The U.S. International Trade Commission is open and has resumed operations.

Wed, 11/12/2025 - 08:00

As of Thursday, November 13, 2025, the Commission has received funding through January 30, 2026, and is open.

Tolling of Deadlines

In general, the Commission has tolled all statutory and other investigative deadlines pending before it for 47 days to account for the shutdown and resumption of activities. However, specific schedules for each investigative proceeding, including those pending before an administrative law judge, may be revised and new schedules posted as necessary. It may take a week or more for revised schedules to be finalized, and a temporary webpage has been created to assist parties and the public to track rescheduling notices.

Document Filing

Electronic Document Information System \(EDIS\) is accepting document filings as of 7 a.m. Eastern Time, Monday, November 17, 2025. However, the Commission requests that parties in specific proceedings wait until revised deadlines are scheduled to file documents in a proceeding.

We are grateful for your continued patience as the Commission resumes operations.

This notice was last updated November 14, 2025.
