THE APPLICATION IDENTIFIED ABOVE HAS BEEN EXAMINED AND IS ALLOWED FOR ISSUANCE AS A PATENT. PROSECUTION ON THE MERITS IS CLOSED. THIS NOTICE OF ALLOWANCE IS NOT A GRANT OF PATENT RIGHTS. THIS APPLICATION IS SUBJECT TO WITHDRAWAL FROM ISSUE AT THE INITIATIVE OF THE OFFICE OR UPON PETITION BY THE APPLICANT. SEE 37 CFR 1.313 AND MPEP 1308.

THE ISSUE FEE AND PUBLICATION FEE (IF REQUIRED) MUST BE PAID WITHIN THREE MONTHS FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS NOTICE OR THIS APPLICATION SHALL BE REGARDED AS ABANDONED. Determination of Patent Term Adjustment under 35 U.S.C. 154 (b)
(Applications filed on or after May 29, 2000)

The Office has discontinued providing a Patent Term Adjustment (PTA) calculation with the Notice of Allowance.

Section 1(h)(2) of the AIA Technical Corrections Act amended 35 U.S.C. 154(b)(3)(B)(i) to eliminate the requirement that the Office provide a patent term adjustment determination with the notice of allowance. See Revisions to Patent Term Adjustment, 78 Fed. Reg. 19416, 19417 (Apr. 1, 2013). Therefore, the Office is no longer providing an initial patent term adjustment determination with the notice of allowance. The Office will continue to provide a patent term adjustment determination with the Issue Notification Letter that is mailed to applicant approximately three weeks prior to the issue date of the patent, and will include the patent term adjustment on the patent. Any request for reconsideration of the patent term adjustment determination (or reinstatement of patent term adjustment) should follow the process outlined in 37 CFR 1.705.

Any questions regarding the Patent Term Extension or Adjustment determination should be directed to the Office of Patent Legal Administration at (571)-272-7702. Questions relating to issue and publication fee payments should be directed to the Customer Service Center of the Office of Patent Publication at 1-(888)-786-0101 or (571)-272-4200.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. In view of amended claims filed on 05/24/2024, RCE and further search, Claims 2-6 , 8-12 and 14-24 are allowed over prior art.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: It's interpreted, the prior art of record either singularly or in proper combination fails to teach wherein the customized webpage being customized to an interest of the user, wherein the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing, from the third party. tickets to the one or more events of interest; triggering the third party to provide a PIN code to the user in an SMS message comprising a link to the customized webpage and the PIN code.

Prior art teaches relate generally to providing upcoming event notification and mobile purchasing and, more specifically but not exclusively relate to a system and methods for providing notifications of upcoming events to users of an online secondary ticket marketplace and allowing the users to purchase tickets to upcoming events using a mobile device and directed to ecommerce microsites, and, more particularly, to a manageable, embeddable virtual shopping cart with up-sell capabilities.

However, the prior art fails to teach the claimed limitation wherein the customized webpage being customized to an interest of the user, wherein the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing, from the third party. tickets to the one or more events of interest; triggering the third party to provide a PIN code to the user in an SMS message comprising a link to the customized webpage and the PIN code. Therefore, the prior art of record either singularly or in combination fails to teach the above claimed limitations for claim 2, 10 and 16 is therefore the reason for allowance. All dependent claims are therefore allowed under same reasons set forth above.

Instruction Sheet for RCEs

(not to be submitted to the USPTO)

NOTES:

An RCE is not a new application, and filing an RCE will not result in an application being accorded a new filing date.

Filing Qualifications:

The application must be a utility or plant application filed on or after June 8, 1995. The application cannot be a provisional application, a utility or plant application filed before June 8, 1995, a design application, or a patent under reexamination. See 37 CFR 1.114(e).

Filing Requirements:

Prosecution in the application must be closed. Prosecution is closed if the application is under appeal, or the last Office action is a final action, a notice of allowance, or an action that otherwise closes prosecution in the application (e.g., an Office action under Ex parte Quayle). See 37 CFR 1.114(b).

A submission and a fee are required at the time the RCE is filed. If reply to an Office action under 35 U.S.C. 132 is outstanding (e.g., the application is under final rejection), the submission must meet the reply requirements of 37 CFR 1.111. If there is no outstanding Office action, the submission can be an information disclosure statement, an amendment, new arguments, or new evidence. See 37 CFR 1.114(c). The submission may be a previously filed amendment (e.g., an amendment after final rejection).

WARNINGS:

Request for Suspension of Action:

All RCE filing requirements must be met before suspension of action is granted. A request for a suspension of action under 37 CFR 1.103(c) does not satisfy the submission requirement and does not permit the filing of the required submission to be suspended.

Improper RCE will NOT toll Any Time Period:

Before Appeal - If the RCE is improper (e.g., prosecution in the application is not closed or the submission or fee has not been filed) and the application is not under appeal, the time period set forth in the last Office action will continue to run and the application will be abandoned after the statutory time period has expired if a reply to the Office action is not timely filed. No additional time will be given to correct the improper RCE.

Under Appeal - If the RCE is improper (e.g., the submission or the fee has not been filed) and the application is under appeal, the improper RCE is effective to withdraw the appeal. Withdrawal of the appeal results in the allowance or abandonment of the application depending on the status of the claims. If there are no allowed claims, the application is abandoned. If there is at least one allowed claim, the application will be passed to issue on the allowed claim(s). See MPEP 1215.01.

See MPEP 706.07(h) for further information on the RCE practice.

Amendments and remarks made herein are consistent with such suggestions and our discussion.

REMARKS

Claims 2–6, 8–12, and 14–24 are pending, with claims 2, 10, and 16 being independent. Claims 2–5, 8, 10–12, 14–18, and 21 are amended. Claims 1, 7, and 13 are cancelled without prejudice or disclaimer of the subject matter therein. Claims 23–24 are newly added. Support for the amendments and new claims can be found throughout the specification as filed, at least at paragraphs [007], [009], [028], [037], [052], [066]-[068], [082]-[084], and [089]-[090] and the claims as originally filed. No new matter has been added.

Favorable consideration of the claims is requested in view of the amendments and the following remarks.

CLAIM REJECTIONS UNDER 35 U.S.C. § 102

Claims 2-22 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102 as allegedly being anticipated by U.S. Publication No. US20170295414 to Greenstone et al. (hereinafter, "Greenstone"). These rejections are respectfully rendered moot based on the amendments to the claims and the arguments detailed below.

Applicant's amended claim 2 recites at least the features of:

> receiving, information indicating activation of the hosted field in the webpage, wherein the information comprises contact information for the user and an indication of a willingness to receive one or more SMS messages, wherein the indication further comprises an opt-in to enable a user associated with the information to become a subscriber associated with the third party;
> ...responsive to receiving the indication, generating, a customized webpage that includes information about one or more transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user, the customized webpage being customized to an interest of the user, wherein the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing, from the third party, tickets to the one or more events of interest; and
> triggering the third party to provide a PIN code to the user in an SMS message comprising a link to the customized webpage and the PIN code; and]
> causing transmission of the generated SMS message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information, wherein the SMS message comprises a unique e-commerce micro-website link to the customized webpage, the unique e-commerce micro-website link being configured to allow the user to securely access the customized webpage to execute the one or more transactions in response to detecting receipt of the PIN code.

The Greenstone reference does not disclose or suggest at least Applicant's features of "opt-in" and "generating" and "sending [via] SMS message"...a "link" to a "customized webpage...responsive to receiving [an] indication of a willingness to receive one or more SMS messages" where the "customized webpage includes information about one or more transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user" and in which "the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing, from the third party, tickets to the one or more events of interest," using Applicant's "PIN code" features, as recited in amended claim 2 (Emphasis added).

The Greenstone reference at paragraph [0070] recites:

> …the consumer may interact with the user interface of the up-sell offer to either accept or decline the up-sell offer. For example, the consumer may click an "accept," "decline," "yes," "no," "ok," "no thanks" or similarly labeled button or other input to either accept and/or decline the offer. In an embodiment, more than one up-sell offer may be presented on the same webpage or in the same iframe of the user interface. In such an embodiment, the user interface may comprise inputs (e.g., checkboxes, radio buttons, drop-downs, or other input types) with which the consumer may interact to select one and/or a plurality of up-sell offers….

Nowhere does Greenstone disclose or suggest any kind of willingness or opt-in to receive an initial offer nor does Greenstone describe any offer or purchase of tickets. For example, Greenstone, in the above paragraph reproduced from [0070], describes receiving a consumer "click" regarding accepting or declining "offers" which is not the same as Applicant's "indication of a willingness to receive…SMS messages," which further utilizes a "PIN CODE" for security features, as recited in Applicant's amended claim 2 (Emphasis added).

Instead, Greenstone provides a way for the consumer to interact with an "up-sell offer" that is already provided to the consumer without permissions and/or simply responsive to the user accessing a website. Greenstone does not disclose or suggest opt-in language, permissive language, or other message-based transaction about a user providing "an indication of a willingness to receive …SMS messages," as recited in Applicant's amended claim 2.

Further, Greenstone's language about the "consumer" being able to "accept" or "decline…an up-sell offer" does not describe permissive language with respect to receiving SMS messages because in Greenstone, the offers are sent to the user without such permission. Thus, Applicant's features of "receiving…contact information…and…an indication of a willingness to receive…SMS messages…and…responsive to receiving the indication, generating, a customized webpage that includes information about transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user…and…sending an SMS message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information…" are not anticipated by nor made obvious over the Greenstone reference.

With respect to the concept of an "event" as in Applicant's claims and the event of "Easter" in Greenstone, the Office purports at Page 5 of the Action "an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items like shirts, ties, shoes…may be tied to an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items…". However, Greenstone's "upselling…to an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items like shirts, ties, shoes…" is not the same as Applicant's events, which are tied to "tickets." i.e., Applicant's amended claims are directed specifically to ticket purchases for upcoming events of interest to a user. One would not purchase a ticket to the event "Easter" recited in the Greenstone reference.

Applicant respectfully submits that the Greenstone reference does not disclose or suggest each and every one of Applicant's features of amended claim 2. Thus, Greenstone fails to anticipate or render claim 2 obvious, and none of the references of record cure the deficiencies of Greenstone.

None of the references of record, whether taken alone or in combination, disclose or suggest each and every feature of Applicant's pending claims. The above remarks apply similarly to each of the dependent claims due at least to their dependence on independent claim 2. Independent claims 10 and 16, while different in scope than claim 2, recite similar limitations as those of claim 2. Therefore, the above remarks apply similarly to each of the independent claims, as well as their respective dependent claims.

Without addressing the merits of the remaining rejections, which are not conceded, it is requested that the 35 U.S.C. § 102 rejections of record be withdrawn. It is respectfully submitted that none of the references of record, whether taken alone or in combination, disclose or suggest each and every aspect of the features recited in the pending claims.

Reconsideration of the pending claims in view of the remarks provided herein is respectfully requested.

NEW CLAIMS

Claims 23 and 24 are newly added. No new matter has been added. Support for the amendments may be found at least at paragraphs [068] and [089] of the specification, as originally filed. None of the references of record disclose or suggest the features of claims 23 and 24.

CONCLUSION

In light of the remarks set forth above, Applicant respectfully requests favorable consideration and expeditious allowance of the present application. Any modifications to the claims contained herein are included to facilitate expeditious prosecution of this application.

If the Patent Office determines that an additional extension of time and/or other relief is required, Applicant petitions for any required relief, including additional extensions of time, and authorizes the Commissioner to charge the cost of such petitions and/or fees due in connection with the filing of this document to deposit account 600827. If it is determined that a telephone conference would aid in the prosecution of this application, the Examiner is invited to call the undersigned at (952)-215-4131.

Respectfully submitted,

APPLICANT INITIATED INTERVIEW AGENDA for App. No. 18/483,670

Scheduled: Wednesday April 10, 2024 @ 1:30 EST

Participants: Examiner Dean and Kristen Hansen Reg. No. 63,526

Issues to Be Discussed:

I. Discuss a brief overview of the claimed subject matter

II. Discuss amended claim 2 in view of the Greenstone reference

   a. Discuss event language and tickets in view of the amendment and the Greenstone reference

   b. Discuss message types + "responsive to" language

III. Discuss new claims 23, 24

IV. Discuss any additional amendments, as needed

Claim Amendment (for discussion purposes only – DO NOT ENTER INTO THE RECORD):

2. (Currently Amended) A system comprising:
a processor; and
memory configured to store program instructions, wherein, when executed by the processor, the program instructions cause the processor to perform operations comprising:
providing a hosted field for inclusion in a webpage associated with a third party, wherein the hosted field is configured to receive, from a user, an activation input and an indication about receiving one or more Short Message Service (SMS) messages;
receiving, information indicating activation of the hosted field in the webpage, wherein the information comprises contact information for the user and an indication of a willingness to receive one or more SMS messages;
responsive to receiving the indication, generating, a customized webpage that includes information about one or more transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user, the customized webpage being customized to an interest of the user, wherein the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing, from the third party, tickets to the one or more events of interest; and sending an SMS message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information, wherein the SMS message comprises a unique e-commerce micro-website link to the customized webpage, the unique e-commerce micro-website link being configured to allow the user to securely access the customized webpage to execute the one or more transactions.

23. (New) The system of claim 2, wherein the one or more events of interest represent events curated by a third-party application programming interface.

24. (New) The system of claim 2, wherein the customized webpage is curated for the user based on an industry associated with the one or more events or with an event organizer entity associated with the one or more events.

Example Arguments:

The Greenstone reference does not disclose or suggest Applicant's features of "generating" and "sending [via] SMS message"…a "link" to a "customized webpage…responsive to receiving [an] indication" (of a willingness to receive one or more SMS messages) where the "customized webpage includes information about one or more transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user" and in which "the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing, from the third party, tickets to the one or more events of interest," as recited in amended claim 2 (Emphasis added).

By contrast, the Greenstone reference at paragraph [0070]:

"the consumer may interact with the user interface of the up-sell offer to either accept or decline the up-sell offer. For example, the consumer may click an "accept," "decline," "yes," "no," "ok," "no thanks" or similarly labeled button or other input to either accept and/or decline the offer. In an embodiment, more than one up-sell offer may be presented on the same webpage or in the same iframe of the user interface. In such an embodiment, the user interface may comprise inputs (e.g., checkboxes, radio buttons, drop-downs, or other input types) with which the consumer may interact to select one and/or a plurality of up-sell offers. "

However, nowhere does Greenstone disclose or suggest any kind of approval or opt-in to receive an initial offer and Greenstone is providing a consumer "click" regarding accepting or declining "offers" which is not the same as Applicant's "indication of a willingness to receive [] SMS messages," as recited in Applicant's amended claim 2. Instead Greenstone provides a way for the consumer to interact with an "up-sell offer" that is already provided to the consumer without permissions and/or simply responsive to the user accessing a microsite. Greenstone does not disclose or suggest opt-in language, permissive language, or other message-based transaction about a user providing "an indication of a willingness to receive …SMS messages," as recited in Applicant's amended claim 2. Greenstone's language about the "consumer" being able to "accept" or "decline…an up-sell offer" does not describe permissive language with respect to receiving messages because in Greenstone, the offers are sent to the user without such permission. Thus, Applicant's features of "receiving…contact information…and…an indication of a willingness to receive…SMS messages…and…responsive to receiving the indication, generating, a customized webpage that includes information about transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user…and…sending an SMS message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information…" are not anticipated by nor made obvious over the Greenstone reference.

With respect to the concept of an "event" as in Applicant's claims and the event of "Easter" in Greenstone, the Office purports at Page 5 of the Action "an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items like shirts, ties, shoes…may be tied to an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items…". However, Greenstone's "upselling…to an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items like shirts, ties, shoes…" is not the same as Applicant's events, which are tied to "tickets." i.e., Applicant's amended claims are directed specifically to ticket purchases for upcoming events of interest to a user. One would not purchase a ticket to the event Easter.

APPLICANT HEREBY CERTIFIES THE FOLLOWING AND REQUESTS CONSIDERATION UNDER THE AFTER FINAL CONSIDERATION PILOT PROGRAM 2.0 (AFCP 2.0) OF THE ACCOMPANYING RESPONSE UNDER 37 CFR 1.116.

1. The above-identified application is (i) an original utility, plant, or design nonprovisional application filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) [a continuing application (e.g., a continuation or divisional application) is filed under 35 U.S.C. 111(a) and is eligible under (i)], or (ii) an international application that has entered the national stage in compliance with 35 U.S.C. 371(c).
2. The above-identified application contains an outstanding final rejection.
3. Submitted herewith is a response under 37 CFR 1.116 to the outstanding final rejection. The response includes an amendment to at least one independent claim, and the amendment does not broaden the scope of the independent claim in any aspect.
4. This certification and request for consideration under AFCP 2.0 is the only AFCP 2.0 certification and request filed in response to the outstanding final rejection.
5. Applicant is willing and available to participate in any interview requested by the examiner concerning the present response.
6. This certification and request is being filed electronically using the USPTO's patent electronic filing system.
7. Any fees that would be necessary consistent with current practice concerning responses after final rejection under 37 CFR 1.116, e.g., extension of time fees, are being concurrently filed herewith. [There is no additional fee required to request consideration under AFCP 2.0.]
8. By filing this certification and request, applicant acknowledges the following:

- Reissue applications and reexamination proceedings are not eligible to participate in AFCP 2.0.
- The examiner will verify that the AFCP 2.0 submission is compliant, i.e., that the requirements of the program have been met (see items 1 to 7 above). For compliant submissions:
  - The examiner will review the response under 37 CFR 1.116 to determine if additional search and/or consideration (i) is necessitated by the amendment and (ii) could be completed within the time allotted under AFCP 2.0. If additional search and/or consideration is required but cannot be completed within the allotted time, the examiner will process the submission consistent with current practice concerning responses after final rejection under 37 CFR 1.116, e.g., by mailing an advisory action.
  - If the examiner determines that the amendment does not necessitate additional search and/or consideration, or if the examiner determines that additional search and/or consideration is required and could be completed within the allotted time, then the examiner will consider whether the amendment places the application in condition for allowance (after completing the additional search and/or consideration, if required). If the examiner determines that the amendment does not place the application in condition for allowance, then the examiner will contact the applicant and request an interview.
    - The interview will be conducted by the examiner, and if the examiner does not have negotiation authority, a primary examiner and/or supervisory patent examiner will also participate.
    - If the applicant declines the interview, or if the interview cannot be scheduled within ten (10) calendar days from the date that the examiner first contacts the applicant, then the examiner will proceed consistent with current practice concerning responses after final rejection under 37 CFR 1.116.

SUMMARY OF APPLICANT INITIATED INTERVIEW

On April 10, 2024, a telephone interview was conducted between Examiner Dean and Applicant's representative, Kristen J. Hansen (Reg. No. 63,526). Independent claim 2 and possible amendments were discussed in view of the section 102 rejection and the prior art of record. Applicant's representative described the Applicant's technology as compared to that of the prior art references and described some thoughts with respect to amendments. Examiner Dean indicated that the amendment likely overcomes the art of record, but further search and consideration would be needed. Applicant's representative agreed to file an AFCP 2.0 request. Amendments and remarks made herein are consistent with such suggestions and our discussion.

REMARKS

Claims 2–6, 8–12, and 14–24 are pending, with claims 2, 10, and 16 being independent. Claims 2–5, 8, 10–12, 14–18, and 21 are amended. Claims 1, 7, and 13 are cancelled without prejudice or disclaimer of the subject matter therein. Claims 23–24 are newly added. Support for the amendments and new claims can be found throughout the specification as filed, at least at paragraphs [007], [009], [028], [037], [052], [066]-[068], [082]-[084], and [089]-[090] and the claims as originally filed. No new matter has been added.

Favorable consideration of the claims is requested in view of the amendments and the following remarks.

CLAIM REJECTIONS UNDER 35 U.S.C. § 102

Claims 2-22 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102 as allegedly being anticipated by U.S. Publication No. US20170295414 to Greenstone et al. (hereinafter, "Greenstone"). These rejections are respectfully rendered moot based on the amendments to the claims and the arguments detailed below.

Applicant's amended claim 2 recites at least the features of:

> …responsive to receiving the indication, generating, a customized webpage that includes information about one or more transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user, the customized webpage being customized to an interest of the user, wherein the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing, from the third party, tickets to the one or more events of interest; and
> sending an SMS message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information…

The Greenstone reference does not disclose or suggest at least Applicant's features of "generating" and "sending [via] SMS message"…a "link" to a "customized webpage…responsive to receiving [an] indication of a willingness to receive one or more SMS messages" where the "customized webpage includes information about one or more transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user" and in which "the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing, from the third party, tickets to the one or more events of interest," as recited in amended claim 2 (Emphasis added).

The Greenstone reference at paragraph [0070] recites:

> …the consumer may interact with the user interface of the up-sell offer to either accept or decline the up-sell offer. For example, the consumer may click an "accept," "decline," "yes," "no," "ok," "no thanks" or

> similarly labeled button or other input to either accept and/or decline the offer. In an embodiment, more than one up-sell offer may be presented on the same webpage or in the same iframe of the user interface. In such an embodiment, the user interface may comprise inputs (e.g., checkboxes, radio buttons, drop-downs, or other input types) with which the consumer may interact to select one and/or a plurality of up-sell offers….

Nowhere does Greenstone disclose or suggest any kind of willingness or opt-in to receive an initial offer nor does Greenstone describe any offer or purchase of tickets. For example, Greenstone, in the above paragraph reproduced from [0070], describes receiving a consumer "click" regarding accepting or declining "offers" which is not the same as Applicant's "indication of a willingness to receive…SMS messages," as recited in Applicant's amended claim 2 (Emphasis added).

Instead, Greenstone provides a way for the consumer to interact with an "up-sell offer" that is already provided to the consumer without permissions and/or simply responsive to the user accessing a website. Greenstone does not disclose or suggest opt-in language, permissive language, or other message-based transaction about a user providing "an indication of a willingness to receive …SMS messages," as recited in Applicant's amended claim 2.

Further, Greenstone's language about the "consumer" being able to "accept" or "decline…an up-sell offer" does not describe permissive language with respect to receiving SMS messages because in Greenstone, the offers are sent to the user without such permission. Thus, Applicant's features of "receiving…contact information…and…an indication of a willingness to receive…SMS messages…and…responsive to receiving the indication, generating, a customized webpage that includes information about transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user…and…sending an SMS message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information…" are not anticipated by nor made obvious over the Greenstone reference.

With respect to the concept of an "event" as in Applicant's claims and the event of "Easter" in Greenstone, the Office purports at Page 5 of the Action "an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items like shirts, ties, shoes…may be tied to an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items…". However, Greenstone's "upselling…to an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items like shirts, ties, shoes…" is not the same as Applicant's events, which are tied to "tickets." i.e., Applicant's amended claims are directed specifically to ticket purchases for upcoming events of interest to a user. One would not purchase a ticket to the event "Easter" recited in the Greenstone reference.

Applicant respectfully submits that the Greenstone reference does not disclose or suggest each and every one of Applicant's features of amended claim 2. Thus, Greenstone fails to anticipate or render claim 2 obvious, and none of the references of record cure the deficiencies of Greenstone.

None of the references of record, whether taken alone or in combination, disclose or suggest each and every feature of Applicant's pending claims. The above remarks apply similarly to each of the dependent claims due at least to their dependence on independent claim 2. Independent claims 10 and 16, while different in scope than claim 2, recite similar limitations as those of claim 2. Therefore, the above remarks apply similarly to each of the independent claims, as well as their respective dependent claims.

Without addressing the merits of the remaining rejections, which are not conceded, it is requested that the 35 U.S.C. § 102 rejections of record be withdrawn. It is respectfully submitted that none of the references of record, whether taken alone or in combination, disclose or suggest each and every aspect of the features recited in the pending claims.

Reconsideration of the pending claims in view of the remarks provided herein is respectfully requested.

NEW CLAIMS

Claims 23 and 24 are newly added. No new matter has been added. Support for the amendments may be found at least at paragraphs [068] and [089] of the specification, as originally filed. None of the references of record disclose or suggest the features of claims 23 and 24.

CONCLUSION

In light of the remarks set forth above, Applicant respectfully requests favorable consideration and expeditious allowance of the present application. Any modifications to the claims contained herein are included to facilitate expeditious prosecution of this application.

If the Patent Office determines that an additional extension of time and/or other relief is required, Applicant petitions for any required relief, including additional extensions of time, and authorizes the Commissioner to charge the cost of such petitions and/or fees due in connection with the filing of this document to deposit account 600827. REMARKS

Claims 2–6, 8–12, and 14–24 are pending, with claims 2, 10, and 16 being independent. Claims 2–5, 8, 10–12, 14–18, and 21 are amended. Claims 1, 7, and 13 are cancelled without prejudice or disclaimer of the subject matter therein. Claims 23–24 are newly added. Support for the amendments and new claims can be found throughout the specification as filed, at least at paragraphs [007], [009], [028], [037], [052], [066]-[068], [082]-[084], and [089]-[090] and the claims as originally filed. No new matter has been added.

Favorable consideration of the claims is requested in view of the amendments and the following remarks.

CLAIM REJECTIONS UNDER 35 U.S.C. § 102

Claims 2-22 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102 as allegedly being anticipated by U.S. Publication No. US20170295414 to Greenstone et al. (hereinafter, "Greenstone"). These rejections are respectfully rendered moot based on the amendments to the claims and the arguments detailed below.

Applicant's amended claim 2 recites at least the features of:

> …responsive to receiving the indication, generating, a customized webpage that includes information about one or more transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user, the customized webpage being customized to an interest of the user, wherein the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing, from the third party, tickets to the one or more events of interest; and
> sending an SMS message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information…

The Greenstone reference does not disclose or suggest at least Applicant's features of "generating" and "sending [via] SMS message"…a "link" to a "customized webpage…responsive to receiving [an] indication of a willingness to receive one or more SMS messages" where the "customized webpage includes information about one or more transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user" and in which "the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing, from the third party, tickets to the one or more events of interest," as recited in amended claim 2 (Emphasis added).

The Greenstone reference at paragraph [0070] recites:

> …the consumer may interact with the user interface of the up-sell offer to either accept or decline the up-sell offer. For example, the consumer may click an "accept," "decline," "yes," "no," "ok," "no thanks" or

> similarly labeled button or other input to either accept and/or decline the offer. In an embodiment, more than one up-sell offer may be presented on the same webpage or in the same iframe of the user interface. In such an embodiment, the user interface may comprise inputs (e.g., checkboxes, radio buttons, drop-downs, or other input types) with which the consumer may interact to select one and/or a plurality of up-sell offers….

Nowhere does Greenstone disclose or suggest any kind of willingness or opt-in to receive an initial offer nor does Greenstone describe any offer or purchase of tickets. For example, Greenstone, in the above paragraph reproduced from [0070], describes receiving a consumer "click" regarding accepting or declining "offers" which is not the same as Applicant's "indication of a willingness to receive…SMS messages," as recited in Applicant's amended claim 2 (Emphasis added).

Instead, Greenstone provides a way for the consumer to interact with an "up-sell offer" that is already provided to the consumer without permissions and/or simply responsive to the user accessing a website. Greenstone does not disclose or suggest opt-in language, permissive language, or other message-based transaction about a user providing "an indication of a willingness to receive …SMS messages," as recited in Applicant's amended claim 2.

Further, Greenstone's language about the "consumer" being able to "accept" or "decline…an up-sell offer" does not describe permissive language with respect to receiving SMS messages because in Greenstone, the offers are sent to the user without such permission. Thus, Applicant's features of "receiving…contact information…and…an indication of a willingness to receive…SMS messages…and…responsive to receiving the indication, generating, a customized webpage that includes information about transactions associated with one or more events of interest for the user…and…sending an SMS message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information…" are not anticipated by nor made obvious over the Greenstone reference.

With respect to the concept of an "event" as in Applicant's claims and the event of "Easter" in Greenstone, the Office purports at Page 5 of the Action "an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items like shirts, ties, shoes…may be tied to an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items…". However, Greenstone's "upselling…to an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items like shirts, ties, shoes…" is not the same as Applicant's events, which are tied to "tickets." i.e., Applicant's amended claims are directed specifically to ticket purchases for upcoming events of interest to a user. One would not purchase a ticket to the event "Easter" recited in the Greenstone reference.

Applicant respectfully submits that the Greenstone reference does not disclose or suggest each and every one of Applicant's features of amended claim 2. Thus, Greenstone fails to anticipate or render claim 2 obvious, and none of the references of record cure the deficiencies of Greenstone.

None of the references of record, whether taken alone or in combination, disclose or suggest each and every feature of Applicant's pending claims. The above remarks apply similarly to each of the dependent claims due at least to their dependence on independent claim 2. Independent claims 10 and 16, while different in scope than claim 2, recite similar limitations as those of claim 2. Therefore, the above remarks apply similarly to each of the independent claims, as well as their respective dependent claims.

Without addressing the merits of the remaining rejections, which are not conceded, it is requested that the 35 U.S.C. § 102 rejections of record be withdrawn. It is respectfully submitted that none of the references of record, whether taken alone or in combination, disclose or suggest each and every aspect of the features recited in the pending claims.

Reconsideration of the pending claims in view of the remarks provided herein is respectfully requested.

NEW CLAIMS

Claims 23 and 24 are newly added. No new matter has been added. Support for the amendments may be found at least at paragraphs [068] and [089] of the specification, as originally filed. None of the references of record disclose or suggest the features of claims 23 and 24.

Copied from 18483670 on 05/28/2024

CONCLUSION

In light of the remarks set forth above, Applicant respectfully requests favorable consideration and expeditious allowance of the present application. Any modifications to the claims contained herein are included to facilitate expeditious prosecution of this application.

If the Patent Office determines that an additional extension of time and/or other relief is required, Applicant petitions for any required relief, including additional extensions of time, and authorizes the Commissioner to charge the cost of such petitions and/or fees due in connection with the filing of this document to deposit account 600827. If it is determined that a telephone conference would aid in the prosecution of this application, the Examiner is invited to call the undersigned at (952)-215-4131.

APPLICANT INITIATED INTERVIEW AGENDA for App. No. 18/483,670

Scheduled: Wednesday January 24, 2024 @ 1:30 EST

Participants: Examiner Dean and Kristen Hansen Reg. No. 63,526

Issues to Be Discussed:

I. Discuss a brief overview of the claimed subject matter

II. Discuss amended claim 2 in view of the Murray reference

   a. Discuss configured to language of new proposed amendment

   b. Discuss customized webpage element

III. Discuss additional amendment of "wherein the customized webpage is configured to be updated based on: user habits, user history, user preferences, or information from third-party APIs"

IV. Discuss any additional amendments, as needed

Claim Amendment (for discussion purposes only – DO NOT ENTER INTO THE RECORD):

2. (Currently Amended) A system comprising:

a processor; and

memory configured to store program instructions, wherein, when executed by the processor, the program instructions cause the processor to perform operations comprising:

providing a hosted field for inclusion in a webpage associated with a third party, wherein the hosted field is configured to receive, from a user, an activation input and an indication about receiving one or more messages;

receiving, information indicating activation of the hosted field in the webpage, wherein the information comprises contact information for the user and an indication of a willingness to receive one or more messages;

generating, a customized webpage that includes information about one or more transactions of interest for [[a]] the user ~~associated with the contact information~~, the customized webpage being customized to an interest of the user; and sending a message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information, wherein the message comprises a unique e-commerce micro-website link to the customized webpage, the unique e-commerce micro-website link being configured to allow the user to securely access the customized webpage to execute the one or more transactions.

Argument 1: Specific User Interaction with Hosted Field:

The Murray reference does not disclose or suggest Applicant's claimed feature of "providing a hosted field for inclusion in a document associated with a third party, wherein the hosted field is configured to receive, from a user, an activation input and an indication about receiving one or more messages" where the activation signifies the user's consent to engage in communications (e.g., "information indicating activation of the hosted field…comprises…an indication of a willingness to receive one or more messages," as recited in amended claim 2. By contrast, Murray discloses a system that allows users to interact with hypermedia link icons embedded in multimedia content, but it does not disclose Applicant's concept of a "hosted field" that is specifically for "receiving information to activate the hosted field" as a means of signifying consent to communications (i.e., consent to "receive one or more messages" to engage in transactions. The Demir reference does not remedy the deficiencies of the Murray reference.

Argument 2: Unique Generation of Secure Access Link: The Murray reference does not disclose or suggest Applicant's claim 2 feature of "sending a message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information, wherein the message" includes a "link to the customized webpage" where the link is "unique[ly]" generated to provide "secure[] access" by the "user." In particular, Murray does not disclose the unique generation of a link for secure access to a customized webpage based on the user's activation of, and input in the hosted field. Applicant's amended claims provide a system having enhanced security and personalization by generating a unique link for each user interaction, which is not taught or rendered obvious by the Murray reference.

By contrast, Murray is directed to activating a proprietary digital media player to view an interactive media file in which links can be activated that are embedded within icons or hotspots in the media file. Murray's access of a media file is not the same as Applicant's "hosted field" used to both a) input "contact information" and "an indication of a willingness to receive…messages" and b) trigger "generat[ion] of a customized webpage" that includes "one or more transactions of interest for a user" and in which the user may use to "execute the one or more transactions," as recited in amended claim 2. For example, paragraph [0173] of Murray recites, (emphasis added):

> An end- user device 1509 may be any computing device comprising a web browser capable of accessing a provider server 1511 A to 1511 N hosting a web-based application, computing service, or any other form of website having a remote call (e.g., embed code, hyperlink URL) to an interactive media file and media player of a media content service 1501 . In some cases, the end-user device 1509 may access a particular webpage hosted by a provider server 1511 A to 1511 N, and then, while accessing the page, activate a hyperlink, or enter some other input into a user interface, instructing the provider server 1151 A to 1511 N to request the interactive media file and media player from the development server 1503. In such cases, the development server 1503 may transmit the media player and the interactive media file identified by an embed code or hyperlink transmitted to the development server 1503 from the provider server 1511 A to 1511 N, when the end-user activated the remote call. The end- user device 1509 may then interact with interactive media file, as though it is a self-contained software application, without leaving the current webpage. In other words, the end- user device 1509 may view and interact with the media player and the interactive media file hosted on the website of a first provider server 1511 A, while the underlying media code of the interactive media file allows the end-user device 1509 to communicate directly with various computing services and interfaces of a second provider server 1511 B, as received through the media play and the interactive media file.

Nowhere does Murray disclose or suggest Applicant's "hosted field," for use of a) and b) above, as claimed. The Demir reference does not remedy the deficiencies of the Murray reference.

2. Applicant cancel claim 1 prior to first office action.

3. Applicant amended claims 2, 3, 7, 10, 11, 16, 17.

4. Applicant added new claim, claim 22.

5. Status of claims:

Claim 2-22 are pending in this office action.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim(s) 2-22 have been considered but are moot because the new ground of rejection does not rely on any reference applied in the prior rejection of record for any teaching or matter specifically challenged in the argument.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. In the event the determination of the status of the application as subject to AIA 35 U.S.C. 102 and 103 (or as subject to pre-AIA 35 U.S.C. 102 and 103) is incorrect, any correction of the statutory basis (i.e., changing from AIA to pre-AIA) for the rejection will not be considered a new ground of rejection if the prior art relied upon, and the rationale supporting the rejection, would be the same under either status.

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (a)(1) the claimed invention was patented, described in a printed publication, or in public use, on sale, or otherwise available to the public before the effective filing date of the claimed invention.

9. Claim(s) 2-22 is/are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a1) as being anticipated by Greenstone (US20130080319).

Per claim 2, Greenstone discloses a system comprising: a processor; and memory configured to store program instructions, wherein, when executed by the processor, the program instructions cause the processor to perform operations comprising (paragraph 0120, processor, memory, storage of instructions executed by processors) : providing a hosted field for inclusion in a webpage associated with a third party (paragraph 0009, i.e. a consumer must click and follow the purchase button or link before beginning the transaction process. This will retrieve a second webpage, which may be externally hosted by a third-party), wherein the hosted field is configured to receive, from a user, an activation input and an indication about receiving one or more messages (paragraph 0070, more than one up-sell offer may be presented on the same webpage or in the same iframe of the user interface. In such an embodiment, the user interface may comprise inputs [e.g., checkboxes, radio buttons, drop-downs, or other input types]with which the consumer may interact to select one and/or a plurality of up-sell offers, examiner interprets deciding on accepting upsell information as willingness to receive one or more messages) ;receiving, information indicating activation of the hosted field in the webpage (paragraph 0070, as described above), wherein the information comprises contact information for the user (paragraph 0066, i.e. the client-validated and server-validated, where any type of data may be validated. For instance, in an embodiment, credit card data (e.g., credit card number), address information [e.g., billing and/or mailing address], an email address, payment authorization, and/or the like may be validated) and an indication of a willingness to receive one or more messages(paragraph 0070, as described above); generating, a customized webpage that includes information about one or more transactions of interest for the user associated with the contact information(paragraph 0042, Fig 11, i.e. When a potential consumer's device requests the URL, a server [e.g., server(s) 150A] retrieves or generates the HTML document 1110. The HTML document 1110 is then returned to the potential consumer's device and parsed by a browser application on the device. When the browser application encounters the iframe snippet, it will request the HTML document or "widget," representing a virtual shopping cart) , the customized webpage being customized to an interest of the user (paragraph 0032, i.e. the virtual shopping cart can be created, edited, and otherwise managed through a user-friendly interface, such as a wizard comprising one or more sequential and/or interrelated web pages [e.g., the content of one webpage may depend on the user's interaction(s) with a prior web page in the sequence]); and sending a message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information (paragraph 0105, i.e. the system may then send out an email to the consumer associated with the detected cart to remind the consumer about the cart and/or encourage the consumer to complete the transaction [e.g., with an up-sell])., wherein the message comprises a unique e-commerce micro-website link to the customized webpage, the unique e-commerce micro-website link being configured to allow the user to securely access the customized webpage to execute the one or more transactions (paragraph 0009, i.e. a microsite landing page will comprise the marketer's product offering or "creative" comprising one or more media elements related to the product [e.g., images, videos, sound, embedded Flash.TM. objects, etc.] and a button or link for purchasing the product. A consumer must click and follow the purchase button or link before beginning the transaction process. This will retrieve a second webpage, which may be externally hosted by a third-party billing application or other centralized application, and which allows the consumer to enter payment information and consummate the transaction).

Per claim 3, Greenstone discloses the system of claim 2, wherein the message comprises a Short Message Service (SMS) or a Multimedia Message Service (MMS) message including the unique e-commerce micro-website link to purchase tickets or view the customized webpage(paragraph 0027 and 0114, i.e. These user interfaces or web pages may comprise a combination of content and elements, such as text, images, videos, animations, references [e.g., hyperlinks], frames, inputs [e.g., textboxes, text areas, checkboxes, radio buttons, drop-down menus, buttons, forms, etc.], scripts [e.g., JavaScript], and the like and paragraph 0114, i.e. A pop-up message may comprise images, inputs, and other elements besides just text , examiner interprets purchasing tickets relates to purchasing any product).

Per claim 4, Greenstone discloses the system of claim 2, wherein: the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing tickets from the third party (paragraph 0100, i.e. the server(s) 110 and/or 150 may receive or access a data source of products, maintained by the third party[third -party ecommerce websites], and generate a co-branded microsite for each of the products, or a subset of products, in the data source. The server(s) 110 may collect transaction information from consumers' interactions with the microsites, and transmit such information to the third-party or other party for fulfillment); and the unique e-commerce micro-website link comprises options to navigate through the e- commerce transactions to select at least one ticket for purchase from the third party (paragraph 0095, i.e. a wizard-driven interface may guide the user through a sequence of user interfaces which allow and/or require the user to enter data. For example, the wizard may allow the user to specify a product, a set of products, or a data source comprising products to be used as the subject(s) for one or more microsites and the wizard may also incorporate or link to the wizard for generating a virtual shopping cart widget).

Per claim 5, refer the same rationale as explained in claim 4(see Greenstone, paragraph 0100).

Per claim 6, Greenstone discloses the system of claim 2, wherein the operations further comprise: in response to receiving the information, subscribing the contact information to the third party and flagging the contact information for future action involving one or more purchase opportunities (paragraph 0105, i.e. the system may provide a notification to a consumer and/or administrator/operator when a virtual shopping cart is abandoned. For example, the system may detect carts [e.g., using a monitoring thread], comprising one or more items, which have remained for a predetermined amount of time without becoming a completed transaction. The system may then send out an email to the consumer associated with the detected cart to remind the consumer about the cart and/or encourage the consumer to complete the transaction [e.g., with an up-sell] .

Per claim 7, Greenstone discloses the system of claim 2, wherein the one or more transactions of interest (paragraph 0005 and 0006, i.e. each consumer response and purchase can be measured and attributed to an individual advertisement [e.g., television advertising, radio advertising, print advertising, mail, telemarketing, catalogs, the Internet, etc.] and microsites with a post-transaction sales up-sell funnel have the ability, directly after an initial transaction is consummated, to present consumers with related items in a sequential, intelligent manner that encourages consumers to add items to their purchases in greater quantities than traditional shopping carts) comprise upcoming events determined to be of interest to the user (paragraph 0098, i.e. If the consumer proceeds with the purchase of the suit, subsequent user interface(s) may sequentially present the consumer with shirts, belts, ties, shoes, and/or socks, examiner interprets that upselling maybe tied to an event such as easter via advertisement to purchase additional items like shirts, belts, ties, shoes, and/or socks).

Per claim 8, Greenstone discloses the system of claim 2, wherein the hosted field is a user interface element configured to enable the user to select to indicate the willingness to receive the one or more messages (paragraph 0027 and 0070, i.e. user interface element, refer to claim 2 rationale) .

Per claim 9, Greenstone discloses the system of claim 2, wherein the contact information includes a telephone number corresponding to an address for receiving data messages (paragraph 0027 and 0044, Fig 11, i.e. examiner interprets if the consumer receive messages regarding an upsell, where the transaction process of was incomplete, where more information is required may be directed microsite landing page [Fig 11], with inputting your name and address, as well other user interface elements, such as links[cellular phone link] hyperlink or radio button access and etc.).

Per claim10, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 2 and 7 (see Greenstone paragraph 0122, non-transitory computer-readable medium).

Per claim 11, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 3(see Greenstone paragraph 0122, non-transitory computer-readable medium).

Per claim 12, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 5(see Greenstone paragraph 0122, non-transitory computer-readable medium).

Per claim13, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 7(see Greenstone paragraph 0122, non-transitory computer-readable medium).

Per claim14, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 8(see Greenstone paragraph 0122, non-transitory computer-readable medium).

Per claim 15, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 4(see Greenstone paragraph 0122, non-transitory computer-readable medium).

Per claim 16, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 2(see Greenstone paragraph 0140, processor and memory).

Per claim 17, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 3(see Greenstone paragraph 0140, processor and memory).

Per claim18, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 5(see Greenstone paragraph 0140, processor and memory).

Per claim19, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 7(see Greenstone paragraph 0140, processor and memory).

Per claim 20, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 8(see Greenstone paragraph 0140, processor and memory).

Per claim 21, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 4(see Greenstone paragraph 0140, processor and memory).

Per claim 22, Greenstone discloses the system of claim 2, wherein the customized webpage is configured to be updated based on user history (paragraph 0098, i.e. .a consumer may land on a microsite for a suit. If the consumer proceeds with the purchase of the suit, subsequent user interface(s) may sequentially present the consumer with shirts, belts, ties, shoes, and/or socks, where examiner interprets if the upsell is successful, the customized webpage of the user will be updated based subsequent user interfaces).

Conclusion

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

SUMMARY OF APPLICANT INITIATED INTERVIEW

On January 24, 2024, a telephone interview was conducted between Examiner Dean and Applicant's representative, Kristen J. Hansen (Reg. No. 63,526). Independent claim 2 and possible amendments were discussed in view of the section 102 rejection and the prior art of record. Applicant's representative described the Applicant's technology as compared to that of the prior art references and described some thoughts with respect to amendments. While no agreement was reached, Applicant's representative sincerely thanks the Examiner for his thoughts, suggestions, and discussion during the interview. Amendments and remarks made herein are consistent with such suggestions and our discussion.

REMARKS

Claims 2–22 are pending, with claims 2, 10, and 16 being independent. Claims 2, 3, 7, 10, 11, 16, and 17 are amended. Claim 1 is cancelled. Claim 22 is newly added. Support for the amendments and new claims can be found throughout the specification as filed, at least at paragraphs [013], [048], [054], [057], [065], [068], [070], [071], [081], and FIG. 3, and FIG. 4. No new matter has been added. Favorable consideration of the claims is requested in view of the amendments and the following remarks.

CLAIM REJECTIONS UNDER 35 U.S.C. § 102/103

Claims 2-8 and 10-21 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102 as allegedly being anticipated by U.S. Publication No. US20170295414 to Murray et al. (hereinafter, "Murray"). Claim 9 stands rejected as allegedly being obvious over Murray in view of U.S. Publication NO. US20180103004 to Demir et al. (hereinafter, "Demir"). These rejections are respectfully rendered moot based on the amendments to the claims and the arguments detailed below.

Applicant's amended claim 2 recites at least the features of:

> "providing a hosted field for inclusion in a webpage associated with a third party, wherein the hosted field is configured to receive, from a user, an activation input and an indication about receiving one or more messages;

At the outset, Applicant's hosted field is configured to receive an input, such as continuous subscriber capture (CSC) input 406 of FIG. 4, which may be provided in a webpage associated with a client" that includes a "telephone number." The CSC input may be into a hosted field which may also include "a box that indicates 'yes' they would like to receive text messages" may be selected for system checking, as described in Applicant's paragraphs [070]-[071].

In addition, Applicant notes that the Murray reference and the Demir reference describe software with different functions suited for completely different uses than Applicant's claimed software. In particular, Applicant's claimed subject matter provides software for a way to securely execute transactions pertaining to events of interest to a user by using a hosted field injected into a third party webpage where a field and link for executing purchases is also able to function as an opt-in mechanism. By contrast, the Murray reference describes provision of multimedia content that facilitates user engagement and transactions directly through the viewing of multimedia content in shareable multimedia content elements. The Demir reference does not remedy the deficiencies of Murray as Demir describes a process of reengaging website visitors via a social networking system using electronic messages to trigger return to an abandoned shopping cart.

For example, Applicant respectfully submits that the Murray reference does not indicate a specific user interaction with a hosted field. For example, the Murray reference does not disclose or suggest Applicant's claimed feature of "providing a hosted field for inclusion in a document associated with a third party, wherein the hosted field is configured to receive, from a user, an activation input and an indication about receiving one or more messages" where the activation signifies the user's consent to engage in communications (e.g., "information indicating activation of the hosted field…comprises…an indication of a willingness to receive one or more messages," as recited in amended claim 2. Instead, Murray discloses a system that allows users to interact with hypermedia link icons embedded in multimedia content, but Murray does not disclose or suggest Applicant's concept of a "hosted field" that is specifically for "receiving information to activate the hosted field" as a means of signifying consent to communications (i.e., consent to "receive one or more messages" to engage in transactions. The Demir reference does not remedy the deficiencies of the Murray reference.

In addition, the Murray reference does not disclose or suggest Applicant's claimed feature of a unique generation of a secure access link. For example, the Murray reference does not disclose or suggest "sending a message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information, wherein the message" includes a "link to the customized webpage" where the link is "unique[ly]" generated to provide "secure[] access" by the "user," as recited in Applicant's amended claim 2. In particular, Murray does not disclose the unique generation of a link for secure access to a customized webpage based on the user's activation of, and input in the hosted field. Applicant's amended claims provide a system having enhanced security and personalization by generating a unique link for each user interaction, which is not taught or rendered obvious by the Murray reference.

Instead, the Murray reference is directed to activating a proprietary digital media player to view an interactive media file in which links can be activated that are embedded within icons or hotspots in the media file. Murray's access of a media file is not the same as Applicant's "hosted field" used to both a) input "contact information" and "an indication of a willingness to receive…messages" and b) trigger "generat[ion] of a customized webpage" that includes "one or more transactions of interest for a user" and in which the user may use to "execute the one or more transactions," as recited in amended claim 2. For example, paragraph [0173] of Murray recites, (emphasis added):

> An end- user device 1509 may be any computing device comprising a web browser capable of accessing a provider server 1511 A to 1511 N hosting a web-based application, computing service, or any other form of website having a remote call (e.g., embed code, hyperlink URL) to an interactive media file and media player of a media content service 1501 . In some cases, the end-user device 1509 may access a particular webpage hosted by a provider server 1511 A to 1511 N, and then, while accessing the page, activate a hyperlink, or enter some other input into a user interface, instructing the provider server 1151 A to 1511 N to request the interactive media file and media player from the development server 1503. In such cases, the development server 1503 may transmit the media player and the interactive media file identified by an embed code or hyperlink transmitted to the development server 1503 from the provider server 1511 A to 1511 N, when the end-user activated the remote call. The end-user device 1509 may then interact with interactive media file, as though it is a self-contained software application, without leaving the current webpage. In other words, the end- user device 1509 may view and interact with the media player and the interactive media file hosted on the website of a first provider server 1511 A, while the underlying media code of the interactive media file allows the end- user device 1509 to communicate directly with various computing services and interfaces of a second provider server 1511 B, as received through the media play and the interactive media file.

Thus, nowhere does Murray disclose or suggest Applicant's "hosted field," for use of a) and b) above, as claimed. The Demir reference does not remedy the deficiencies of the Murray reference.

Applicant respectfully submits that the Murray reference does not disclose or suggest each and every one of Applicant's features of amended claim 2. Thus, Murray fails to anticipate or render claim 2 obvious, and none of the references of record cure the deficiencies of Murray.

None of the references of record, whether taken alone or in combination, disclose or suggest each and every feature of Applicant's pending claims. The above remarks apply similarly to each of the dependent claims due at least to their dependence on independent claim 2. Independent claims 10 and 16, while different in scope than claim 2, recite similar limitations as those of claim 2. Therefore, the above remarks apply similarly to each of the independent claims, as well as their respective dependent claims.

Without addressing the merits of the remaining rejections, which are not conceded, it is requested that the 35 U.S.C. §§ 102 and 103 rejections of record be withdrawn. It is respectfully submitted that none of the references of record, whether taken alone or in combination, disclose or suggest each and every aspect of the features recited in the pending claims.

Reconsideration of the pending claims in view of the remarks provided herein is respectfully requested.

NEW CLAIMS

Claim 22 is newly added. No new matter has been added. Support for the amendments may be found at least at paragraph [068] of the specification, as originally filed. None of the references of record disclose or suggest the features of claim 22.

CONCLUSION

In light of the remarks set forth above, Applicant respectfully requests favorable consideration and expeditious allowance of the present application. Any modifications to the claims contained herein are included to facilitate expeditious prosecution of this application.

If the Patent Office determines that an additional extension of time and/or other relief is required, Applicant petitions for any required relief, including additional extensions of time, and authorizes the Commissioner to charge the cost of such petitions and/or fees due in connection with the filing of this document to deposit account 600827. If it is determined that a telephone conference would aid in the prosecution of this application, the Examiner is invited to call the undersigned at (952)-215-4131.

Respectfully submitted,

DETAILED ACTION

Notice of Pre-AIA or AIA Status

1. The present application, filed on or after March 16, 2013, is being examined under the first inventor to file provisions of the AIA.

2. Applicant cancelled claim 1 prior to first office action.

3. Applicant added new claims 2-21 prior to first office action.

4. Status of claims:

Claims 2-21 are pending in this office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. In the event the determination of the status of the application as subject to AIA 35 U.S.C. 102 and 103 (or as subject to pre-AIA 35 U.S.C. 102 and 103) is incorrect, any correction of the statutory basis (i.e., changing from AIA to pre-AIA) for the rejection will not be considered a new ground of rejection if the prior art relied upon, and the rationale supporting the rejection, would be the same under either status.

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> (a)(2) the claimed invention was described in a patent issued under section 151, or in an application for patent published or deemed published under section 122(b), in which the patent or application, as the case may be, names another inventor and was effectively filed before the effective filing date of the claimed invention.

7. Claim(s) 2-8, 10-21 is/are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a2) as being anticipated by Murray (US20170295414).

Per claim 2, Murray discloses a system comprising:a processor; and memory configured to store program instructions, wherein, when executed by the processor, the program instructions cause the processor to perform operations (paragraph 0078, i.e. processor and memory)comprising: providing a hosted field for inclusion in a webpage associated with a third party; receiving, information indicating activation of the hosted field in the webpage ((paragraph 0145, i.e. when a hypermedia link icon is embedded, a user is able to populate it, examiner interprets when a user is able to access and populate is an indication of activation), wherein the information comprises contact information and an indication of a willingness to receive one or more messages (paragraph 0089, i.e. a micro-website within multimedia content presented to a user is based upon their selection of a hypermedia link within the multimedia content. As already indicated supra first screen image 500A is a social media feed screen within the micro-website allowing user to send a message to a friend or friends or a subset/set of contacts); generating, a customized webpage that includes information about one or more transactions of interest for a user associated with the contact information (paragraph 0173, i.e. the end-user device 1509 may access a particular webpage hosted by a provider server 1511A to 1511N, and then, while accessing the page, activate a hyperlink, or enter some other input into a user interface, instructing the provider server 1151A to 1511N to request the interactive media file and media player from the development server 1503, paragraph 0089, based upon their selection of a hypermedia link within the multimedia content, indicated supra first screen image 500A is a social media feed screen within the micro-website allowing user to send a message to a friend or friends, or a subset/set of contacts. In this instance the user is generating a Tweet for Twitter™ wherein when sent (tweeted) the content will be posted to the user's Twitter feed) the customized webpage being customized to an interest of the user; and sending a message to an electronic address corresponding to the contact information, wherein the message comprises a unique e-commerce micro-website link to the customized webpage (paragraph 0173, i.e. the end-user device 1509 may then interact with interactive media file, as though it is a self-contained software application, without leaving the current webpage. In other words, the end-user device 1509 may view and interact with the media player and the interactive media file hosted on the website of a first provider server 1511A and see paragraph 0089, i.e. supra first screen image 500A is a social media feed screen within the micro-website allowing user to send a message to a friend or friends, or a subset/set of contacts) the unique e-commerce micro-website link being configured to allow the user to securely access the customized webpage to execute the one or more transactions (paragraph 0145, i.e. by way of HCS-HCDAP, a cloud based system be accessed using user credentials and security credentials. Accordingly, when a client enters the cloud suite they are able to upload multimedia content and embed hypermedia link icons by clicking on elements they see and when a hypermedia link icon is embedded, a user is able to populate it and paragraph 0148, i.e. in building this structure, HCS-HCDAP has been able to achieve an arrangement whereby a user can click an item seen within the primary multimedia content, open a micro-website within the primary multimedia content over top of the primary multimedia content, and perform a complete transaction).

Per claim 3, Murray discloses the system of claim 2, wherein the message comprises a Short Message Service (SMS) or a Multimedia Message Service (MMS) message including the link to purchase tickets or view the customized webpage (paragraph 0022 and 0062, i.e. the micro-website allows the user to access and view secondary multimedia content associated with the item within the primary multimedia content and a document may be a file, a combination of files, one or more files with embedded links to other files, etc. The files may be of any type, such as text, audio, image, video, etc. Parts of a document to be rendered to an end user can be thought of as "content" of the document).

Per claim 4, Murray discloses the system of claim 2, wherein: the one or more transactions comprise e-commerce transactions for purchasing tickets from the third party (paragraph 0022, i.e. one hypermedia link icon of the plurality of hypermedia link icons is associated with an item within the primary multimedia content and the micro-website allows the user to purchase the item associated with the at least one hypermedia link icon of the plurality of hypermedia link icons without accessing another webpage); and the unique e-commerce micro-website link comprises options to navigate through the e-commerce transactions to select at least one ticket for purchase from the third party (paragraph 0055 and 0056, i.e. service provider wherein the service and/or product is at least one of marketed, sold, offered, examiner interprets tickets as any products or services rendered, where tickets of an event may be advertised via third party service and a user may purchase it, like any other product).

Per claim 5, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 4.

Per claim 6, Murray discloses the system of claim 2, wherein the operations further comprise: in response to receiving the information, subscribing the contact information to the third party (paragraph 0173, i.e. the end-user device 1509 may view and interact with the media player and the interactive media file hosted on the website of a first provider server 1511A, while the underlying media code of the interactive media file allows the end-user device 1509 to communicate directly with various computing services and interfaces of a second provider server 1511B, as received through the media play and the interactive media file. and flagging the contact information for future action involving one or more purchase opportunities (paragraph 0149, i.e. hypermedia link icons trigger micro-websites on additional layers the HCS-HCDAP allows for establishing and exploiting market intelligence dashboards and engagement analytics, where Search Engine Optimization to be employed to track aspects of the hypermedia link click-through rates as well as tracking the activities performed inside each micro-website, where examiner interprets that exploiting market intelligence allows for managing and tracking for future purchase opportunities).

Per claim 7, Murray discloses the system of claim 2, wherein the transactions of interest comprise upcoming events determined to be of interest to the user (paragraph 0140, i.e. by clicking on the hypermedia link icons still opens their associated micro-websites, i.e. Layer 3, or they can turn off the hypermedia link icons, if displayed by default, such that they are able to watch the primary multimedia content as usual but can select what they are interest in and see whether there is an associated hypermedia link icon and hence element(s) to be displayed to them, also see paragraph 0055, i.e. examiner interprets upcoming event as possibly marketing event where tickets may be sold on third party provider).

Per claim 8, Murray discloses the system of claim 2, wherein the hosted field is a user interface element configured to enable the user to select to indicate the willingness to receive the one or more messages(refer to claim 2 rationale, paragraph 0145 and 0089, i.e. when a hypermedia link icon is embedded, a user is able to populate it, examiner interprets when a user is able to access and populate is an indication of activation and a micro-website within multimedia content presented to a user is based upon their selection of a hypermedia link within the multimedia content. As already indicated supra first screen image 500A is a social media feed[receive] screen within the micro-website allowing user to send a message to a friend or friends or a subset/set of contacts).

Per claim 10, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 2(see paragraph 0192, for machine readable medium, such as a storage medium).

Per claim 11, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 3(see paragraph 0192, for machine readable medium, such as a storage medium).

Per claim 12, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 5(see paragraph 0192, for machine readable medium, such as a storage medium).

Per claim 13, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 7(see paragraph 0192, for machine readable medium, such as a storage medium).

Per claim 14, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 8(see paragraph 0192, for machine readable medium, such as a storage medium).

Per claim 15, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 4(see paragraph 0192, for machine readable medium, such as a storage medium).

Per claim 16, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 2(see paragraph 0078, for processor and memory).

Per claim 17, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 3(see paragraph 0078, for processor and memory).

Per claim 18, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 5(see paragraph 0078, for processor and memory).

Per claim 19, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 7(see paragraph 0078, for processor and memory).

Per claim 20, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 8(see paragraph 0078, for processor and memory).

Per claim 21, refer to the same rationale as explained in claim 4(see paragraph 0078, for processor and memory).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103 which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> A patent for a claimed invention may not be obtained, notwithstanding that the claimed invention is not identically disclosed as set forth in section 102, if the differences between the claimed invention and the prior art are such that the claimed invention as a whole would have been obvious before the effective filing date of the claimed invention to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which the claimed invention pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claim(s) 9 is/are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over Murray in view of Demir et al. (US20180103004) (hereinafter Demir).

Per claim 9, Murray discloses the system of claim 2, but fails to explicitly disclose wherein the contact information includes a telephone number corresponding to an address for receiving data messages.

In an analogous field of endeavor, Demir discloses wherein the contact information includes a telephone number corresponding to an address for receiving data messages (paragraph 0135, i.e. contact information [e.g., a phone number, an email address]).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art before the effective filing date of the claimed invention to have incorporated the teachings of Demir into the invention of Murray, where Murray provides support for monetization, analytics, secondary multimedia content, website functionality and micro-websites; and Demir provides systems and methods for reengaging website visitors via a social networking system. For example, in accordance with one embodiment, a social networking system receives information regarding a user-triggered event associated with a merchant webpage, utilizes the received information to generate an electronic message from the merchant to the user in order to better quality of service by reengaging website visitors via tracking pixel embedded in the web page where the contact's name maybe associated with a phone number, the overall design causes less confusion for web site visitors, see paragraphs 0004-006 and 0135.

PROTECTING YOUR INVENTION OUTSIDE THE UNITED STATES

Since the rights granted by a U.S. patent extend only throughout the territory of the United States and have no effect in a foreign country, an inventor who wishes patent protection in another country must apply for a patent in a specific country or in regional patent offices. Applicants may wish to consider the filing of an international application under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT). An international (PCT) application generally has the same effect as a regular national patent application in each PCT-member country. The PCT process simplifies the filing of patent applications on the same invention in member countries, but does not result in a grant of "an international patent" and does not eliminate the need of applicants to file additional documents and fees in countries where patent protection is desired.

Almost every country has its own patent law, and a person desiring a patent in a particular country must make an application for patent in that country in accordance with its particular laws. Since the laws of many countries differ in various respects from the patent law of the United States, applicants are advised to seek guidance from specific foreign countries to ensure that patent rights are not lost prematurely.

Applicants also are advised that in the case of inventions made in the United States, the Director of the USPTO must issue a license before applicants can apply for a patent in a foreign country. The filing of a U.S. patent application serves as a request for a foreign filing license. The application's filing receipt contains further information and guidance as to the status of applicant's license for foreign filing.

Applicants may wish to consult the USPTO booklet, "General Information Concerning Patents" (specifically, the section entitled "Treaties and Foreign Patents") for more information on timeframes and deadlines for filing foreign patent applications. The guide is available either by contacting the USPTO Contact Center at 800-786-9199, or it can be viewed on the USPTO website at http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/pac/doc/general/index.html.

For information on preventing theft of your intellectual property (patents, trademarks and copyrights), you may wish to consult the U.S. Government website, http://www.stopfakes.gov. Part of a Department of Commerce initiative, this website includes self-help "toolkits" giving innovators guidance on how to protect intellectual property in specific countries such as China, Korea and Mexico. For questions regarding patent enforcement issues, applicants may call the U.S. Government hotline at 1-866-999-HALT (1-866-999-4258).

LICENSE FOR FOREIGN FILING UNDER

Title 35, United States Code, Section 184

Title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, 5.11 & 5.15

GRANTED

The applicant has been granted a license under 35 U.S.C. 184, if the phrase "IF REQUIRED, FOREIGN FILING LICENSE GRANTED" followed by a date appears on this form. Such licenses are issued in all applications where the conditions for issuance of a license have been met, regardless of whether or not a license may be required as set forth in 37 CFR 5.15. The scope and limitations of this license are set forth in 37 CFR 5.15(a) unless an earlier license has been issued under 37 CFR 5.15(b). The license is subject to revocation upon written notification. The date indicated is the effective date of the license, unless an earlier license of similar scope has been granted under 37 CFR 5.13 or 5.14.

This license is to be retained by the licensee and may be used at any time on or after the effective date thereof unless it is revoked. This license is automatically transferred to any related applications(s) filed under 37 CFR 1.53(d). This license is not retroactive.

The grant of a license does not in any way lessen the responsibility of a licensee for the security of the subject matter as imposed by any Government contract or the provisions of existing laws relating to espionage and the national security or the export of technical data. Licensees should apprise themselves of current regulations especially with respect to certain countries, of other agencies, particularly the Office of Defense Trade Controls, Department of State (with respect to Arms, Munitions and Implements of War (22 CFR 121-128)); the Bureau of Industry and Security, Department of Commerce (15 CFR parts 730-774); the Office of Foreign AssetsControl, Department of Treasury (31 CFR Parts 500+) and the Department of Energy.

NOT GRANTED

No license under 35 U.S.C. 184 has been granted at this time, if the phrase "IF REQUIRED, FOREIGN FILING LICENSE GRANTED" DOES NOT appear on this form. Applicant may still petition for a license under 37 CFR 5.12, if a license is desired before the expiration of 6 months from the filing date of the application. If 6 months has lapsed from the filing date of this application and the licensee has not received any indication of a secrecy order under 35 U.S.C. 181, the licensee may foreign file the application pursuant to 37 CFR 5.15(b).

SECURE TRANSACTIONS USING CUSTOMIZED WEBPAGES

CROSS-REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATIONS

[001] This application is a continuation of U.S. Application No. 17/279,188, filed March 24, 2021, which is a U.S. National Stage Entry of PCT/US19/52847, filed September 25, 2019, that claims the priority benefit of U.S. Provisional Patent Application Ser. No. 62/737,315, filed September 27, 2018, the contents of each of which are herein incorporated by reference in their entireties.

BACKGROUND

[002] The described embodiments relate, generally, to techniques for performing transactions using dynamically generated customized webpages.

[003] The ease of use and widespread availability of networks, such as the Internet, have made it much easier for people to perform online transactions, such as purchasing products or services (which are sometimes referred to as 'e-commerce').

[004] However, the popularity of such online transactions has resulted in increased incidents of fraud and other criminal activity. This criminal behavior undermines people's trust and, thus, constrains people's willingness to conduct transactions via networks.

[005] Moreover, many webpages or websites have largely static content that is presented or served to all visitors. For example, visitors to a particular web site may be steered to a common landing webpage.

[006] While this one-size-fits-all approach is efficient and can be easily scaled, it often results in a cumbersome user experience, as visitors are forced to navigate through the content on a webpage or website in an attempt to find relevant or interesting information. Consequently, the negative user experience associated with many webpages and websites also restricts use and, thus, people's willingness to conduct transactions.

SUMMARY

[007] A first group of embodiments provides a computer for facilitating transactions. This computer includes an interface circuit that can communicate with an electronic device, memory that stores program instructions, and a processor that can execute the program instructions. During operation, the computer receives information specifying activation of a hosted field in a document associated with a third party, where the information specifies a willingness to receive one or more messages from the computer and specifies a telephone number. In response, the computer dynamically generates a customized second document that includes information about one or more transactions (such as one or more upcoming events or other purchasable tickets, merchandise, products, etc.) of interest to an individual associated with the telephone number. Then, the computer sends a message to an address corresponding to the telephone number, where the message includes a link to the customized second document. Next, when the computer receives information specifying activation of the link from an electronic device, the computer provides information specifying the customized second document to the electronic device for display on the electronic device.

[008] Note that the document may be a third-party webpage. Moreover, the message may include a Short Message Service (SMS) message. Furthermore, the customized second document may include a webpage.

[009] Furthermore, the customized second document may allow completion of a given transaction in the one or more transactions, such as purchasing one or more tickets to an upcoming event. Additionally, the computer provides authentication information (such as an authentication cookie) to the electronic device to authenticate purchases. For example, a purchase request received by the computer from the electronic device and associated with the customized second document may be rejected if the authentication information is not stored on the electronic device. Note that the authentication information may be valid for a predefined time interval. After this predefined time interval has elapsed, the authentication information may expire.

[010] In some embodiments, after receiving the information specifying activation of the hosted field, the computer may confirm that the telephone number is included in a data structure prior to dynamically generating the customized webpage. If the telephone number is included in the data structure, the computer may proceed and dynamically generate the customized second document. Otherwise, the computer may confirm that the individual wants to receive the one or more messages prior to dynamically generating the customized second document.

[011] Moreover, the one or more transactions of interest to the individual may be associated with an entity (such as an event organizer), and the individual may have a subscription with the entity.

[012] Furthermore, when the computer receives a request message with a predefined code addressed to a second address corresponding to a second telephone number associated with the computer, the computer may dynamically generate a customized third document that includes information about one or more additional transactions of interest to the individual associated with the telephone number. Then, the computer may provide a second message addressed to the address corresponding to the telephone number, where the second message includes a link to the customized third document. Note that the code may include an alphanumeric value.

[013] Another embodiment provides a computer-readable storage medium for use with the computer. This computer-readable storage medium includes program instructions for at least some of the operations performed by the computer.

[014] Another embodiment provides a method for dynamically generating a customized document. This method includes at least some of the operations performed by the computer.

[015] A second group of embodiments provides a computer that injects a host field into a document associated with a third party.

[016] Another embodiment provides a computer-readable storage medium for use with the computer. This computer-readable storage medium includes program instructions for at least some of the operations performed by the computer.

[017] Another embodiment provides a method for injecting a host field into a document associated with a third party. This method includes at least some of the operations performed by the computer.

[018] This Summary is provided merely for purposes of illustrating some exemplary embodiments, so as to provide a basic understanding of some aspects of the subject matter described herein. Accordingly, it will be appreciated that the above-described features are merely examples and should not be construed to narrow the scope or spirit of the subject matter described herein in any way. Other features, aspects, and advantages of the subject matter described herein will become apparent from the following Detailed Description, Figures, and Claims.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION

willingness to receive one or more messages from the computer and specifies a telephone number. In response, the computer dynamically generates a customized second document that includes information about one or more transactions (such as one or more upcoming events) of interest to an individual (or potential subscriber customer) associated with the telephone number. Then, the computer sends a message to an address corresponding to the telephone number, where the message includes a link to the customized second document. Next, when the computer receives information specifying activation of the link from an electronic device, the computer provides information specifying the customized second document to the electronic device for display on the electronic device.

[029] By providing the dynamically generated customized second document, this communication technique facilitates secure performance of a given transaction in the one or more transactions. Moreover, the dynamically generated customized second document may include customized content that is relevant to the individual (or potential subscriber customer). This may allow the individual (or potential subscriber customer) to directly access information that is of interest to them. Consequently, the communication technique may simplify the user experience, thereby increasing the likelihood that the individual (or potential subscriber customer) conducts the given transaction. In the process, the communication technique may increase satisfaction of the individual (or potential subscriber customer) and an entity associated with the one or more transactions, such as an event organizer (or potential client).

[030] In the discussion that follows, electronic devices and computers may include radios or, more generally, network interfaces that communicate packets or frames in accordance with one or more communication protocols, such as: an Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) 802.11 standard (which is sometimes referred to as 'Wi-Fi®,' from the Wi-Fi® Alliance of Austin, Texas), Bluetooth™ (from the Bluetooth Special Interest Group of Kirkland, Washington), a cellular-telephone communication protocol, another type of wireless interface, a wired network communication protocol (e.g., Ethernet, Ethernet II or an IEEE 802.3 standard, which are individually or collectively henceforth referred to as 'Ethernet') and/or another network communication protocol. For example, the cellular-telephone communication protocol may include or may be compatible with: a 2nd generation or mobile telecommunication technology, a

3rd generation of mobile telecommunications technology (such as a communication protocol that complies with the International Mobile Telecommunications-2000 specifications by the International Telecommunication Union of Geneva, Switzerland), a 4th generation of mobile telecommunications technology (such as a communication protocol that complies with the International Mobile Telecommunications Advanced specification by the International Telecommunication Union of Geneva, Switzerland), and/or another cellular-telephone communication technique. In some embodiments, the communication protocol includes Long Term Evolution or LTE. However, a wide variety of communication protocols may be used. In addition, the communication may occur via a wide variety of frequency bands. In the discussion that follows, Ethernet (which is sometimes referred to as a 'non-wireless communication technique' or protocol) is used as an illustrative example.

[031] Communication among electronic devices is shown in FIG. 1, which presents a block diagram illustrating an example of a system 100 that includes electronic devices 110 (such as a computer, a portable electronic device, a cellular telephone, a tablet computer, a smartwatch, a wearable device, etc.), computer 112 (such as a cloud-based computer or server), and hosting computer 114 that communicate with each other using wired (or non-wireless communication) via network 116 (such as the Internet) and/or optional wireless communication via a cellular-telephone network 118 (e.g., via an optional base station 120), a wireless local area network (e.g., via an optional access point 122) and/or a another wireless communication technique. Note that the optional access point 122 may provide access to network 116, such as the Internet, via an Ethernet protocol, and may be a physical access point or a virtual or 'software' access point that is implemented on a computer or an electronic device.

[032] As described further below with reference to FIGs. 2-3, computer 112 may inject a hosted field into a document provided by hosting computer 114. For example, computer 112 may provide, via network 116, the hosted field for inclusion in a webpage associated with a third party (i.e., that is other than a provider of the communication technique), and that is provided, via network 116 and cellular-telephone network 118 (or the optional access point 122), by hosting computer to one of electronic devices 110 (such as electronic device 110-1). An application (such as a Web browser) executed in an environment of electronic device 110-1

(such as an operating system) may display the document. Note that the hosted field may allow a user of electronic device 110-1 (who is sometimes referred to as an 'individual') to indicate a willingness to receive one or more messages from computer 112 and that specifies a telephone number associated with electronic device 110-1. Such user may be called a subscriber customer.

[033] When the user or subscriber customer activates the hosted field and provides the telephone number, electronic device 110-1 may provide, via network 116 and cellular-telephone network 118 (or the optional access point 122), information specifying activation of the hosted field in the document and the telephone number to hosting computer 114. In turn, hosting computer 114 may provide, via network 116, this information to computer 112.

[034] After receiving the information specifying activation of the hosted field in the document, computer 112 may dynamically generate a customized second document (such as a webpage) that includes information about one or more transactions (such as one or more upcoming events) of interest to the individual or subscriber customer associated with the telephone number. Then, computer 112 may send a message to an address corresponding to the telephone number, where the message includes a link to the customized second document. For example, the message may be sent via network 116 and cellular-telephone network 118 (or the optional access point 122). Note that the message may include a Short Message Service (SMS) message (which is sometimes referred to as a 'text message').

[035] Moreover, after receiving the message, electronic device 110-1 may display the message. If the individual or subscriber customer activates the link, electronic device 110-1 may provide, via network 116 and cellular-telephone network 118 (or the optional access point 122), information specifying activation of the link to computer 112.

[036] When computer 112 receives information specifying activation of the link from electronic device 110-1, computer 112 may provide, via network 116 and cellular-telephone network 118 (or the optional access point 122), information specifying the customized second document to electronic device 110-1 for display on the electronic device (such as by the application executing on electronic device 110-1). Furthermore, as described further below, computer 112 may provide, via network 116 and cellular-telephone network 118 (or the optional access point 122), authentication information (such as an authentication cookie) to electronic device 110-1 to authenticate completion of a given transaction in the one or more transactions. Note that the authentication information may be valid for a predefined time interval, such as 1 day, a week, or a month. After this predefined time interval has elapsed, the authentication information may expire.

[037] Additionally, the customized second document may allow completion of the given transaction in the one or more transactions, such as purchasing one or more tickets to an upcoming event. For example, the individual or subscriber customer may interact with the customized second document to provide, via network 116 and cellular-telephone network 118 (or the optional access point 122), to exchange information with computer 112 to complete the transaction As noted previously, a purchase request received from electronic device 110-1 and associated with the customized second document may be rejected by computer 112 if the authentication information is not stored on electronic device 110-1.

[038] In some embodiments, after receiving the information specifying activation of the hosted field, computer 112 may confirm that the telephone number is included in a data structure (such as a data structure with information about subscribers to a transaction service) prior to dynamically generating the customized webpage. For example, the one or more transactions of interest to the individual or subscriber customer may be associated with an entity (such as an event organizer also referred to herein as a client of the system), and the individual or subscriber may have a subscription with the entity or client. If the telephone number is included in the data structure, computer 112 may proceed and dynamically generate the customized second document. Otherwise, computer 112 may communicate, via network 116 and cellular-telephone network 118 (or the optional access point 122), with electronic device 110-1 to confirm that the individual or subscriber customer wants to receive the one or more messages prior to dynamically generating the customized second document.

[039] Moreover, the individual or subscriber customer may use electronic device 110-1 to request a dynamically generated customized third document. For example, electronic device 110-1 may provide, via network 116 and cellular-telephone network 118 (or the optional access point 122), a request message with a predefined code (such as an alphanumeric code) addressed to a second address corresponding to a second telephone number associated with computer 112.

In response, computer 112 may dynamically generate the customized third document that includes information about one or more additional transactions of interest to the individual or subscriber customer associated with the telephone number. Then, computer 112 may provide, via network 116 and cellular-telephone network 118 (or the optional access point 122), another message addressed to the address corresponding to the telephone number, where the other message includes a link to the customized third document.

[040] In these ways, the communication techniques may be used to facilitate the conducting of one or more transactions in a secure manner. Moreover, because an instance of the dynamically generated customized document is tailored, at a particular time, to the specific interests of the individual or subscriber customer, the content included in the instance of the customized document may be more relevant to the individual or subscriber customer and immediately actionable (without, e.g., requiring that the individual navigate to content that may be of interest to them). This capability may enhance the user experience of the individual or subscriber customer and may encourage the individual or subscriber customer to perform one or more transactions. The communication technique may enable a customer capture rate of greater than 10%, 15%, 20%, 25%, or 30%. For example, the customer capture rate may be 14.5%.

[041] As noted previously, in some embodiments, communication among components in system 100 involves wireless communication. During the wireless communication, electronic devices 110, the optional base station 120 and/or the optional access point 122 may: transmit advertising frames on wireless channels, detect one another by scanning wireless channels, establish wireless connections (for example, by transmitting association requests), and/or transmit and receive packets or frames (which may include the association requests and/or additional information as payloads). Moreover, during the wired communication, electronic devices 110, computer 112, and/or the hosting computer 114 may receive packets or frames using a wired communication technique or protocol (e.g., Ethernet II or an IEEE 802.3 standard). In some embodiments, the optional base station 118 and/or the optional access point 122 may convert packets or frames that are received using the wired communication technique to a WLAN communication technique or protocol (such as an IEEE 802.11 standard or an LTE standard), and may wirelessly transmit the packets or frames. Similarly, the optional base station 118 and/or the optional access point 122 may: receive packets or frames using the WLAN communication technique; convert the packets or frames to the wired communication technique; and transmit the packets or frames. Thus, the optional base station 118 and/or the optional access point 122 may perform the functions of an access point.

[042] As described further below with reference to FIG. 8, electronic devices 110, computer 112, hosting computer 114, the optional base station 120 and/or the optional access point 122 may include subsystems, such as: a networking subsystem, a memory subsystem and a processor subsystem. In addition, electronic devices 110, computer 112, hosting computer 114, the optional base station 120 and/or the optional access point 122 may include radios 124 in the networking subsystems. (Note that radios 124 may be instances of the same radio or may be different from each other.) More generally, electronic devices 110, computer 112, hosting computer 114, the optional base station 120 and/or the optional access point 122 can include (or can be included within) any electronic devices with the networking subsystems that enable electronic devices 110, computer 112, hosting computer 114, the optional base station 120 and/or the optional access point 122 to communicate with each other using wired communication (e.g., a non-wireless communication technique) and/or optional wireless communication. The optional wireless communication can comprise transmitting advertisements on wireless channels to enable electronic devices to make initial contact or detect each other, followed by exchanging subsequent data/management frames (such as association requests and responses) to establish a wireless connection, configure security options (e.g., Internet Protocol Security), and transmit and receive packets or frames via the wireless connection, etc.

[043] As can be seen in FIG. 1, wireless signals 126 (represented by a jagged line) are optionally transmitted from radio 124-1 in electronic device 110-1. These wireless signals are optionally received by at least the optional access point 122. Notably, electronic device 110-1 may optionally transmit packets. In turn, these packets may be optionally received by a radio 124-2 in the optional access point 122. This may allow electronic device 110-1 to wirelessly communicate information to the optional access point 122. While FIG. 1 illustrates electronic device 110-1 transmitting packets, note that electronic device 110-1 may also receive packets from the optional access point 122.

[044] In the described embodiments, processing of a packet or frame in electronic devices 110, the optional base station 120 and/or the optional access point 122 includes: receiving signals (such as wireless signals 126) with the packet or frame; decoding/extracting the packet or frame from the received signals to acquire the packet or frame; and processing the packet or frame to determine information contained in the packet or frame.

[045] Note that the communication among electronic devices 110, computer 112, the hosting computer 114, the optional base station 120 and/or the optional access point 122 may be characterized by a variety of performance metrics, such as: a data rate, a data rate for successful communication (which is sometimes referred to as a 'throughput'), an error rate (such as a retry or resend rate), a mean-square error of equalized signals relative to an equalization target, intersymbol interference, multipath interference, a signal-to-noise ratio, a width of an eye pattern, a ratio of number of bytes successfully communicated during a time interval (such as 1-10 s) to an estimated maximum number of bytes that can be communicated in the time interval (the latter of which is sometimes referred to as the 'capacity' of a channel or link), and/or a ratio of an actual data rate to an estimated data rate (which is sometimes referred to as 'utilization').

[046] In these ways, the communication techniques may provide an efficient and secure way for the individual to receive relevant content and to conduct one or more transactions.

[047] Although we describe the network environment shown in FIG. 1 as an example, in alternative embodiments, different numbers or types of electronic devices may be present. For example, some embodiments comprise more or fewer electronic devices. As another example, in another embodiment, different electronic devices are transmitting and/or receiving packets or frames. While electronic devices 110 and optional access point 122 are illustrated with a single instance of radios 124, in other embodiments, electronic devices 110, optional access point 120 and/or another component in system 100 may include multiple radios.

[048] FIG. 2 presents a flow diagram illustrating example method 200 for dynamically generating a customized document, which may be performed by a computer (such as computer 112 in FIG. 1). During operation, the computer may receive information (operation 210) specifying activation of a hosted field in a document associated with a third party or client, where the information specifies a willingness to receive one or more messages from the computer and specifies a telephone number. Note that the document may be a third-party or client webpage.

[049] In response, the computer may dynamically generate a customized second document (operation 212) that includes information about one or more transactions (such as one or more upcoming events) of interest to an individual or subscriber customer associated with the telephone number. Notably, the customized second document may include a webpage. In some embodiments, the one or more transactions of interest to the individual or subscriber customer may be associated with an entity (such as an event organizer), and the individual or subscriber customer may have a subscription with the entity.

[050] Then, the computer may send a message (operation 214) to an address corresponding to the telephone number, where the message includes a link to the customized second document. For example, the message may include a Short Message Service (SMS) message.

[051] Next, when the computer receives information (operation 216) specifying activation of the link from an electronic device, the computer may provide information (operation 218) specifying the customized second document to the electronic device for display on the electronic device.

[052] In some embodiments, the computer optionally performs one or more additional operations (operation 220). For example, the customized second document may allow completion of a given transaction in the one or more transactions, such as purchasing one or more tickets to an upcoming event. Consequently, the computer may selectively exchange information with the electronic device to perform the given transaction.

[053] Moreover, the computer may provide authentication information (such as an authentication cookie) to the electronic device to authenticate purchases. For example, a purchase request received by the computer from the electronic device and associated with the customized second document may be rejected if the computer does not receive information that indicates that the authentication information is stored on the electronic device. Note that the authentication information may be valid for a predefined time interval. After this predefined time interval has elapsed, the authentication information may expire.

[054] Furthermore, after receiving the information specifying activation of the hosted field (operation 210), the computer may confirm that the telephone number is included in a data structure prior to dynamically generating the customized webpage. If the telephone number is included in the data structure, the computer may proceed and dynamically generate the customized second document. Otherwise, the computer may confirm that the individual or subscriber customer wants to receive the one or more messages prior to dynamically generating the customized second document.

[055] Additionally, when the computer receives a request message with a predefined code addressed to a second address corresponding to a second telephone number associated with the computer, the computer may dynamically generate a customized third document that includes information about one or more additional transactions of interest to the individual or subscriber customer associated with the telephone number. Then, the computer may provide a second message addressed to the address corresponding to the telephone number, where the second message includes a link to the customized third document. Note that the code may include an alphanumeric value.

[056] In some embodiments of method 200, there may be additional or fewer operations. Moreover, there may be different operations. Furthermore, the order of the operations may be changed, and/or two or more operations may be combined into a single operation or performed at least partially in parallel.

[057] FIG. 3 presents a drawing illustrating example communication between computer 112, hosting computer 114, and electronic device 110-1. During the communication, an interface circuit 316 in electronic device 110-1 may provide information 314 specifying activation of the hosted field in the document. For example, a user of electronic device 110-1 (such as an individual) may use a user-interface device 310 (such as a keyboard, a mouse, a touchpad, a touch-sensitive display, a voice interface, etc.) to activate 308 the hosted field in a webpage of the third party or client. Then, a processor 312 in electronic device 110-1 may provide information 314 to interface circuit 316 with an instruction or a command to communicate it to hosting computer 114.

[058] After receiving information 314, hosting computer 114 may provide it to computer 112.

[059] Then, after receiving information 314, an interface circuit 318 in computer 112 may provide it to processor 320 in computer 112. In response, processor 320 may dynamically generate a customized second document 322 (such as a customized second webpage) that includes information about one or more transactions of interest to the individual or subscriber customer.

[060] Furthermore, processor 322 may instruct 324 interface circuit 318 to send a message 326 (such as an SMS message) to an address corresponding to the telephone number, where the message includes a link to the customized second document.

[061] This message may be received by interface circuit 316, which may forward it to processor 312 for display on a display 328 in electronic device 110-1. Next, the individual or subscriber customer may use user-interface device 310 to activate 330 the link. When this occurs, processor 312 may provide information 332 to interface circuit 316 with an instruction or a command to communicate it to computer 112.

[062] When interface circuit 318 receives information 332 specifying activation of the link, interface circuit 318 may provide it to processor 320. In response, processor 320 may provide information 334 specifying the customized second document 322 to interface circuit 318. In response, interface circuit 318 may provide information 334 to electronic device 110-1.

[063] After receiving information 334, interface circuit 316 may provide it to processor 312, which displays customized second document 322 on display 328.

[064] While FIG. 3 illustrates operations with single or double-sided arrows corresponding, respectively, to unilateral or bilateral communication, in general a given operation in these drawings may involve unilateral or bilateral communication. Note that the communication between components in FIG. 3 may involve communication of one or more packets or frames.

[065] Moreover, while the preceding discussion illustrates communication of the information specifying activation of the hosted field to computer 112 via hosting computer 114, in other embodiments, electronic device 110-1 communicates this information directly to computer 112.

[066] Furthermore, while SMS messaging was used in the preceding discussion, different communication channels may be used in other embodiments, e.g., email, Enhanced Messaging Service (EMS), and/or Multimedia Messaging Service (MMS).

[067] We now describe embodiments of the communication technique. In these embodiments, a 'client' may be a third-party ticket provider or any third-party service or event provider.

[068] Note that the communication technique may not simply provide a marketing channel for pre-existing content. Instead, the customized webpage (or website) may be created de novo for each subscriber customer or individual. A given subscriber customer cannot hit their webpage without a specific link that is provided to the given subscriber customer. Because the webpage does not exist before the link is created and provided to the given subscriber customer, there may not be another way to access the customized webpage. If the link for the customized second document is shared with a second individual, the second individual may browse content customized for the first individual but will be prohibited from accessing a profile of the first individual and/or executing a transaction unless the second individual subscribes and provides his/her telephone number. In such a scenario, the 3P message service sends a new link to the second individual that is customized to the second individual, the new link being customized to the second individual. The customized webpage may be curated for the given subscriber customer (e.g., based on a specific industry, events, organizer, etc.). Moreover, the customized webpage may be updated based on user habits, history, preferences, information from third-party application programming interfaces (APIs), etc. The customized webpage may pull in or incorporate additional events that may be of interest to the given subscriber customer. In addition, the communication technique may provide controls and distribute payments. For example, computer 112 (FIG. 1) may create a link that is associated with its own webpage and that can be used to create or conduct a given transaction.

[069] In the communication technique, an Amplify Decision Delivery Processor (ADDP) may use a data structure to match, update orders, parse down information, compile links (such as HTML links), and/or provide authorization and financial information.

[070] In some embodiments, when a client encounters the communication technique, e.g., in an application, a continuous subscriber capture (CSC) input may be injected as an input into a purchase form. Moreover, when a client installs the application, computer 112 (FIG. 1) may have access to information and, thus, the ability to sell a wide variety of their inventory.

[071] Subsequently, when the given subscriber customer encounters a CSC input (and, more generally, a hosted field) in a webpage associated with a client, they may select a box that indicates 'yes' they would like to receive text messages. This 'yes' input may be provided to the ADDP, which may check whether a telephone number of the given subscriber customer is included in the data structure.

[072] If their telephone number is in the data structure, the ADDP may send a text message to the given subscriber customer with a link to the customized document showing events of interest. Note that if an event organizer or client has one event, the customized document or webpage may only show one event. However, if the event organizer or client has many events, the customized document or webpage may show or include multiple events.

[073] Alternatively, if the given subscriber customer's telephone number is not in the data structure, the ADDP may send a text message to the given subscriber customer to confirm that they want to receive text messages.

[074] Furthermore, one or more vaults with financial information may be copied for future payments when the given subscriber customer conducts a transaction via their customized webpage.

[075] Additionally, the ADDP may create a 'hot' cookie that goes onto the given subscriber customer's electronic device (e.g., cellular telephone) for future payments. This cookie may expire, e.g., after 30 days. If the subscriber customer attempts to use the cookie for a future payment but the cookie expired, the subscriber customer may verify their telephone number via an alphanumeric value sent to their telephone number to reactivate the cookie (make it 'hot' again).

[076] Note that the given subscriber customer can also access their user profile via the link in the text message.

[077] In some embodiments, the given subscriber customer can, at any time, get or receive a text message with a link to a customized webpage with events and/or user preferences by sending a text message with, e.g., a 5-digit short code to a telephone number associated with the ADDP. For example, the short code may be: an organizer name and/or a name of a provider of the communication technique (such as 'Amplify').

[078] The communication technique may address security flaws in existing approaches (such as SIM-case swapping or fraudulent use of a link, etc.). Notably, these problems may be addressed by the use of the 'hot' cookie stored on the given subscriber customer's cellular telephone, because a fraudulent user that does not have the 'hot' cookie will not be able to access transaction information in the customized webpage or conduct a transaction when they activate the link. Thus, the 'hot' cookie may make it very difficult to game the communication technique. In order to thwart SIM swapping, in some embodiments, the communication technique may include a biometric authentication operation, such as facial recognition or recognition of another biometric marker (e.g., fingerprint recognition).

[079] Furthermore, the ADDP may conduct reviews to verify/validate subscriber customers and their information. For example, the ADDP may review subscriber customer subscriptions (such as the event organizers or client to which a given subscriber customer has subscriptions), customer telephone numbers, etc.

[080] FIG. 4 presents a drawing illustrating an example of a continuous subscriber customer flow 400, and FIGs. 5-7 presents drawings illustrating an example of a secured environment generator 500. In some embodiments, the communication technique (which is sometimes referred to as 'Amplify') may be implemented in conjunction with a third-party API 402. Notably, a custom integration implementation of Amplify 444 may be provided to the third-party API 402. This may involve access to Amplify 444 being made available inside the third-party API 402 platform to a client (such as an event organizer) that installs a software implementation of Amplify 444. Alternatively or additionally, the client 404 may allow Amplify 444 to access their client platform. For example, the client 404 may provide access codes that enable the client to pass an identifier of their third-party API platform to ADDP 410. As shown in FIG. 5, this may enable the client to create a client keyword 504 (such as an organizer word or short code) that can be texted (command 516a) to a telephone number associated with the ADDP 410 (or computer 112 of FIG. 1) in ADDP 410, which may result in the client becoming an ADDP client. As an ADDP client, the client may gain access to the ADDP text messaging capability via an Amplify 444 provider 3P messaging service 514. Inventory, events, etc. associated with each client are associated with a vendor ID 518.

[081] As shown in FIGs. 4-5, as a result of becoming an ADDP client, ADDP 410 may inject a CSC input 406 into client web-purchase forms generated by the third-party API platform 402. This may enable the client 404 to allow their subscriber customers 408 to trigger the CSC input 406 to command 516 ADDP 410 to commence subscriber customer capture as an Amplify subscriber via a cellular telephone number 422 (which is sometimes referred to as a 'subscriber number') input by a subscriber customer 408 in client web-purchase forms generated by the third-party API 402.

[082] ADDP 410 may flag a subscriber customer identifier (ID) 412 to the third-party API platform 402 for future reference and action. For example, ADDP may trigger the 3P messaging service 446 to send a text message with a unique e-commerce micro-website (e.g., a UEMWEB) abstract link (which was generated by ADDP). This micro-website may include client ticket purchase opportunities for the subscriber customer.

[083] When the subscriber customer 414 clicks or activates a UEMWEB link, the UEMWEB abstract unpacks 416 the client ticket purchase opportunities inside a Web browser on a cellular telephone of the subscriber customer. The UEMWEB may provide options to navigate through and choose to commence an e-commerce transaction.

[084] As shown in FIG. 5, Amplify 444 may further send a message through the 3P messaging service 520 to a subscriber customer number 442 associated with a client ID 524. The message may include an actionable item, e.g., a link to purchase tickets or view a customized webpage, such that the subscriber customer can send a command 516b using the 3P service 526 to view the customized webpage or purchase tickets or etc. which is sent to Amplify 528 for fulfillment and payment services.

[085] Note that ADDP 410 may be how the client 404, the customers 408 of the client that become an Amplify subscriber, and Amplify 444 relate to each other through a matrix of conditions, abstracts and ordering of decisions. For example, an input received from a CSC input 406 may contain the third-party API platform identifier and the subscriber customer telephone number. When the telephone number details are confirmed, they may become a subscriber customer in a data structure of ADDP for future actions.

[086] When checking the telephone number 418, the area code may be checked to geographically place and validate a location and area code of the telephone number to validate the subscriber customer 420 and verify that the subscriber customer is a customer of Amplify. Moreover, if the telephone number is a land line, it may be purged. However, if the telephone number is a cellular-telephone number, continue.

[087] Then, whether the telephone number is in a data structure 422 may be checked to validate the subscriber customer 420. If yes, a check whether the customer is currently subscribed or unsubscribed to Amplify 444 for a current client may be performed. If yes 428, conditions are checked and acted upon. However, if no, an opt-in verification message may be sent 424. Note that conditional dependent occurrences 426 may include determining if an opt-in message 424 is needed.

[088] When opt-in occurs, the customer becomes a subscriber 414. Notably, a subscriber customer 414 may be added to the Amplify data structure. Moreover, the subscriber customer 414 may be flagged to the client 412, and the client 404 thereafter may have access to the subscriber customer 414.

[089] During content delivery matching, the organization's attributes may be checked, such as a type, industry, events, inventory, etc. Moreover, subscriber customer preferences may be checked via the third-party API and/or a data structure of preferences/history, etc. Then, the relevant event details are pulled through the third-party API for compiling of abstracts. Next, the relevant content to be compiled in a packet is decided 430, such as: which partner's events, which specific events, single event, events list, etc. This information may be curated via third-party API(s). Furthermore, when the subscriber customer verification is checked, a trackable link is compiled 432. Additionally, the message may be sent to the subscriber customer 434. When the subscriber customer interacts with the content, an order may be created and updated 436 accordingly in line with subscriber customer actions and available inventory in tandem with third-party API checks.

[090] During an Amplify security check and hold 438, the subscriber customer may: navigate to UEMWEB, undertake choosing ticket purchase options, provide financial information (such as credit-card details) in a UEMWEB purchase form, and may activate a command to authorize 440 an e-commerce transaction. After ADDP receives a command, it may trigger the 3P messaging service to send a, e.g., 4-digit PIN code to subscriber customer via MMS/SMS. This PIN code may be input into a purchase form during authorization 440 to enable the subscriber customer to activate a command to commence a, e.g., credit-card charge. This may trigger payment processing 442.

[091] During payment processing, a secured financial environment generator 500 may: require a client ID 502, a client keyword 504, a client third-party API platform identifier, and a subscriber customer telephone number 422 to interoperate in order to drive encryption (such as UIE encryption), which allows an e-commerce transaction to commence. When these operations are confirmed and compiled, the secured financial environment generator 500 may pass security checks, may provide authorization for the transaction to continue, and may place a packet containing UIE and PIN into a subscriber customer verified link 512.

[092] Moreover, the secured financial environment generator 510 may generate a hot cookie that may include information specifying the keyword, client, subscriber customer, and protocol, and may place it and activate it in the purchase form, as shown in FIG. 6. The hot cookie is stored locally on the device of the subscriber customer for a defined period of time, as described elsewhere herein. Once the hot cookie is validated, an access link is generated 512 and sent through Amplify 530 to a subscriber customer number 534 associated with a client ID 536 using the 3P messaging service 532 to allow account access 536 to complete a purchase. Validation of the hot cookie confirms the identity of the client and further allows access 536 to complete a purchase.

[093] Turning to FIGs. 6-7. Once access is granted in FIG. 5 information stored in the hot cookie allows commerce to be activated at 614. Information is input into a 2-factor authentication form (2FA Form) 616 sent via 3P messaging service 618 from subscriber customer number 620 associated with client ID 632. Once the form 616 is completed and transmitted at command 634 via 3P messaging service 636 through Amplify 638, the identity of the subscriber customer transmitting the form is confirmed through the secure financial environment generator 510. Once the identity is confirmed using the hot cookie 622, the commerce is validated at 624, which may allow financial information (such as credit-card charges) to process and pass authorization and processing.

[094] This may trigger ADDP to deliver financial information (such as credit-card details) to Vault 1 602 as well as Vault 2 604 based on partnership requirements in certain payment abstract scenarios. Moreover, it may enable credit-card charges to be made and completed resulting in purchase confirmation and fulfillment 606. While this is occurring, a hold may be placed on the credit card (or another financial vehicle) of the subscriber customer.

[095] Next, ADDP may trigger the 3P messaging service 626 to send a notification (such as an SMS message) to the subscriber customer number 628 associated with client ID 630 with a link to purchased tickets as a result of a purchase confirmation and fulfillment details 606.

[096] Furthermore, ADDP may manage updating inventory of the client via the third-party API as a result of a purchase confirmation and fulfillment. ADDP may transfer credit-card charge receipts to one or more payees 610, 612, such as the client if they are the merchant of record. Alternatively, the third-party API may push the delivery payment receipt to the client if they are the merchant of record.

[097] We now describe embodiments of an electronic device, which may perform the communication technique. FIG. 8 presents a block diagram of an example of an electronic device 800, such as one of: electronic devices 110, computer 112, hosting computer 114, optional base station 120 or optional access point 122. This electronic device includes processing subsystem 810, memory subsystem 812, and networking subsystem 814. Processing subsystem 810 includes one or more devices configured to perform computational operations. For example, processing subsystem 810 can include one or more microprocessors, application-specific integrated circuits (ASICs), microcontrollers, programmable-logic devices, one or more GPUs, and/or one or more digital signal processors (DSPs).

[098] Memory subsystem 812 includes one or more devices for storing data and/or instructions for processing subsystem 810 and networking subsystem 814. For example, memory subsystem 812 can include dynamic random-access memory (DRAM), static random-access memory (SRAM), a read-only memory (ROM), flash memory, and/or other types of memory. In some embodiments, instructions for processing subsystem 810 in memory subsystem 812 include: one or more program modules or sets of instructions (such as program instructions 822 or operating system 824), which may be executed by processing subsystem 810. For example, a ROM can store programs, utilities or processes to be executed in a non-volatile manner. Further, for example, DRAM can provide volatile data storage and may store instructions related to the operation of electronic device 800. Note that the one or more computer programs may constitute a computer-program mechanism, a computer-readable storage medium, or software. Moreover, instructions in the various modules in memory subsystem 812 may be implemented in: a high-level procedural language, an object-oriented programming language, and/or in an assembly or machine language. Furthermore, the programming language may be compiled or interpreted, e.g., configurable or configured (which may be used interchangeably in this discussion), to be executed by processing subsystem 810. In some embodiments, the one or more computer programs are distributed over a network-coupled computer system so that the one or more computer programs are stored and executed in a distributed manner.

[099] In addition, memory subsystem 812 can include mechanisms for controlling access to the memory. In some embodiments, memory subsystem 812 includes a memory hierarchy that comprises one or more caches coupled to a memory in electronic device 800. In some of these embodiments, one or more of the caches is located in processing subsystem 810.

[0100] In some embodiments, memory subsystem 812 is coupled to one or more high-capacity mass-storage devices (not shown). For example, memory subsystem 812 can be coupled to a magnetic or optical drive, a solid-state drive, or another type of mass-storage device. In these embodiments, memory subsystem 812 can be used by electronic device 800 as fast-access storage for often-used data, while the mass-storage device is used to store less frequently used data.

[0101] Networking subsystem 814 includes one or more devices configured to couple to and communicate on a wired and/or wireless network (i.e., to perform network operations), including: control logic 816, an interface circuit 818 and a set of antennas 820 (or antenna elements) in an adaptive array that can be selectively turned on and/or off by control logic 816 to create a variety of optional antenna patterns or 'beam patterns.' (While FIG. 8 includes set of antennas 820, in some embodiments electronic device 800 includes one or more nodes, such as nodes 808, e.g., a pad, which can be coupled to set of antennas 820. Thus, electronic device 800 may or may not include set of antennas 820.) For example, networking subsystem 814 can include a Bluetooth networking system, a cellular networking system (e.g., a 3G/4G/5G network such as UMTS, LTE, etc.), a universal serial bus (USB) networking system, a networking system based on the standards described in IEEE 802.9 (e.g., a Wi-Fi® networking system), an Ethernet networking system, and/or another networking system.

[0102] Networking subsystem 814 includes processors, controllers, radios/antennas, sockets/plugs, and/or other devices used for coupling to, communicating on, and handling data and events for each supported networking system. Note that mechanisms used for coupling to, communicating on, and handling data and events on the network for each network system are sometimes collectively referred to as a 'network interface' for the network system. Moreover, in some embodiments a 'network' or a 'connection' between the electronic devices does not yet exist. Therefore, electronic device 800 may use the mechanisms in networking subsystem 814 for performing simple wireless communication between the electronic devices, e.g., transmitting advertising or beacon frames and/or scanning for advertising frames transmitted by other electronic devices.

[0103] Within electronic device 800, processing subsystem 810, memory subsystem 812, and networking subsystem 814 are coupled together using bus 828 that facilitates data transfer between these components. Bus 828 may include an electrical, optical, and/or electro-optical connection that the subsystems can use to communicate commands and data among one another. Although only one bus 828 is shown for clarity, different embodiments can include a different number or configuration of electrical, optical, and/or electro-optical connections among the subsystems.

[0104] In some embodiments, electronic device 800 includes a display subsystem 826 for displaying information on a display, which may include a display driver and the display, such as a liquid-crystal display, a multi-touch touchscreen, etc. Display subsystem 826 may be controlled by processing subsystem 810 to display information to a user.

[0105] Electronic device 800 can also include a user-input subsystem 830 that allows a user of the electronic device 800 to interact with electronic device 800. For example, user-input subsystem 830 can take a variety of forms, such as: a button, keypad, dial, touch screen, audio input interface, etc.

[0106] Electronic device 800 can be (or can be included in) any electronic device with at least one network interface. For example, electronic device 800 may include: a cellular telephone or a smartphone, a smartwatch, a wearable device, a tablet computer, a laptop computer, a notebook computer, a personal or desktop computer, a netbook computer, a media player device, an electronic book device, a smartwatch, a wearable computing device, a portable computing device, a consumer-electronic device, as well as any other type of electronic computing device having wireless communication capability that can include communication via one or more wireless communication protocols.

[0107] Although specific components are used to describe electronic device 800, in alternative embodiments, different components and/or subsystems may be present in electronic device 800. For example, electronic device 800 may include one or more additional processing subsystems, memory subsystems, networking subsystems, and/or display subsystems. Additionally, one or more of the subsystems may not be present in electronic device 800. Moreover, in some embodiments, electronic device 800 may include one or more additional subsystems that are not shown in FIG. 8. Also, although separate subsystems are shown in FIG. 8, in some embodiments some or all of a given subsystem or component can be integrated into one or more of the other subsystems or component(s) in electronic device 800. For example, in some embodiments program instructions 822 are included in operating system 824 and/or control logic 816 is included in interface circuit 818.

[0108] Moreover, the circuits and components in electronic device 800 may be implemented using any combination of analog and/or digital circuitry, including: bipolar, PMOS and/or NMOS gates or transistors. Furthermore, signals in these embodiments may include digital signals that have approximately discrete values and/or analog signals that have continuous values. Additionally, components and circuits may be single-ended or differential, and power supplies may be unipolar or bipolar.

[0109] An integrated circuit (which is sometimes referred to as a 'communication circuit') may implement some or all of the functionality of networking subsystem 814. This integrated circuit may include hardware and/or software mechanisms that are used for transmitting wireless signals from electronic device 800 and receiving signals at electronic device 800 from other electronic devices. Aside from the mechanisms herein described, radios are generally known in the art and hence are not described in detail. In general, networking subsystem 814 and/or the integrated circuit can include any number of radios. Note that the radios in multiple-radio embodiments function in a similar way to the described single-radio embodiments.

[0110] In some embodiments, networking subsystem 814 and/or the integrated circuit include a configuration mechanism (such as one or more hardware and/or software mechanisms) that configures the radio(s) to transmit and/or receive on a given communication channel (e.g., a given carrier frequency). For example, in some embodiments, the configuration mechanism can be used to switch the radio from monitoring and/or transmitting on a given communication channel to monitoring and/or transmitting on a different communication channel. (Note that 'monitoring' as used herein comprises receiving signals from other electronic devices and possibly performing one or more processing operations on the received signals).

[0111] In some embodiments, an output of a process for designing the integrated circuit, or a portion of the integrated circuit, which includes one or more of the circuits described herein may be a computer-readable medium such as, for example, a magnetic tape or an optical or magnetic disk. The computer-readable medium may be encoded with data structures or other information describing circuitry that may be physically instantiated as the integrated circuit or the portion of the integrated circuit. Although various formats may be used for such encoding, these data structures are commonly written in: Caltech Intermediate Format (CIF), Calma GDS II Stream Format (GDSII) or Electronic Design Interchange Format (EDIF). Those of skill in the art of integrated circuit design can develop such data structures from schematic diagrams of the type detailed above and the corresponding descriptions and encode the data structures on the computer-readable medium. Those of skill in the art of integrated circuit fabrication can use such encoded data to fabricate integrated circuits that include one or more of the circuits described herein.

[0112] While some of the operations in the preceding embodiments were implemented in hardware or software, in general the operations in the preceding embodiments can be implemented in a wide variety of configurations and architectures. Therefore, some or all of the operations in the preceding embodiments may be performed in hardware, in software or both. For example, at least some of the operations in the communication technique may be implemented using program instructions 822, operating system 824 (such as a driver for interface circuit 818) or in firmware in interface circuit 818. Alternatively or additionally, at least some of the operations in the communication technique may be implemented in a physical layer, such as hardware in interface circuit 818.

ABSTRACT

A computer that dynamically generates a customized second document is described. During operation, the computer receives information specifying activation of a hosted field in a document associated with a third party, where the information specifies a willingness to receive one or more messages from the computer and specifies a telephone number. In response, the computer dynamically generates the customized second document that includes information about one or more transactions (such as one or more upcoming events) of interest to an individual associated with the telephone number. Then, the computer sends a message to an address corresponding to the telephone number, where the message includes a link to the customized second document. Next, when the computer receives information specifying activation of the link from an electronic device, the computer provides information specifying the customized second document to the electronic device for display on the electronic device.

Authorization or Opt-Out of Authorization to Permit Access:

When this Application Data Sheet is properly signed and filed with the application, applicant has provided written authority to permit a participating foreign intellectual property (IP) office access to the instant application-as-filed (see paragraph A in subsection 1 below) and the European Patent Office (EPO) access to any search results from the instant application (see paragraph B in subsection 1 below).

Should applicant choose not to provide an authorization identified in subsection 1 below, applicant must opt-out of the authorization by checking the corresponding box A or B or both in subsection 2 below.

NOTE: This section of the Application Data Sheet is ONLY reviewed and processed with the INITIAL filing of an application. After the initial filing of an application, an Application Data Sheet cannot be used to provide or rescind authorization for access by a foreign IP office(s). Instead, Form PTO/SB/39 or PTO/SB/69 must be used as appropriate.

1. Authorization to Permit Access by a Foreign Intellectual Property Office(s)

A. Priority Document Exchange (PDX) - Unless box A in subsection 2 (opt-out of authorization) is checked, the undersigned hereby grants the USPTO authority to provide the European Patent Office (EPO), the Japan Patent Office (JPO), the Korean Intellectual Property Office (KIPO), the State Intellectual Property Office of the People's Republic of China (SIPO), the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO), and any other foreign intellectual property office participating with the USPTO in a bilateral or multilateral priority document exchange agreement in which a foreign application claiming priority to the instant patent application is filed, access to: (1) the instant patent application-as-filed and its related bibliographic data, (2) any foreign or domestic application to which priority or benefit is claimed by the instant application and its related bibliographic data, and (3) the date of filing of this Authorization. See 37 CFR 1.14(h)(1).

B. Search Results from U.S. Application to EPO - Unless box B in subsection 2 (opt-out of authorization) is checked, the undersigned hereby grants the USPTO authority to provide the EPO access to the bibliographic data and search results from the instant patent application when a European patent application claiming priority to the instant patent application is filed. See 37 CFR 1.14(h)(2).

The applicant is reminded that the EPO's Rule 141(1) EPC (European Patent Convention) requires applicants to submit a copy of search results from the instant application without delay in a European patent application that claims priority to the instant application.

2. Opt-Out of Authorizations to Permit Access by a Foreign Intellectual Property Office(s)

☐ A. Applicant DOES NOT authorize the USPTO to permit a participating foreign IP office access to the instant application-as-filed. If this box is checked, the USPTO will not be providing a participating foreign IP office with any documents and information identified in subsection 1A above.

☐ B. Applicant DOES NOT authorize the USPTO to transmit to the EPO any search results from the instant patent application. If this box is checked, the USPTO will not be providing the EPO with search results from the instant application.

NOTE: Once the application has published or is otherwise publicly available, the USPTO may provide access to the application in accordance with 37 CFR 1.14.
