First Solar pulls plug on TetraSun, returning focus to CdTe

First Solar will stop making crystalline silicon PV modules based on the TetraSun technology it acquired three years ago and instead reallocate the production capacity to its Series 5 thin-film panels, underscoring the company's revived confidence in its core Cadmium Telluride technology.

Canadian Solar (USA) Inc. v. First Solar, Inc., IPR2025-01432

Karl-Erik Stromsta in New York

Published 5 July 2016, 08:20

In 2013 First Solar acquired TetraSun and its “breakthrough cell architecture” from JX Nippon Oil & Energy, with the aim of breaking into the booming market for rooftop solar.
