Re: Inspire Medical Sys., Inc. v. Nyxoah, Inc., et al.,
C.A. No. 25-667 (RGA)

Dear Judge Andrews:

The parties agree that, once the stay of this action is lifted, a revised Scheduling Order should be entered. The parties disagree on the details of the revised schedule, primarily the trial date. Inspire proposes a schedule that maintains the December 13-17, 2027 trial date. Nyxoah proposes a schedule with trial occurring approximately the week of February 22, 2028. Consistent with the Stipulation and Order previously submitted by the parties and ordered by the Court (see D.I. 61, ¶ 2), the parties have met and conferred concerning proposed adjustments to the Scheduling Order (D.I. 30) and are submitting this letter and the attached proposed schedules for the Court's consideration. Attached as Attachment A are the parties' competing proposals for a revised schedule. For context, the parties' respective positions on the proposed schedules are provided below.

Inspire's Position:

Inspire proposes a schedule that maintains the existing December 13-17, 2027 trial dates. Inspire's goals in substituting counsel were to avoid unnecessarily burdening the Court and to efficiently resolve this litigation (D.I. 65 n.1), including by maintaining the existing trial date if at all possible. There is ample time (almost 22 months) remaining between now and trial to reorganize the schedule without prejudicing either party or unduly limiting the Court's amount of time to decide key motions. For example, Inspire's proposal allows roughly 12 weeks between the filing of the parties' joint Markman brief and Plaintiff's final infringement contentions, during which the Court may hear and decide any claim construction issues. It maintains another roughly three months between completion of summary judgment/Daubert briefing and the filing of the Pretrial Order. Inspire also notes in response to Nyxoah's position below that the extension of the stay beyond January 20, 2026 was done at Nyxoah's initial suggestion. (Ex. 1 at 6 (Jan. 13, 2026

The Honorable Richard G. Andrews

March 2, 2026

Page 2

M. Squire Email to R. Smith.) In addition, Inspire would oppose any forthcoming motion to stay pending resolution of Nyxoah's recently filed IPRs. Under these circumstances, Inspire sees no basis to delay the scheduled resolution of this dispute.

Nyxoah's Position:

At Inspire's request, all deadlines in this case were stayed from November 21, 2025 through January 20, 2026, and as the January 20th deadline approached and Nyxoah raised the possibility of needing to extend the stay by seven to fourteen days following the Court's ruling on Inspire's objections to the disqualification order, Inspired suggested that the stay actually be extended 21 days after the Court rules on Inspire's objections. (Ex. 1 at 5–6 (Jan. 14, 2026 A. Raucci Email to M. Squire.) The case has now been stayed for three months. Although Nyxoah could have extended all deadlines by the full length of the stay, it instead proposed a revised schedule that tightens certain deadlines in an effort to compromise. The proposed schedule allows sufficient time to complete fact discovery, including the possibility of the need for discovery in both the United States and in Europe, consistent with the original schedule; and preserves the existing timeframe for the Court to consider summary judgment and Daubert motions. It also proposes moving the trial date by only two months from the original schedule, reflecting a reasonable adjustment. Additionally, Nyxoah's proposal maintains this case, ahead of the related C.A. No. 25-1147 action, in which Nyxoah is the plaintiff, should sequencing be a consideration. Nyxoah has also proposed continuing the stay until resolution of its IPRs concerning the patents-in-suit and plans to file a motion to stay pending resolution of the IPRs (D.I. 56).

* * *

Once the Court resolves the scheduling dispute, the parties will incorporate the appropriate schedule into a revised Scheduling Order to be submitted for the Court's signature, assuming this procedure meets with the Court's approval.

Respectfully,

/s/ Rodger D. Smith II

Anthony,

The separate stipulation for the 25-1147 case looks fine. You have permission to e-sign for me and proceed with filing.

Please see the separate stipulation for the 25-667 case that was previously circulated earlier today. Please confirm permission for us to e-sign on your behalf and proceed with filing that stipulation.

Thanks,

Anthony,

We agree with the concept of staying the two cases; however, because the cases are not consolidated, our position is that separate stipulations should be filed in each case.

If Inspire agrees, please send us the two separate stipulations for each case for our review.

Hi Rodger and Anthony,

Given that the current stay is set to end on Tuesday, January 20, please advise whether Inspire would be willing to consider linking the lifting of the stay to Judge Andrews' decision or ruling on Inspire's objections to Judge Tennyson's Order on the motion to disqualify counsel. For example, the stay could be set to lift 7 or 14 days (or some other time certain) after Judge Andrews issues a decision. This approach would provide the parties with time to meaningfully review the decision, meet and confer, and consider a thoughtful plan for the litigation going forward.

Please let us know your thoughts on this approach and willingness to submit a joint proposed stipulation. We are available to meet and confer.

Thanks,
