.

20. Definitions or usages of words or phrases in these Interrogatories are not intended to be, and shall not be, construed as admissions as to the meaning of words or phrases at issue in This Action, and will not have a binding effect on the propounding part in This Action or any other proceeding.

21. None of the Interrogatories set forth below shall be construed as an admission relating to the existence of any evidence, to the relevance or admissibility of any evidence, or to the truth or accuracy of any statement or characterization in the Interrogatory.

* * *

Notwithstanding the foregoing, each of the following Interrogatories may have its own additional and specific requirements for identification.
