InterDigital EX2003
Amazon v. InterDigital
IPR2026-00193

I, Ryan Pohlman, hereby declare as follows.

1. I am over eighteen years of age, and I have personal knowledge of the facts contained in this declaration.

2. I am Vice President & Associate General Counsel, Licensing at InterDigital, Inc. In this role, I am responsible for providing strategic legal advice and support across all InterDigital licensing programs, including mobile, consumer electronics, and video streaming.

3. InterDigital has licensed U.S. Patent No. 11,936,876 ("the '876 patent") to over 30 different companies. These companies include [redacted], among others.

4. When companies use InterDigital's patented technologies without permission, InterDigital's practice is to engage such companies in good faith negotiations with the goal of finding a mutually beneficial solution. This solution usually takes the form of a global patent license achieved through a mutual exchange of license offers and technical information regarding InterDigital's patents and the companies' product. These negotiations take place under the protection of confidentiality in order to resolve the unauthorized patent use by mutual agreement—and without resort to litigation. Licensing negotiations can take up to several years.

5. Consistent with its commitment to resolve intellectual property matters amicably, InterDigital undertook this approach with respect to Amazon. Despite InterDigital's significant efforts in attempting to find a mutually agreeable solution to resolve Amazon's unauthorized use of its digital video technology, Amazon abruptly initiated litigation in the United Kingdom and later in Sao Paolo, Brazil.

6. I declare and state that all statements made herein of my own knowledge are true and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true, and further that these statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under Section 1001 of Title 18 of the United States Code.

Executed on this 16th day of March 2026, in New York, NY.
