KENILWORTH, N.J. – Merck (NYSE: MRK), known as MSD outside the United States and Canada, has been operating in the United States under the name Merck for 125 years. To protect our long-established brand rights in the United States, we are filing a lawsuit against Merck KGaA, Darmstadt, Germany, operating as the EMD Group in the United States, regarding their improper use of the name “Merck” in the United States.

Our company brand and what it stands for is crucial to our identity and reputation and we will vigorously defend it. We are proud of our unique contributions to patients and society. We are at the forefront of fighting to find treatments and cures to some for the world’s most urgent health challenges, including cancer, diabetes, hepatitis C, Alzheimer’s disease, Ebola, superbugs, HIV, heart disease and many others.

Additionally, on a separate legal matter, we are disappointed with the ruling of the High Court of Justice, London, which decided in favor of Merck KGaA, Darmstadt, Germany, regarding their claims in connection with the use of “Merck” in particular on web sites and social media. This decision reflects one step in a litigation process taking place in a number of countries, and will be appealed.

The U.S. lawsuit is being filed in the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey, and more details will be available in the complaint.
