Sep. 01, 2017	83	Minute Entry: Status Conference held on 9/1/2017 before Magistrate Judge Steven M. Gold. Crosby for plaintiffs; Verhoeven, Curran and McKee for defendant. Discovery and case management issues discussed on the record. Decision on Yahoo's motion to compel disclosure of plaintiffs' validity contentions taken under advisement. The parties are urged to continue their efforts to resolve or narrow this dispute. The Court will grant any reasonable joint application to adjust the existing case management schedule to accommodate any agreement reached. To the extent plaintiffs are concerned with the expense of providing the information sought by defendant, the Court suggests the parties consider whether awaiting the PTAB's decision on whether to review all or some of the matters the parties have raised might be more efficient than proceeding to litigate them in this action simultaneously. COUNSEL WILL SUBMIT A LETTER REPORT ON THE STATUS OF THEIR EFFORTS TO RESOLVE THE PENDING DISCOVERY DISPUTE BY SEPTEMBER 11, 2017. (FTR Log #1:10-1:45.) (Gillespie, Saudia) (Entered: 09/01/2017)

AlmondNet is directed to provide defendant with the narrowed contention response described in the second numbered paragraph of Yahoo's September 11, 2017 letter. The Court recognizes that the current case management schedule does not permit sufficient time for AlmondNet to comply. Accordingly, the parties shall confer and jointly propose an amended schedule by October 6, 2017. Ordered by Magistrate Judge Steven M. Gold on 9/29/2017. (Metzger, Daniel) (Entered: 09/29/2017)

Motion to Compel Discovery — Denied in part granted in part

Disclosures & Discovery
└ Deposition & Written Discovery
└ Interrogatories

Disclosures & Discovery
└ Objections
└ Objection: Overbroad/Burdensome

The court granted defendant's motion to compel further responses to its validity contention interrogatories because defendant previously answered similar discovery and there was no undue burden to plaintiff. "[Plaintiff] provided [defendant] with infringement contentions . . . and served an interrogatory requesting non-infringement contentions from [defendant]. Although non-infringement contentions are not explicitly required by the [parties' stipulated] Rules, [defendant] responded to [plaintiff's] interrogatory and provided them. . . . Having propounded interrogatories beyond those explicitly authorized by the [parties' stipulated] Rules and benefited from [defendant's] willingness to answer them, [plaintiff] may not now hide behind the same rules. Nor is [plaintiff's] argument that providing validity contentions would be unduly burdensome particularly persuasive, in light of the scope of the complaint [plaintiff] chose to file and its decision to refuse [defendant's] offer to stay this action until the pending PTAB proceeding concludes."

Motion to Reconsider - Motion to Dismiss - Improper Venue (FRCP 12(b)(3)) — Denied

Venue
└ Venue Rules for Patent Infringement (TC Heartland)
└ Waiver of Objection to Venue/Consent

The court denied defendant's motion to reconsider an earlier order denying defendant's motion to dismiss for improper venue because TC Heartland did not change the law. "In disavowing the federal court's decision in [VE Holding Corp. v. Johnson Gas Appliance Co., 917 F.2d 1574 (Fed. Cir. 1990)] and in denying the motion to reconsider, disavowing the affirmation of that court in [In re Micron Technology, 875 F.3d 1091 (Fed. Cir. 2017)], I mean no disrespect for that federal circuit court. . . . [TC Heartland v. Kraft Foods Group Brands, 137 S. Ct. 1514 (2017)] reaffirmed and did not overrule [Fourco Glass Co., v. Transmirra Products Corp., 353 U.S. 222 (1957)]. VE Holding and its progeny, though bound by stare decisis, purported to do that. . . . It was in obedience to the principle of stare decisis that the Defendant's venue motion to dismiss was denied as is its motion to reconsider. . . . In denying this motion to reconsider, I reject not only the Defendant's assertion that I was wrong in deciding that TC Heartland did not change the law, I also deny their motion to reconsider that I was wrong in deciding that they forfeited the defense of waiver."

Following remand, the court granted defendant's motion to transfer for improper venue. "Defendant does not dispute that it is chartered in Delaware and, as clearly decided by [TC Heartland LLC v. Kraft Foods Group Brands LLC, 137 S. Ct. 1514 (2017)], Delaware is, therefore, where it resides and is the district in which this action should have been brought pursuant to § 1400(b). . . . [T]he Court was advised that [six months ago], the Plaintiff sued the Defendant in the District of Delaware, alleging the infringement of a related patent. . . .
