Mar. 06, 2026165ORDER Granting 28 Motion to Dismiss Member Case 2:25cv558. Signed by District Judge Rodney Gilstrap on 03/06/2026. (mdj) (Entered: 03/06/2026)
Motion to Transfer for Improper Venue (28 USC § 1406(a))			Granted
Venue L Venue Rules for Patent Infringement (TC Heartland) L Regular and Established Place of Business	The court granted one defendant's motion to transfer plaintiff's patent infringement action and rejected plaintiff's argument that the insufficient size of defendant's facility in a neighboring district in the state meant that defendant's hybrid and remote employees could establish venue. "Plaintiff relies on deposition testimony from [Defendant's executive], who stated that as a 'rough estimate,' there were 'roughly 100' cubicles available in [Defendant's] new Richardson Office, and [a second executive], who stated that during the 2024 move-out of the previous Allen facility, there was only space for 'approximately 110 employees,' to show that there was not space for [Defendant's] 176 employees at the Richardson Office (in the [neighboring district]) many months later, in May 2025. . . . Such is insufficient to meet [Plaintiff's] burden to establish that [Defendant] has 'a business model whereby many employees' homes are used as its place of business' under Cray ."
Motion to Transfer for Improper Venue (28 USC § 1406(a))			Granted
Venue L Venue Rules for Patent Infringement (TC Heartland) L Regular and Established Place of Business	The court granted one defendant's motion to transfer plaintiff's patent infringement action and concluded that defendant's hybrid and remote employees could not establish venue. "[Plaintiff] asserts that because [Defendant's] remote and hybrid employees are given company-paid laptops, office equipment (keyboard, mouse, headset, and monitor), phones with data plans, and internet reimbursement, [Defendant] has established a regular and established place of business by ratifying these employees' homes as places of its business. . . . Plaintiff offers no evidence that the [Defendant has] any property interest in their employees' homes, played a part in selecting their locations, required the employees to store inventory at their homes, condition employment on maintaining a home specifically in this District, or advertising employees' homes as their places of business, as the Federal Circuit considered in Cray ."
Motion to Transfer for Improper Venue (28 USC § 1406(a))			Granted
Venue L Venue Rules for Patent Infringement (TC Heartland) L Regular and Established Place of Business	The court granted one defendant's motion to transfer plaintiff's patent infringement action and concluded that defendant's furnished but unoccupied office could not establish venue. "Plaintiff asserts that '[Defendant] could have just unlocked the door' and resumed operations there, despite other steps [Defendant] took to move out (such as 'removing signage and networking hardware, updating the website, and disabling badge readers'). . . . Plaintiff does not cite (and the Court is not aware of) any cases with similar facts wherein a court held that venue was established over a defendant due to it still holding a lease over a furnished but unoccupied workspace, despite taking concrete steps to disavow the location and ceasing the conduct of business there. . . . Plaintiff does not dispute that [Defendant] has not conducted business from the Bethany Office since July 2024, in advance of this suit being filed; it merely alleges that [Defendant] could have come back and chosen to work there ten months later when suit was filed if it had wanted to."
Motion to Transfer for Improper Venue (28 USC § 1406(a))			Granted
Venue L Venue Rules for Patent Infringement (TC Heartland) L Regular and Established Place of Business	The court granted one defendant's motion to transfer plaintiff's patent infringement action and concluded that defendant's relationships with a distributor and a local sales representative could not establish venue. "To assert that '[Defendant] stores its marketing and technical materials and product samples' at Avnet and Ion's in-District offices, Plaintiff relies on a the 'Master Distributor Agreement' [Defendant] responds that '[Plaintiff] cites no evidence that there are any such materials actually stored at Avnet's in-District office,' and further that 'the record shows that [Defendant's] local field applications engineer shares only electronic files with Ion and Avnet.' . . . [Defendant] asserts that 'Avnet and Ion are not, in fact, required to refer to themselves as "authorized" by [Defendant], but are permitted to do so' On these facts, the Court finds that Plaintiff has not met its burden under the third Cray factor to demonstrate that either Avnet or Ion's in-District office is a place of [Defendant]."
Motion to Transfer for Improper Venue (28 USC § 1406(a))			Granted
District Court Procedural Issues L Venue L Transfer in Lieu of Dismissal	After finding that venue was inappropriate in the Eastern District of Texas, the court transferred to the District of Delaware rather than dismiss. "[U]nder these facts, venue is not proper within this District, the Court is bound to consider the interests of justice. Having done so, the Court is persuaded that the interests of justice dictate that rather than dismissal, this action should be transferred to the District of Delaware, which is familiar with these parties, their counsel, and their claims. The District of Delaware is a district where this action could have properly been brought initially."
